Fight, you Kingsmen all the way,
Show them Penn High is here,
Wave the black and white and gold,
and give a mighty cheer,
RAH RAH RAH!

For victory we're backing you all,
Keep that team from getting the ball,
Fight, fight until the end,

¿Por que no?

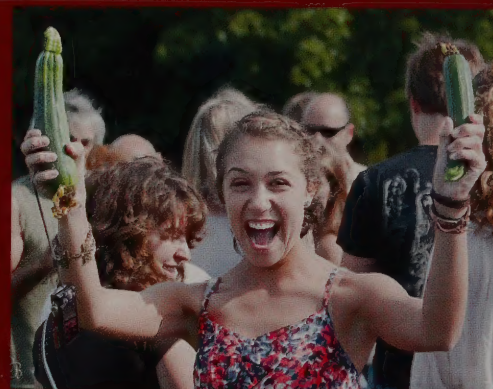

Why not?

Regardless of their location, each of the students who went abroad said they experienced new things and learned to go outside their comfort zone. All the students who traveled abroad found that each day had new adventures, and all agreed that by the end of it, those adventures made a huge difference on their trip and on themselves. These students all found that after their trips, they found themselves different people.

German GAPP Program

The IU Honors students weren't the only ones to go abroad in the summer of 2011. For three weeks, 18 juniors and seniors from Penn with Frau Liz Dix and physics teacher Stacy McCormack paired up with 18 German students from Christian Rolfs Gymnasium to explore Germany. They traveled to places like Munich, Berlin, and Hagen. During their trip they experienced new foods, interesting funparks, and crazy Black Eyed Peas concerts.

Seniors TAYLORE FOX AND CHRISTY CHANG can agree that the food was one of the best parts of their trips. Most of the food was fried with lots of meat. One of the most famous dishes in Spain is called "paella" which is an assortment of seafood with rice and herbs.

Study Abroad Cultural Awareness

TAYLORE FOX, 12, spent six weeks in the northern part of Spain. While abroad Taylore enjoyed the language, new friends, and the city. CHRISTY CHANG, 12, visited the southern part of Spain. She visited older historical sites such as Granada and larger, more modern cities like Madrid.

IU Honors is a six-week program that sends Indiana high schoolers abroad, immersing themselves in a new culture. They live with host families and speak no English. In summer 2011, Penn sent five students to Spain and France. MASON BUCKMAN, 12, visited the northern part of Spain, and Madrid, the capital of Spain.

MITCHELL POWELL, 12, traveled to the northwest region of Spain. Along with regular excursions to the beach and larger cities, Mitch got to visit Santiago de Compostela which is home to one of the most famous cathedrals in the world and a pilgrimage site.

© FUN IN THE SUN

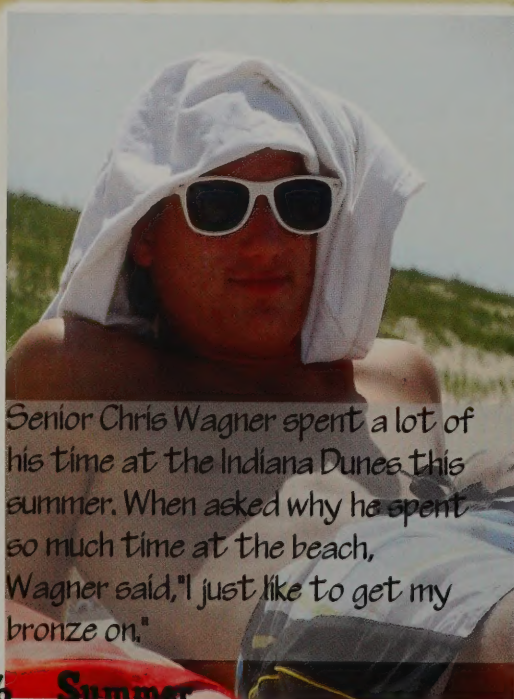

Seniors Megan Stevens and Caitlin Vaughan had fun at Knollwood Country Club's pool on a summer day, using their underwater camera to snap pictures. Knollwood's pool was a hot spot for many friends to hang out and cool off over the summer.

Seniors Halie Ottman and Krystal Hill watched the Eli Young Band perform at the 4H Fair. The concert took place on the tenth anniversary of 9/11, honoring those who fell victim to the tragedy.

Freshman girls gathered on a warm summer day to celebrate Lauren Ellenberger's birthday out in the sun. Ellenberger said, "It was a birthday to remember with special friends."

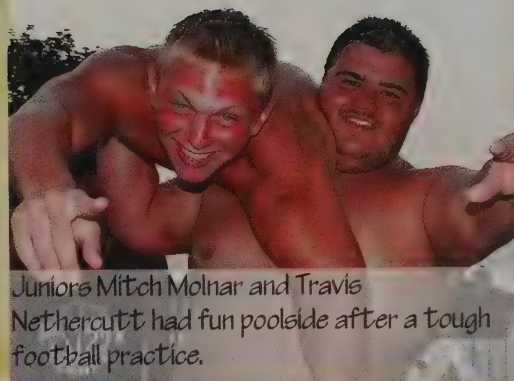

Senior Chris Wagner spent a lot of his time at the Indiana Dunes this summer. When asked why he spent so much time at the beach, Wagner said, "I just like to get my bronze on."

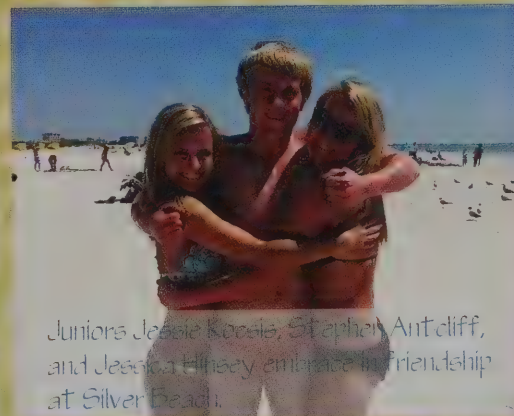

Taylor Forbes, 12, Maddie Augsburger, 10, Allison Groda, 11, and Audrey Gray, 12, all looked in astonishment at their bus stuck in the mud on their mission trip to Nicaragua.

Summer 2011

Sophomores took a break and laughed after an intense game of "King of The Raft" on Lake Shavehead. Jesse Fairbotham said, "It ends up getting pretty heated during the game, but we all ended up friends in the end."

Friends gathered at a huge slip 'n' slide at sophomore Sam Miller's farm to catch up with each other and live their summer days to their fullest.

Reclaiming Glory

THE KINGSMEN ended an impressive season with a record of 14-1 and a spot in the state finals. Unfortunately, the Kingsmen fell short in the state championship and lost to Carmel. The ride down to Indianapolis was exciting for the players because the Football Mom's Club placed signs along US-31 encouraging them to play their best in the state finals game. This was the first time since 2003 the Kingsmen landed in the championship game. The Kingsmen had many notable wins during the season, including beating rival Mishawaka for the first time in the past four meetings. At the beginning of the season many people believed the Kingsmen would end up third in the conference. Penn proved them wrong and won the Northern Indiana Conference with a record of 7-0. SEVEN SENIORS were elected to the NIC First-Team All Conference roster. Representing were defensive starters Devin Reagan, Dylan Heyvaert, Sam Laidig, and Zach Hiss, offensive linemen Bobby Nicks and Christian Verhamme, and placekicker Nick Maldonado.

10 First Football

SOPHOMORE Zach Oakley caught a pass in the Mishawaka game. Oakley was one of the few sophomores that played often on varsity. Oakley also rotated into the quarterback position. SENIOR wide out, Patrick Adkins, received the Eskew Mental Attitude Award following the State Championship Game. Adkins said he owed a lot of the credit to his teammates, and he was extremely proud of them. SAM LAIDIG, senior, was congratulated by teammates after he recovered a Mishawaka fumble. JUNIOR wide receiver, Matt Wirick, charged down the field in an attempt to gain yardage. JUNIOR corner back, Michael Mason, deflected a pass in the game against Clay. Mason said that, "The doubters are going to doubt. We just have to play our game." He is in his first year as a starter for the Wild Bunch.

SENIOR Kyle Richard, an outside linebacker, flipped the Mishawaka receiver while he made the tackle. DYLAN HEYVAERT, 12, recovered a fumble in the regional game against Crown Point. The Kingsmen, down 3-0 at halftime, rallied back to win 20-3 and capture the regional championship. THE SENIORS hold high their trophy after winning sectionals. The team beat Ft. Wayne Carroll 31-8. SENIOR Zach Hiss took down a Caveman player to prevent him from scoring. Hiss talked about playing safety and said, "Our business is hitting, and our business is boomin'."

SENIOR LEADERS

QUARTERBACK Chad Gindelberger proved to be something special in the final season of his high school career. Gindelberger was voted Burger King Outstanding Student Athlete. Gindelberger was a leader on and off of the field. NICK MALDONADO, the Kingsmen kicker and punter, said his favorite moment from the season was kicking a 43 yard field goal in the game against Mishawaka. BOBBY NICKS celebrated as running back, Jamil Davis, ran into the endzone for a touchdown against the Cavemen. Nicks and Davis both said that their favorite part of the season was beating Mishawaka. Nicks said that after the Mishawaka game he was very proud of his teammates and how well they performed.

RISE ABOVE

JV/Freshmen football is the future to Penn High's football success. These boys range from all grades and prove their hard work with their winning streaks. Long summer days and cold fall nights these boys work for their wins. Junior Varsity football players stand and support their Varsity brothers by dressing in full gear and standing on the side lines cheering their teammates on. Penn football is three different teams, four different grades, and one family.

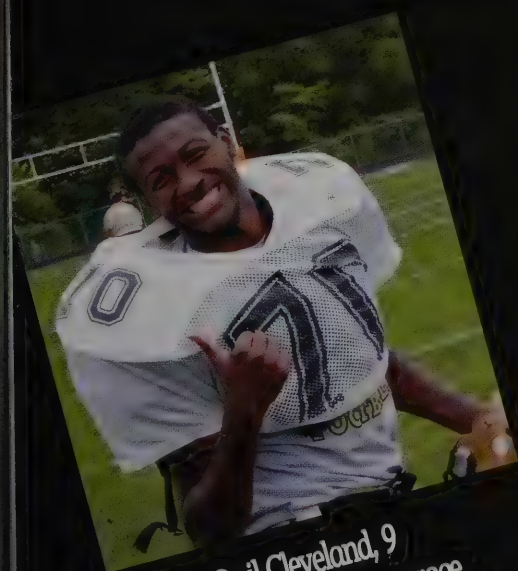

FRESHMEN Payne McCaskill and Nick Dorbin jumped into to a brotherly hug after an impressive block and tackle against the opposing team. These young Kingsmen show pride even in the smallest form. SOPHOMORE George Perkins went in for a touchdown with a rival Caveman stuck to his hip, still running strong. Perkins tried to peel him off with his free hand. SOPHOMORE Khalil Fleming got the handoff and went in for a touchdown while his teammates blocked the Cavemen's defensive line as he ran through. Overall, the Freshmen and Junior Varsity teams finished their seasons undefeated.

JUNIOR Alex Dorrier walked to his position as wide receiver as the team got ready for the next play. FRESHMAN David Whedon attempted to catch a pass from a teammate to run in for a touchdown. SOPHOMORE Mitchell Slotton walked through his teammates as they congratulated him on an impressive tackle that stopped their opponent from advancing. SOPHOMORE Riley Vandevoorde led the team in the kick off which ended in a victory against Mishawaka.

Marissa Bonek, 12, and her stunt group got ready for the starting line up of the varsity game against Washington. Juniors Kirsten Hoffman and Kira Smith smiled during a time out. There were eleven seniors and six juniors on the varsity team. They learned how to bond and come together, not only as a team but as a family.

Marissa Bonek, 12, cheered "Go Penn Go!" during the first quarter of the Friday night game vs. St. Joseph. Becky Bedford, 12, posed with Notre Dame's center football player, Braxton Cave. Braxton graduated from Penn in 2008. Tori Cartwright, Jessie Kocsis, Megan Potosky, and Alexandra Redden, 11, got ready to run with the PENN flags. Before home games and after every touchdown, the Varsity cheerleaders ran with the PENN flags to cheer on Penn's successful football team. The Varsity cheerleaders line up on the track during the half time of the Valpo game. Valparaiso was the first game of the varsity football season.

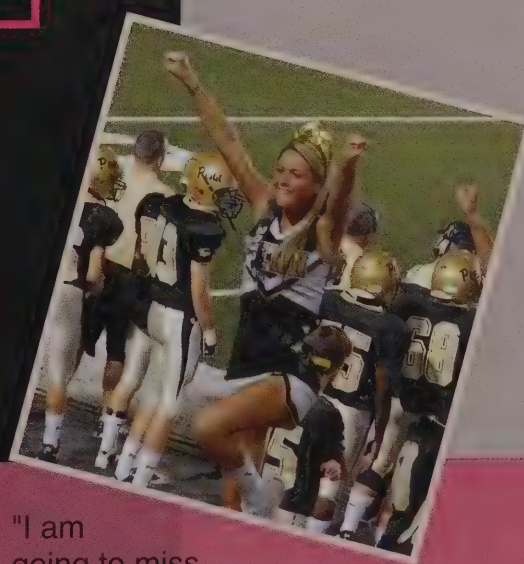

WE'VE GOT SPIRIT!

"I couldn't have asked for a better senior year football season. My friends made it all worth it and I wouldn't have wanted to share it with anyone else."
-Kari Leamon, 12

"The best experience about Penn Cheer was being able to make a bond with not only the coach, but the girls. We are more than just teammates, we are family." -Becky Bedford, 12.

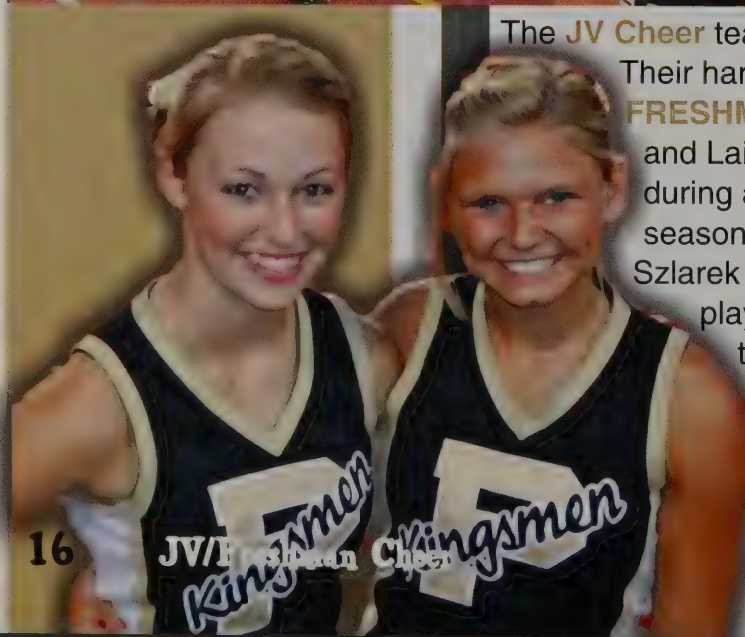

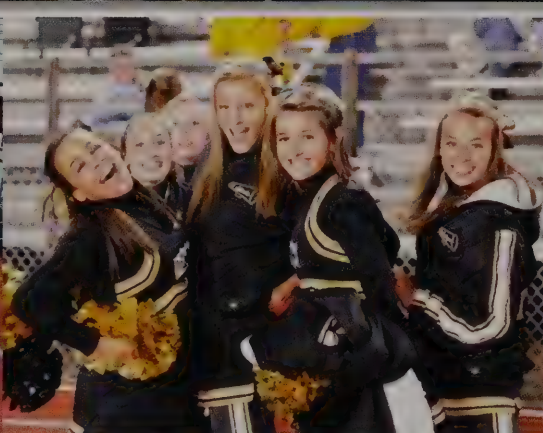

"I am going to miss stunting and the team dinners the most next year. All the girls bonded so well this year." Taylor Duley, 12

Melanie Szlerek & Mackenzie Kolo, 10

For Penn High School junior varsity and freshmen cheerleaders, the season began early in the spring before the next school year when their names were called after a long and rigorous three-day tryout. With 17 spots and over 200 girls to choose from, Penn cheerleading was among the best of the best. The JV and freshman teams boast highly advanced tumbling skills as well as stunting that rivals many competitive cheer teams. With a tradition of excellence and school spirit, Penn cheer was sure to not to disappoint.

The JV Cheer team excitedly waited for their first game, Penn vs. Valparaiso. Their hard work and support helped lead the team to a victory. FRESHMEN Eliza Rose, Alyssa Quinlan, Alexis Dodge, Kara Laidig and Laikyne Ellsworth took a break during half time at Freed Field during a home game. They all became very close throughout the season. SOPHOMORES Mackenzie Kolo, Kaitlyn Levan, Melanie Szlerek and Hannah Inabnit got ready to serve refreshments to the players during their two-a-days. This is one of the many traditions the JV cheerleaders participate in to give back to the football team for all their hard work. SOPHOMORES Jade Rogers and Stephanie Garbaciak smiled during halftime under the Friday night lights at Freed Field. The junior varsity cheerleaders have the important role of assisting the varsity team with complicated stunts and pumping up the crowd.

FRESHMEN cheerleaders prep for a hurdler jump during a fall home game Mackenzie Holm, 10, and Riley Colley, 10, cheered at the JV game at Mishawaka. Riley said, "Everyone's involvement in the games and their excitement are the best part about cheering." FRESHMEN flyers Anna Nedderman, Shayna Berg, Alyssa Quinlan and Laikyne Ellsworth performed a difficult stunt perfectly at Freed Field. Megan Makowski, 9, a base in this stunt, said, "Decorating the boys' locker room and our team dinners are my favorite traditions." SOPHOMORE Mackenzie Kolo busily worked on a sign for the boys' locker room. "Knowing our hard work is for the guys and that it's helping cheer them on is what makes it all worth it," said Kolo. This was her second year cheering for the Kingsmen.

We Cheer and We Lead

FRESHMEN Eliza Rose and Shayna Berg waited eagerly for their Thursday night game. Berg said one of her favorite traditions was "getting ready together." SOPHOMORE Kinzie Duley cheered on the Kingsmen at home for another victory. JUNIOR Hannah Hestad enjoyed the football picnic planned by the Moms' Club where cheerleaders and football players received their yard signs and relaxed on a summer afternoon after a long day of practice.

2011 SECTIONAL CHAMPIONS

ONE LOVE

The Penn Kingsman boys' varsity soccer team finished the regular season as Northern Indiana Conference champions with a 15-4-3 record with first-year coach, Ryan Leniski. They continued into the post season, where they became Sectional Champions. The team was quite impressive. The most prestigious award, NIC MVP, was awarded to Daniel Stump, 12, who also made 1st Team All NIC with Edson Zamora, Corey Potosky and Scott Gidman were named 2nd Team All NIC. Lastly, Gregory Wyland, Tyler Canarecci, and Eric Bueter were recognized as Honorable Mention. These players made a huge impact with their effort and strong skills. Also, All District Awards were given to Stump and Bueter as 1st Team and Zamora as 2nd Team. Alexander Scholtes was awarded the Top Team Player for the season. During the post-season the boys supported Breast Cancer Awareness by rockin' pink mohawks. This group of guys had a special bond, on and off the field, that led them to success and will last a lifetime.

RHILEY McIntire, 11, settled the ball and then beat the opposing team's defender down the sideline. GREGORY Wyland, 12, dribbled the ball past a North Central defender. THOMAS Grant, 11, ripped a right-footed shot on the goal during a game on Penn's home field. His position as left defensive back allowed him to be part of the offence, too. MITCHELL Boehnlein, 12, blasted a left-footed corner kick for the Kingsmen as the referee watched on. By taking a left-footed kick, the ball curved out towards the top of the 18 yard box, perfect for a header by a teammate.

EDSON Zamora, 10, maintained possession of the ball while he looked downfield for an open teammate or for an opportunity for a shot. MITCHELL Helmkamp, 12, settled the ball off a pass from a teammate while battling pressure from three Clay defenders. ANDREW Heffelfinger, 10, a sophomore starter for the Kingsman, jumped over a Clay defender who tried to slide tackle him in the box. Heffelfinger then beat another defender and ripped a left-footed shot on the goal. DANIEL Stump, 12, fought against a Warsaw midfielder for possession of the ball. He was not only the NIC MVP, but the heart of Penn's team.

2011 SENIOR CAPTAINS

Eric Bueter, 12

"We loved hanging out at coach's pad, munchin' on some grind.. It was chill... GAINER!"

Nicholas Ducoffe, 12

"My senior season was the best of all four of my years. I'll always remember our favorite halftime chant to pump us up. 'Love on one, ONE LOVE!'"

Corey Potosky, 12

"The best part of the season was being down 2-0 with 20 minutes left against Zionsville, then coming back and taking the lead to win the game 3-2. I loved when we wrote the score on Zionsville's permanent couch at their field and seeing them get mad about it."

Evan McSorley, 12

"My main responsibility was getting the guys down to business when the time called. I'll never forget the night Scott, Stump and I camped out on top of the bank. Oh...and Boehnlein's got a lot of sand on the beach."

PATRICK DUCOFFE, JOHN MCSORLEY, JOSH MCPHERREN

GAVIN HOFFMAN, 10, avoided two players from the opposing team and took command of the ball. SHAN ANTONY, 10, fought a player from Carroll for control of the ball during the team's second game of the year. DARNELL OLIVER, 10, sprinted down the field, dodging two Carroll players. STANDING guard, Caleb Marsh, Jeffery Gifford, Patrick Ducoffe and Aaron Weaver formed a wall formation in an attempt to block a penalty kick from the other team.

Josh McPherran, 10

By definition, a team is a number of persons forming one of the sides in a game or contest. To the JV soccer team at Penn, a team didn't just mean a team, it held a stronger connotation. Many of Penn's players had played together since they were little, making the team not just a group of athletes, but a group of friends with a common love for the game, and a common drive for success.

Values. Beliefs. Traditions

Emily Gries, 12

The Lady Kingsmen finished the season as Sectional Champions with a 14-6 record under first year head coach, Trevor Eubank. Seniors Kate Burns and Rachel Walker were named to first team All NIC. Second team All NIC was awarded to Joanna Madias and Katie Hojara. Burns was also recognized to be on the first team All District and Walker was second team All District. Abby Downey, 12, was awarded top team player. Bailey O'Malley, 11, and Claire Brooks, 10, were recognized as NIC Honorable Mention.

TAYLOR KACHMARIK, 12, was one of Penn's strongest defenders. As a defensive center back, she made sure that nothing got past her. AYZIA FOLSTROM, 12, played starting goalkeeper for the Lady Kingsmen. Her focus and composure helped keep opponents from scoring. BAILEY O'MALLEY, 11, stole the ball from a Marian player. This was her third year playing as a varsity starter on the back line. DIANA DIAZ-DIURYCH, 11, was known for her fancy footwork and accurate passes. She was one of the players the team relied on to put the ball in the net.

RACHEL MEDOW, 11, crossed the ball into the eighteen, hoping for one of the Lady Kingmen attackers to score a goal. Junior CARLEY MCCARTHY dribbled past one of the Washington defenders, and headed straight for the goal. Junior KIMI LUTTRELL slid in to clear the ball from a St. Joseph's player while Kate Burns, 12, assists. MAYA SOLOMON, 10, and SAMANTHA MILLER, 10, ran forward smiling after an amazing save Solomon.

JOANNA MADIAS, 12, played a key role in the season using her position as a midfielder. As a senior, many underclassmen admired her leadership and dedication. "Despite all the ups and downs, we came together through our values, beliefs, and traditions," she said.

ABBY DOWNEY, 12, shielded the ball from a Marian player. Despite her tinier size, she was a fearless forward who played for her teammates. "Coming into this team, I never had a sister," she said. "But four years later, as I head off to college, I'm leaving with nearly 60 sisters."

RACHEL WALKER, 12, settled the ball to prevent it from going out of bounds. Walker was first team all NIC and second team all district. "The guys' team were our #1 fans," she said. "I'll never forget during the St. Joe game when the lights went out. One of the boys ran out on the field."

ARYELLE MURRAY, 12, sprinted with the ball away from a Washington player. "Having a new coach was a new experience. It was a fresh start but everyone stepped up, making us successful," she said.

ONE TEAM ONE DREAM

Penn JV girls' soccer started at the beginning of summer with intense six A.M. workouts and practices later that night. When August 24th came around, the Lady Kingsmen were on top of their game and ready to take on any challenges that came towards them. The most challenging game of the season was against St. Joseph, their biggest rival. The girls stayed strong both halves and kept the Indians from scoring. The game ended with a 0-0 tie. Although the game did not count for their season, the Lady Kingsmen played the Indians again with a win of 4-0.

Sophomores sprinted out of the box after clearing the ball off of a Mishawaka corner kick. Brandi Mesaros, 9, hustled forward to help with a Kingsmen counter-attack. Kara Anderson, 10, gathered the ball during the JV's game against Concord. Nora Dixon, 10, kicked the ball to her teammate to get away from the Concord opponent. Anna Desimone, 9, dribbled the ball down the field.

SAM Kaczynski, 9, received the ball from a teammate and began to dribble it down the field. RACHEL McCarthy, 9, passed the ball down the field. DEEGAN Marks, 10, did a trick with the ball to get around her opponent. BAILEY Hayes, 9, tried dribbling the ball through three players from the other team.

Leaders

Alyssa Nowakowski, 11, put herself in front of the ball so the ball could not get past her.

Goalie Kasey Smith, 11, stopped the ball from going in the goal, saving Penn from getting scored on.

Junior Alexis Donati got open for the ball so she could move the ball down the field and score.

David Wang, 12

SERVIN' UP SAUCE

The Penn tennis team was a serious threat to compete for the state championship in Indianapolis. The Kingsmen went undefeated throughout the regular season and climbed as high as 11th in the Indiana tennis rankings. They battled through the postseason and, as they did all season, overcame the critics and earned a spot in Indianapolis. Penn played well but ran into a hot North Central team and were knocked out of the tournament. They finished 4th in the state and made a run further state than any Penn tennis team since 2005.

Luke Kleppe, 10

Michael Wang, 9

Maaz Ahmed, 12

Brad Walter, 11, and his doubles partner Sean Anderson, 10, were the first doubles team to win MVP for the NIC. The two made it all the way to the semi-finals of state for the second consecutive year.

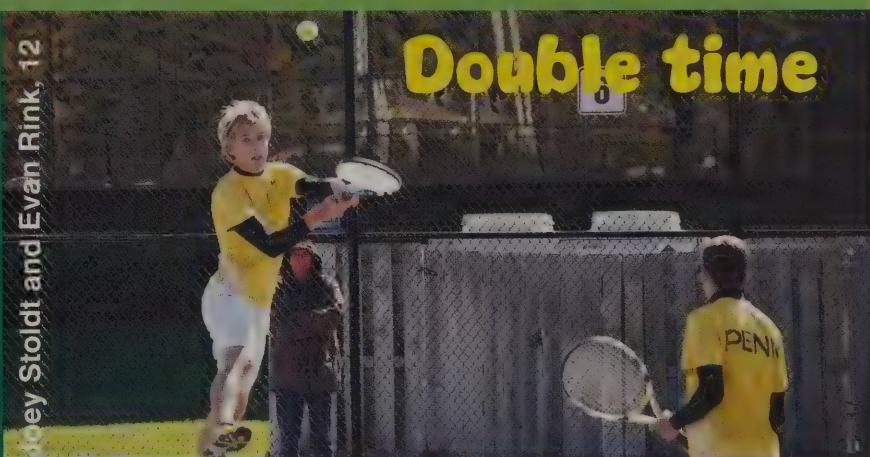

Straight outta' Finland

The 2011 tennis team was fun to watch. They played with intensity every match and conquered the courts all season long. Erik Lehtikainen, 12, a foreign exchange student from Finland, was one of those spark plugs that marked the Kingsmen's success. He ended the year with a record of 12-1 in the number one singles position. "Don't take things too seriously," said Lehtikainen. He played every game with a calm and relaxed mind set and the numbers justify his success. Lehtikainen's favorite part about playing tennis in the United States is being able to play for a team. He loved his time here and said that living in the United States later in his life is a "big option." Lehtikainen received first team all-conference in the number one singles position.

Coach Eric Bowers has seen his share of good tennis teams over the years. This year he was impressed with the whole team effort and success. "We had a great year and it was fun to go down to state as a team," said Bowers. Coach Bowers was named the NIC boys' tennis coach of the year.

Joey Stoldt and Evan Rink, 12

GAME CHANGERS

The two senior captains for the 2011 season were Matt Hollowell and Evan Rink. Both captains sacrificed their primary positions in the best interest of the team. These two captains and senior Joey Stoldt played an enormous role on and off the court.

Leslie Bennett, 10

"What got me through the season was everyone being a team, knowing that we could do it--and the trips on the bus were fun."

Robyn Mills, 12

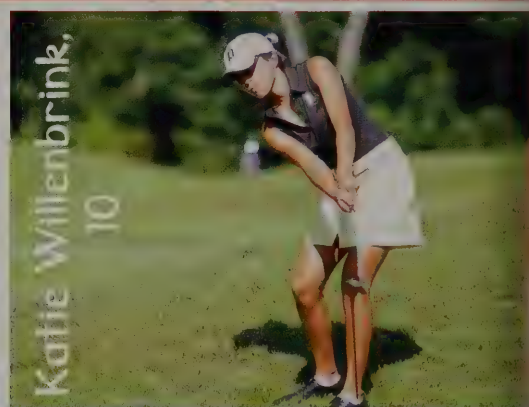

"A lot of practice, hard work and concentration got me through the season."

Tee Time!

The Penn girls' golf team had a great season. They earned second place at the State Championship meet, and were undefeated until they came two shots away from a perfect season. The team worked well together and always had a common goal in mind. They knew if they took the season step by step, they could reach their goal of going to State.

Run For the Hills

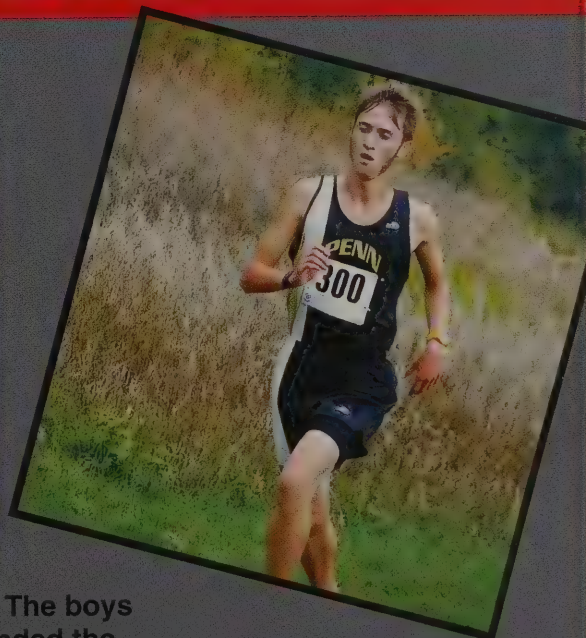

BILLY HOLBERT, 11, gave it his all while racing to the finish line to beat out another Kingsmen runner. The boys not only compete with other teams, but with each other. PENN'S JV boys got together for a team picture during a meet. The team became very close during the season. JOHN KOELLNER, 10, leads a pack of Penn runners past the 2000 meter mark at one of their Saturday meets. Jeremy Starkweather, one of Koellner's teammates, said that his favorite moment from the season was watching Koellner's water bottle chugging tradition. He could chug an entire bottle in under four seconds! JV BOYS huddle up before a race to get in one final cheer before the start.

JV BOYS formed a pack at Ox Bow Park, looking for the 3000 meter mark. THE BOYS darted off the line to get a good lead at the one and only triangular meet of the season. Aaron Long, 12, and Zack Johnson, 12, tried to break away from their competitors. THE BACK of one of the cross country team's t-shirts displays the cross country motto. Cross Country takes a lot of drive and strong will to be on the team and be successful.

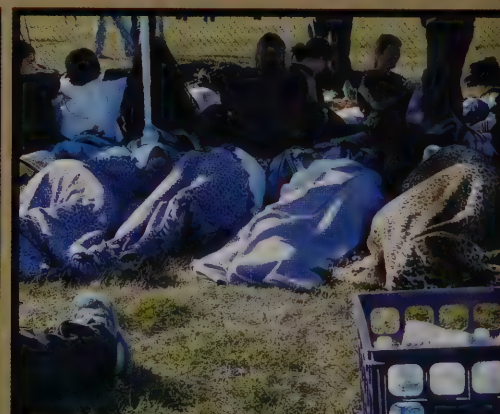

AHEAD OF THE PACK

The Kingsmen ended their season with a 3-1 record. The boys just missed the cut to qualify for semistate. Penn ended the season strong led by seniors Paul Watts and Zack Johnson. The boys returning next year will be under the rule of second year head coach Tom Miller.

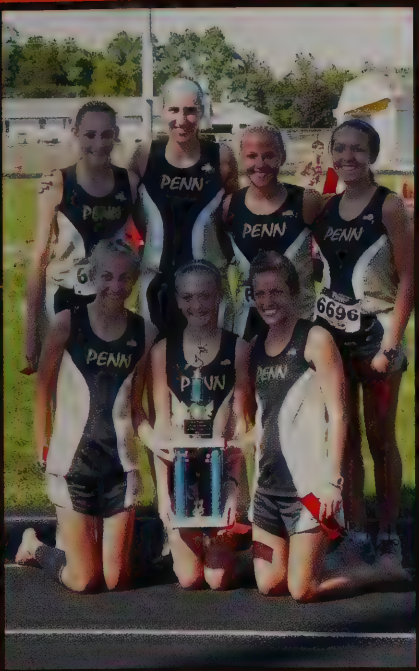

We Run This

AT THE Hokem Karem Invitational, the girls celebrate with their plaque after the race. KRISTINA GALAT, 12, kept a strong pace ahead of the pack, leading the Kingsmen at New Prairie. THE GIRLS get a power nap in between races, protecting against the cold with blankets from home. A FEW of the varsity girls get together for a goofy picture after a meet. BEFORE THE big race at New Prairie, the girls stood in a circle and held hands for prayers.

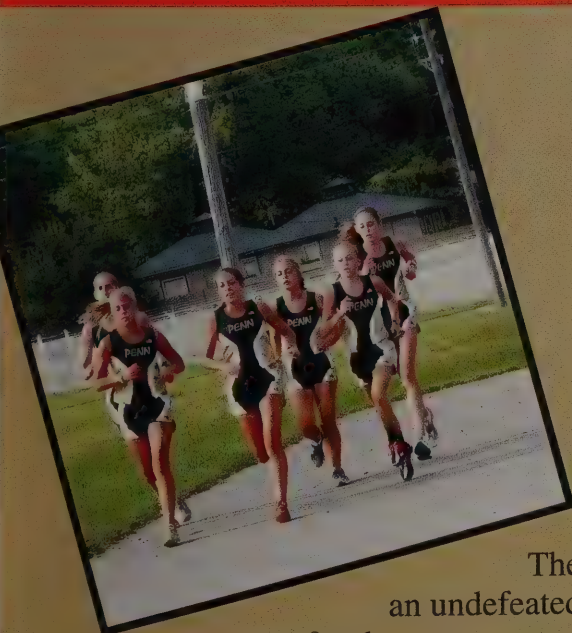

PENN'S TOP varsity runners display their trophy from the New Prairie Invitational in which Penn placed second behind Fort Wayne Carroll. THE TOP runner for Penn's team, Maddie Woods, 9, raced to the finish, fending off a LaPorte opponent. When asked how she felt about the transition from middle school cross country to high school, Woods replied, "It's much more serious and there's a lot more practicing. The team is a lot more fun to hang out with." AT THE County Clash, the girls celebrated their first place victory over ten other teams from St. Joseph county. Lauren Pottschmidt, 10, talked about the feeling running gave her. "You get a runner's high and it makes you feel good... like you can accomplish anything." AT THE New Prairie Invitational, the girls showed off their new matching cheetah print running shoes.

DETERMINATION

The Lady Kingsmen ended their season with an undefeated record. The Kingsmen went down to Terre Haute for the state meet and placed 12th. The girls returning next year will be under the rule of second year head coach Tom Miller.

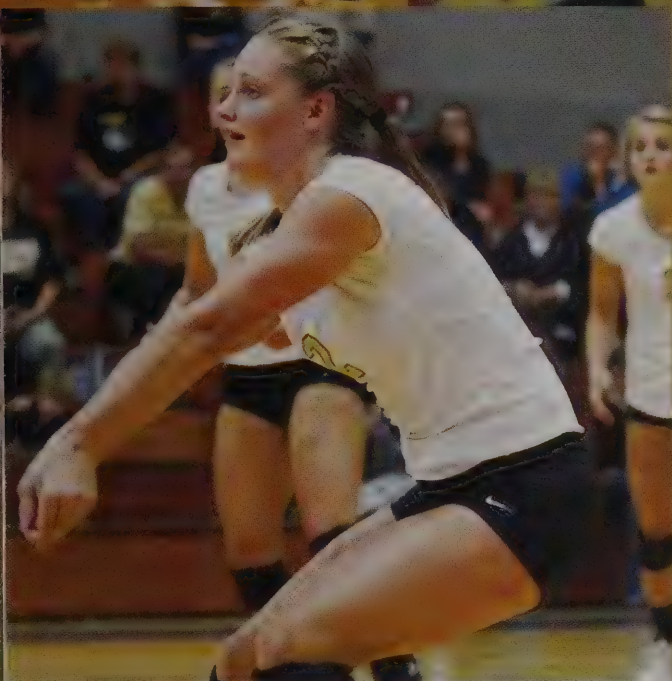

Round Two of Blue

It was a season of firsts for the Lady Kingsmen. First year coach Sarah Hendricks told the South Bend Tribune, "There's never been a question of, 'What are we doing? Why are we doing this?' It was 'OK, here we go.' They were open to everything that we did." Things were new this season after Coach Hendricks took over a team coming off of a state championship. Although it was a year of firsts for these ladies, they also had a round of seconds. Penn beat Avon 25-16, 17-25, 25-13, and 25-18 in the state championship game at Worthen Arena at Ball State University. Avon had been ranked third in the nation and first in the state. Senior Kaitlyn Hickey won the IHSAA Mental Attitude Award and was presented with a check towards her scholarship to play volleyball at IUPUI. Hickey told PNN, "It's a great honor knowing that all hard work has paid off." Penn finished the season 38-1.

THE TEAM celebrated after beating Avon for the state championship. Their goal this year was to win the state title again, and it was achieved. SENIOR Emily Tavares set the ball for junior Becca Lira in a home game at The Palace. SOPHOMORE Lexi Ball got in position as the ball headed her way in the game against the Washington Panthers. THE LADY KINGSMEN held up their trophy and proudly wore their blue ribbons after being presented a state championship for the second year in a row.

JUNIOR Jasmine Obren and senior Emily Tavares pause during their pregame warmup at Washington High School. These girls had a set pregame ritual that included going out to eat with each other before the game for some team bonding off the court. They always went to Fazoli's. KARISSA COOK, 12, blocked a hit in a home game. Cook will go to IUPUI in the fall. THE TEAM celebrated after an ace by Jordan Brough, 11. Aces are not returned by the opponent, resulting in an automatic point. SENIOR Kaitlyn Hickey got in position as the ball headed her way. Hickey, along with Natalie Meert, were the co-captains of the team. NATALIE MEERT, 12, passed the ball to setter Emily Tavares, 12. Meert had a personal game-day tradition of wearing her signature braid. Her tradition continued all the way down to braid state as she rocked the signature while in the process of winning

Where Will They Be?

SENIORS Natalie Meert, Annie Drews, and Kaitlyn Hickey took their talents to the Division 1 Collegiate Level. All three were elected to the Indiana All-State team. Meert headed south and attended Butler University in Indianapolis. Drews committed to Purdue University in West Lafayette in the spring of her junior year. Hickey headed to Indianapolis to become a Jaguar at Indiana University Purdue University Indianapolis. All three have worked hard on and off the court this season.

2011 JV Team

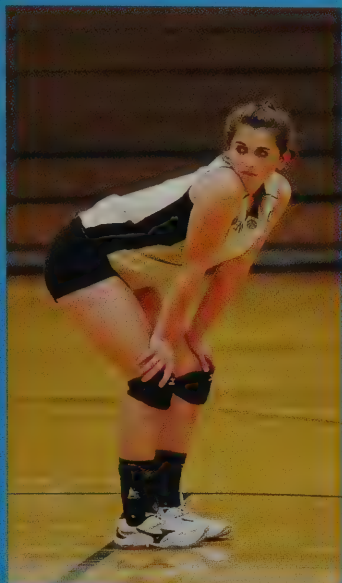

CAN YOU DIG IT?

THE junior varsity and freshman volleyball teams had no trouble getting through the season. Both teams had winning records with JV at 30-3 and freshman at 20-6. The girls all agreed that being a part of Penn volleyball has gained them a family of sisters. Coaches Jessie Fox and Paige Marshall welcomed new and returning players this season and did a great job of leading the girls to victory. They did all of this while making sure the girls still had fun.

THE volleyball teams loved to continuously keep the momentum going. The atmosphere at games was always lively, fast paced and loud. The girls cheered each other on after every point they scored. Whether a teammate made a mistake or not they remained positive in order to keep their spirits up for the rest of the game. JV captains Aly Schneider, Kristyn Antcliff, and Katie Reynolds did their job of never allowing the girls to have a dull or quiet moment on the court. Sophomore Amanda Schlarb explained her spirit when she said, "I loved the energy constantly created by the team during games and practices. It made the season more enjoyable."

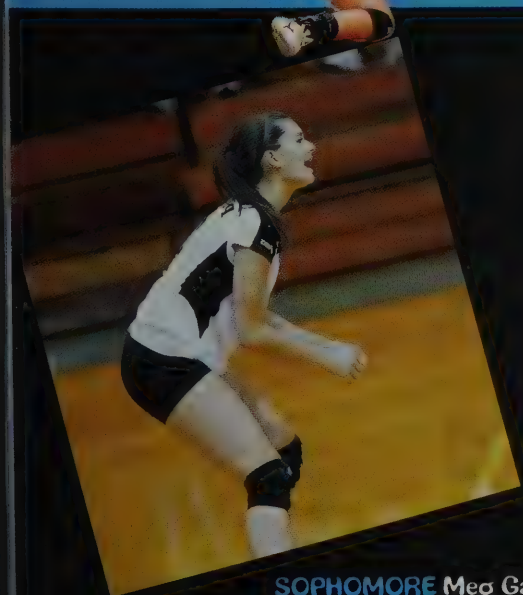

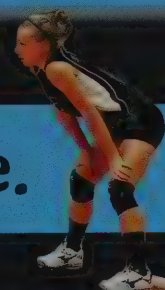

JUNIOR Katie Reynolds served an ace in the game against the Washington Panthers. Reynolds had a great season and did an awesome job displaying leadership on the JV team. FRESHMAN all-around player Christine Cunningham awaited the serve from Adams. They went on to win the set in three games 2-1. THE freshman team often walked to Subway before a home game. The girls enjoyed their pre-game ritual to fill them up and get their minds off hunger before game time. FRESHMAN coach Paige Marschall showed the team a map out of the game plan during a time out of the Riley game. The plan must have worked well because the girls won the set 2-1.

Bump. Set. Spike.

ALL STAR STYLE Converse tennis shoes are very popular among male and female students at Penn coming in a variety of different styles and colors. This is a classic recurring trend throughout many decades.

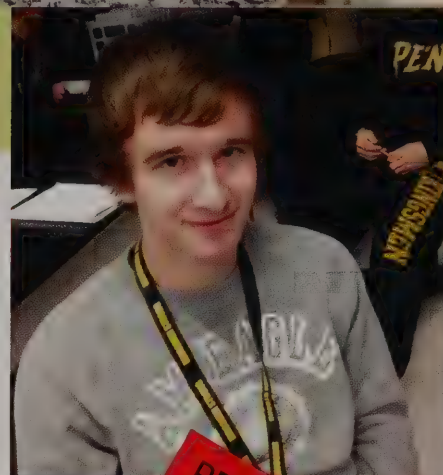

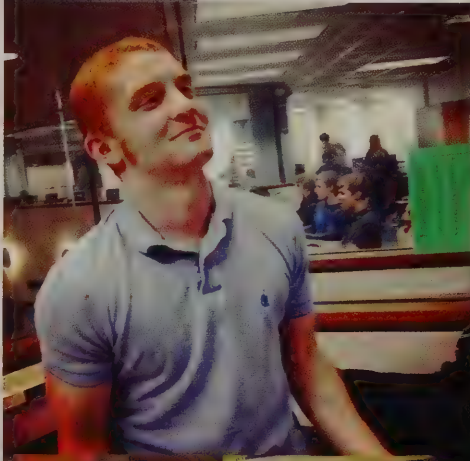

SENIOR Heather Gordon's alternative hair style sets her apart from her peers with a unique outlook on trends. Her hair is short on one side with a braid and long and wavy on the other. This hairstyle also featured cropped bangs in the front.

ONE DAY YOU'RE IN.

"Fashions fade, style is eternal." -Yves Saint Laurent For the students of Penn High School, personal style could not be more diverse. Ranging from preppy to gothic, scene, and country; every individual has their own inimitable sense of fashion expressed daily when they walked through the doors.

FRESHMAN Michael Unrue with the popular hairstyle loosely modeled after musician Justin Bieber's haircut. Throughout the halls of Penn this hairstyle is common.

SENIOR Nick Ducoffe suited nicely in his light blue polo. Simple yet polished, this type of shirt has remained popular among young men for years. Austin Flanders, 10 wearing a band t-shirt and zip up jacket. Many students expressed their musical interests through fashion. JUNIOR, Kimi Luttrell showed her support for Breast Cancer Awareness month with her hair dyed pink underneath. SOPHOMORE Camden Smith looked put together in his purple v-neck t-shirt, grey cardigan and retro eyeglasses. JUNIOR Terianna Goodrich with a cute bob pinned back by a hot pink bow. JUNIOR Seth Rassi dressed classy in his argyle sweater and matching G-Shock watch before his Friday night game.

THE NEXT DAY YOU'RE OUT.

FASHIONABLE FLANNELS

KERIE RICHMOND, 11

SENIORS Taylor Forbes, Megan Stevens, Tori Milliner, Kate Burns, Audrey Gray and Caitlin Vaughan dressed down on Casual Crewneck Tuesday while Prince Bayingana and Jeff Laidig dressed up for Tie Tuesday, a new tradition for the class of 2012.

Hair accesories are nothing new to Penn fashion. Over the summer, many girls flcoked to salons to have multi-colored Rooster feathers put in their hair. Richmond had a total of eight in her hair and added new ones weekly.

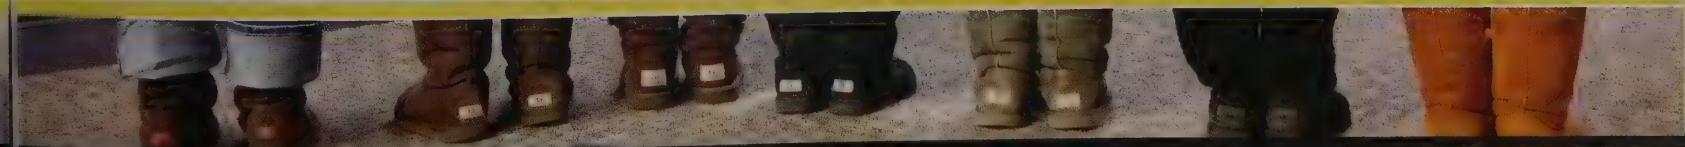

FRESHMEN Isamar Perez and Jenna Dudek sport a trend popularized in the early '90s grunge scene. Flannels were now a part of fashion instead of work. These shirts came in a variety of colors and were sold by many different brands.

JUNIORS Nick Farber, Troy Tirota and Alex Dorrier showed off their refined version of a mohawk, "The Brohawk." "The brohawk brings fellow bros together as a united nation of bros." Tirota carried his styling gel with him at all times to make sure his flow was always bro.

THE BROHAWK

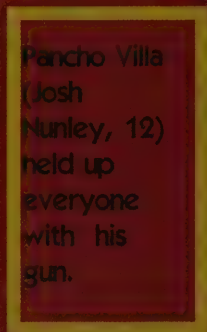

UGG BOOTS Whether you find them ugly, or utterly fabulous, since the early 2000's, these warm sheepskin and wool boots have made their mark among Penn girls who looked to keep their toes cozy during the cold winter months. They came in a variety of colors and materials giving girls many options with these shoes.

Pancho Villa, played by Josh Nunley, 12, and Danny Jones, played by Chase Andreae, 9, agreed to a truce.

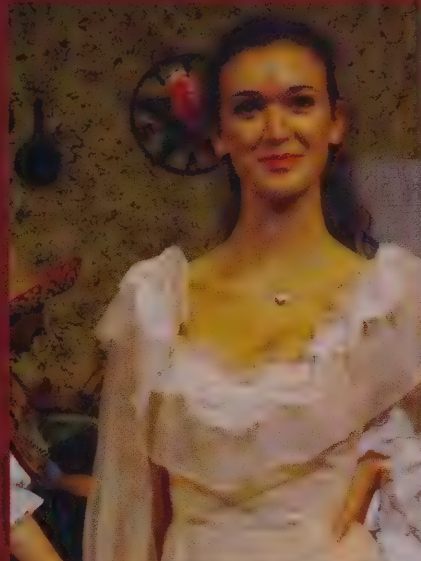

Janice (Jane Payton, 9), Cora (Savannah Hope, 10), and Maxine (Hersha Timble, 10) flirted with Danny (Chase Andreae, 9). Each tried to win him over so they could go to the dance together. Hersha Timble said of her role, "Maxine was a demanding, confident 19 year old girl. I loved being a part of that play."

A lot is happening in this scene: Smitty (Ian Riggs, 10), Peggy (Michaela Piatt, 12), Red (Jake Klinger, 11), Gertrude (Taylor Davis, 12), Hester (Addy Culpepper, 11), Helen (Lydia Coppedge, 11), and Susan (Mary-Grace Ahearn, 9). Taylor Davis, who played Gertrude, said, "I loved our director. Mr. Dutton makes any show a great time. Not only is he a fantastic director, but he's part of our cast family. He jokes and makes us better actors each day we go along."

Michaela Platt, 12 (Peggy Fletcher), Josh Nunley, 12 (Pancho Villa), Jake Klinger, 11 (Red Roberts), Taylor Davis, 12 (Gertrude), Lydia Coppedge, 11 (Helen Hunt), Edie Moon, 12 (Maude Fletcher), Jane Payton, 9 (Janice), Hersha Timble, 10 (Maxine), Mary-Grace Ahearn, 9 (Susan), and Ian Riggs, 10 (Smitty). Not pictured: Chase Andreae, 9 (Danny Jones), Addy Culpepper, 11 (Hester), and Savannah Hope, 10 (Cora).

Helen (Lydia Coppedge, 11) gloated as she got to go to the dance with Danny. "Helen manipulated people for fun," said Lydia about her role.

Danny (Chase Andreae, 9) revealed his side of the story.

Pancho (Josh Nunley, 12) told more of his story.

Peggy (Michaela Platt, 12) and Danny (Chase Andreae, 9).

Peggy (Michaela Platt, 12) pinned Danny's sheriff badge on him (Chase Andreae, 9).

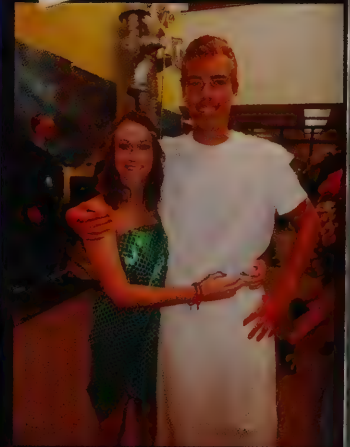

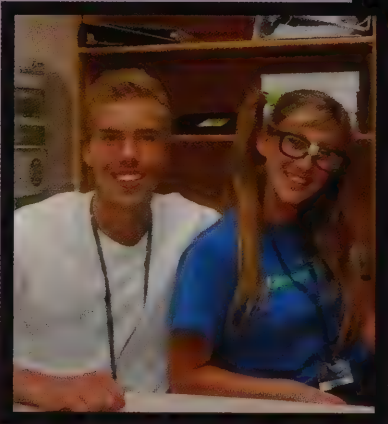

Pancho (Josh Nunley, 12) told his story.

TYLER WILLIAMS, 9

PENN ATHLETES worked with Mishawaka athletes on a "Rock the House" build on February 25 to build walls for Serica Ellis. Ellis worked with Habitat for Humanity for two years, and put in her sweat equity, before it was her turn to have her home built. Maddie Smith, 12, said "We may be rivals on the field, but off of the field it is a great experience being able to help our community." The "Golden Hammer" was awarded to six athletes, three from each school. The award was given to students who demonstrated leadership on the field and at the build.

Juniors Gabe Miller and Hanna Bedricky share a laugh in the studio room. "We love being in here, even when we were not shooting show," said Miller.

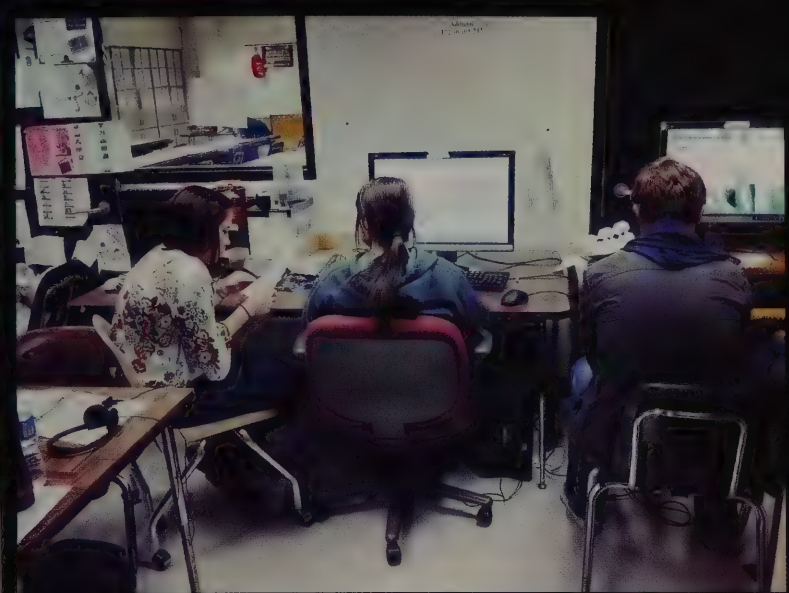

Staff member Lydia Coppedge, 11, reviewed the final product of the show before airing it on PNN. "Everything's got to be perfect!" said Coppedge.

Gracie Miller, 10, gave out programs at the 8th annual Penn Film Festival. The event was held at the DeBartolo Center for Performing Arts at Notre Dame.

Staying classy one show at a time

Gabe Miller, 11

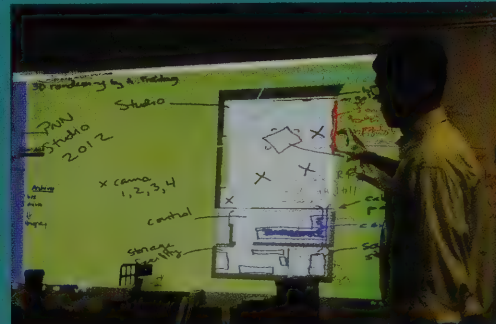

Penn students and faculty need to stay informed with what's going on at school. The Penn News Network teaches students communication: how to anchor news broadcasts, edit shows and many other skills. PNN keeps the school connected to important news and announcements. PNN also performs other duties, such as creating the senior video shown before graduation.

Executive staff member Oliver O'Keefe, 12, worked on the next show's script. "I don't know why the pumpkin is still in January, We just like the face it's making," said Oliver.

Vince Sipocz, 12, worked on the end-of-the-year show. Last year there was no senior skit, but PNN did have a blooper reel.

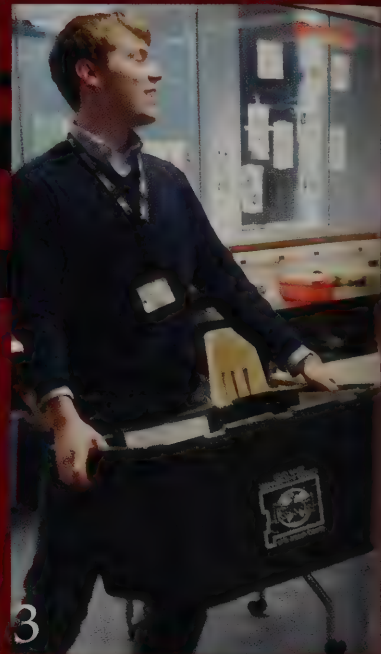

Kevin McNulty unveiled the plans for the new studio with the anchor desk in the middle of the room and a sound studio to make podcasts.

SERVICE LEADERSHIP CHARACTER

NHS

National Honor Society is a service organization based on character, scholarship, leadership and service. Juniors and seniors apply in the fall, and a faculty council made up of teachers from all subject areas evaluate the applications to choose inductees. Many students have high grade point averages, but NHS students distinguish themselves through their actions and behavior outside the classroom, too. Math teacher MaryEllyn Knight is faculty sponsor.

1 and 2. NHS members are required to work the concession stands twice throughout the course of the school year. Members sold popcorn, hot dogs and soda to help out the Boosters. 3. Senior David Collier collected the recycled bottles and paper from each classroom, a requirement for each member. 4. Students participated in a bake sale outside Barnes & Noble in the UP mall to raise money for cancer. 5. Colette Keller, 12, smiled as she was donating blood at the annual blood drive in the CPA. 6. Seniors Alex Morton, Taryn Fisher, Shannon Kearney, Edie Moon, Ryan Parmater, Andrew Richards and Eric Bueter got spiffy for the NHS induction ceremony.

The 2011-2012 Student Council was led by seniors, President Sheena Shah, Vice President Anthony Ball, Secretary Natalie Spaargaren, Treasurer Sasha Ali, and Secretary at Arms James McGinness. Kristine Smith and Michael Coffee were the advisors for the Council. In all, about 200 students were involved in the club. Students in the club ran a multitude of charitable events. From Turkey Legs, gift card drives, and Homecomings to the food drive, Custodian Appreciation Week and Battle of the Bands, Student Council raised a lot of money for River Bend Cancer Services.

Makin' it Happen

1. Student Council is known for the crazy spirit days that are put on during Homecoming week. Bernadette Miramontes, 11, and Samuel Sharkey, 11, model their attire. 2. The Council put on a successful tailgate for everyone who attended the homecoming football game against the Washington Panthers. Richard Jung, 10, and his friend hold up a sign to advertise for the free hot dogs the Council provided. 4. In order to get to know one another, the executives put on a "Lock-in" for council members. Members were divided into colored teams and had to compete in different activities. The Red Team tried to untie their "Human Knot".

Athletic Trainers

THE PENN HIGH SCHOOL ATHLETIC TRAINERS were found at every school sporting event. The trainers often distributed ibuprofen to athletes who pushed their bodies to the limit or taped ankles that had been twisted in the wrong direction. Trainers were assigned to a different sport every season and would travel to the games to ensure that no injury would go unnoticed. Head Trainers included Trish Irvin and Bailee Westra. They were in charge of the student trainers and helped them treat the athlete's injuries.

Student Assistants

WHETHER they were delivering passes for Mrs. Campbell in Guidance, or running errands for Mrs. Pierce in the Writing Center, or helping in the division offices and IMC, the school's student assistants were always working hard. Juniors and seniors had the opportunity to be a student assistant in the Main Office, Bookstore, World Languages/Social Sciences, Technology, Student Services, or for specific teachers. Student assistants helped keep Penn High School functioning. JUNIOR Haley Patrick and seniors Nikee McPherrin, Taylor Kolo, and Taylor Duley decorated the door outside the writing center during homecoming week. The jellyfish was their favorite. GUIDANCE student assistants Christy Chang, Sheena Shah, and Lexus Gohn dressed up for the "Ugly Prom." JUNIORS Cameron Glaze and Blake Schneider posed for a picture in the bookstore. JUNIOR J.T. Schwartz, senior Emerson Marenzi, junior Kathryn Matthews, and senior Grant Spiritoso gathered for a picture in the Writing Center.

Bowling their way to success.

THE PENN BOWLING TEAM led by Josh Jaworski, Anthony Schmidt and Mitch Powell, had a very impressive season. The team won the Michiana West Conference, sectionals, and regionals. Jaworski and Schmidt bowled their way into semi-state for individuals. Jaworski bowled a 300 game in April. The girls' team also had a successful season.

The Gold Standard

Integrating fitness and healthy habits into everyday education at Penn

While critics may say teenagers today are among the most unhealthy in decades, students at Penn defy that assumption. Offering more fitness classes than some gyms, Penn gave students many options when it came to what type of physical activity they would be taking part in for a semester or year depending on scheduling. Featuring the required Freshmen PE, Fitness & Lifestyle, Advanced Team Sports, Water Activities, CrossFit, Aerobics, Lifeguarding and Zero Hour, there was no shortage in variety as well as difficulty level for any student.

The Oldest Car In The Lot

50% of students have been in a car accident.

58% of students received their cars from their parents.

Whether you are heading south down Capital Avenue or north up Bittersweet Road, we are all destined for the same place. We go to this place to learn, grow, and socialize. We are all here for the same reasons, but the roads we take to our destination are all different. Some students take the bus, while others have their parents drop them off at Door M. Then there is a majority of upperclassmen who drive to school and park in one of the seven parking lots on the campus.

1. JEEPS are unique because of the traditional "Jeep Wave" drivers do as they pass each other. Cameron Glaeser, 11, Anthony Gavrilas, 12, Tommy Grant, 11, and Katie Inabnit, 12 all posed on their Jeeps in the Softball parking lot. 2. DAN KOEHLER, 12, drives a maroon and silver Chevrolet Monte Carlo. He has named his car "The Monte". 3. SENIOR Rob Klump stood next to his Jeep Cherokee for a quick picture. Rob put a lift kit on his jeep to raise it from the ground. 4. COREY MCILROY, 12, shows off his 1964 Corvair. Corey's car is the oldest car in the Penn parking lot! The car is so old that he actually has to have it winterized because it is unable to be driven in cold weather or heavy snow. 5. MITCH HELMKAMP stands next to his Chevy Camaro. Helmkamp got the stripes painted on his car to enhance the appearance.

SENIOR Brandon West stands next to his car in his driveway. The unique thing about his vehicle is that unlike car doors that open out, his doors open upwards. MADDIE SMITH, 12, has a 2002 silver Saturn Vue. Silver was the most common color of cars found in our parking lot. SENIOR Maddie Moran owns a yellow Mini Cooper. Moran included her unique car as a part of her senior pictures. She has been in one accident. Luckily, there was minimal damage and she was still able to race around in her Cooper! BEST FRIENDS Tyler Harlan and Jacob Davis pose next to their matching cars. They both drive Grand Ams.

SENIOR Coty Pangallo revved up his engine in the softball parking lot. CHRIS COMO, 11, leaned against his silver mustang. Como was once in a fender bender with his elementary school teacher. WHITNEY GRACE, 12, saved up her hard earned money to buy a Yellow Chevy Cobalt. SENIOR Halle Hammer received her gray BMW as a birthday gift from her parents.

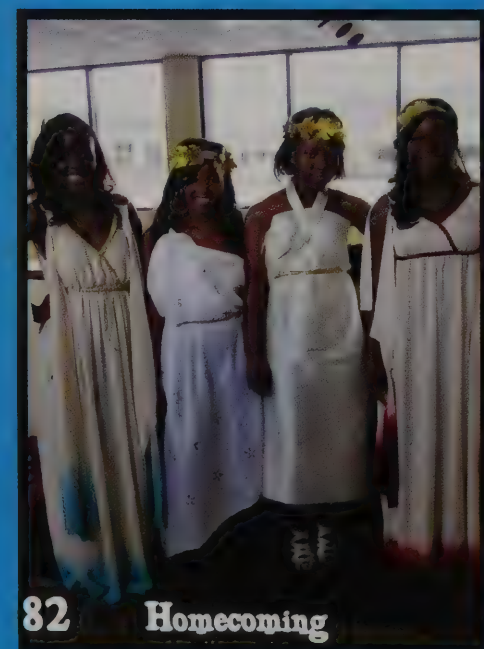

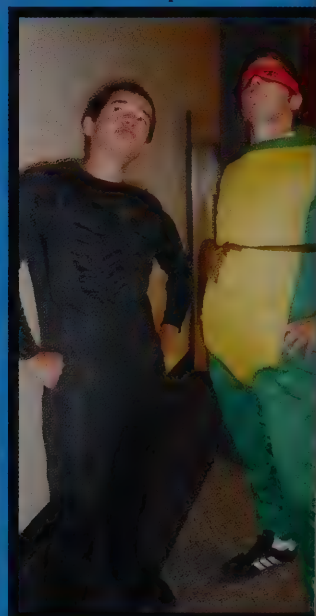

ASHLEY JONES, senior, posed for a quick picture before school in the Main Parking Lot. Main was always the most crowded parking lot due to its closeness to Door "D". The race to Main in the mornings can sometimes end badly for the students running late who must park across the street.

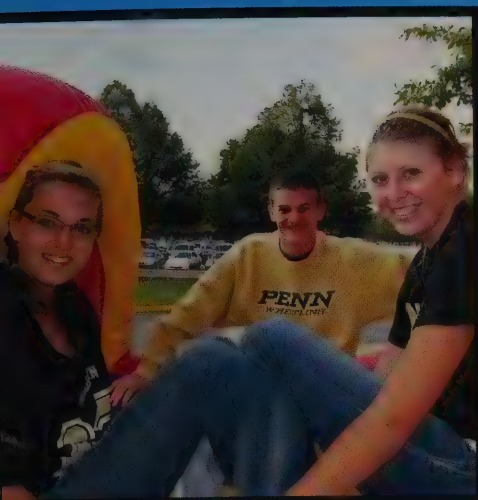

HOMEcoming WEEK holds many traditions at Penn. This year's theme was Under the Sea. Classrooms continuously decorated their doors all week. Another tradition that has held strong are the dress-up days. This year's days included pajama, super-hero, toga and nerd, and black-out. The Student Council decided to include a new dress-up theme: business-attire day. Students participated all week, and showed their best spirit.

BUBALA MOONGA, 12, and Elena Rink, 11, dressed up for business attire day. SENIORS Jentry Binder and Katie Inabnit took a quick nap in the hallway on pajama day. FRESHMAN Grant Delapaz and senior, Levi Paul, dressed up as Batman and Raphael the Ninja Turtle. SENIORS Nadia Kidiwa, Upile Mandiwa, Tutugirl Blayee, and Zainab Balogun all wore togas. Togas are a senior tradition that has gone on for many decades. SENIOR football players Dylan Heyvaert, Bobby Nicks, and Zach Hiss held running back Emerson Marenzi. The football team faced Washington High School that night, and won 17-6. SOPHOMORES Sarah Dhuivetter and Kirstan Golba-Ingles dressed up on super-hero day as Wonder Woman and Super Woman.

THIS year's homecoming king and queen were no ordinary pair. Patrick Adkins and Ashley Jones have been best friends since childhood. Both Patrick and Ashley are involved in many activities here at Penn. It was no surprise to hear their names called when it was time to announce the winners.

SENIORS Maura Sweeney and Colette Keller were all smiles at the pep rally. Sweeney and Keller are both a part of Student Council. LEVI PAUL and Drake Ziegelmaier MCed the pep rally. Their job was to pump up the crowd and excite the players.

THE 2011-2012 HOMECOMING COURT was Emerson Marenzi, Ashley Jones, Evan McSorley, Michaela Piatt, Patrick Adkins, Christy Chang, Sriharsha Ratakonda, Halle Hammer, Clayton Quantz and Holley Cowling.

Girls Of The Gridiron

During the first few days of September, the girls were already practicing hard for the upcoming September 21st Powderpuff game. In the first game, the freshmen put up a good fight against the juniors, but the juniors prevailed with a win during overtime. In the second game, the seniors dominated the sophomores. The winning junior and senior teams faced off to play in the final game. Many flags were pulled, but the final result ended with a senior victory.

Sophomores made signs to represent their team and wore neon socks to show unity. The juniors wore masks to try and intimidate the other teams. During the games, teammates showed support to each other with high fives and body bumps.

Senior Spellers

Penn had its traditional celebration at Hap's Ice Cream Parlor in Logansport. Huang, Anderson, Hershberger, and Lapkus at Hap's. Penn also celebrated their win at regionals with a traditional visit to Fazoli's. Sheena Shah, 12, leads the team in review before the Garrett Invitational.

Captains

Seniors Christy Chang and Sheena Shah were co-captains this year. Both have been a part of Spell Bowl for four years. Sheena Shah correctly spelled 291 out of the 297 words in her varsity career. Christy Chang ended her career having correctly spelled all 297 words she faced in varsity competition. Along with her three state championships and state runner-up, she finished as the most successful Spell Bowl player in the 27-year history of the competition in Indiana. Her success brought much positive attention to Penn, both locally and statewide. Michelle Werts's unequalled three-peat of social studies Academic Super Bowl state championships (1999-2001) and Christy Chang's record-setting perfect career are, according to coach Pete DeKever, the two greatest career achievements ever posted by a Penn athletic or academic player in their respective competition.

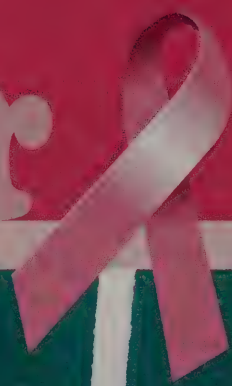

The Penn Spell Bowl team completed its 13th consecutive undefeated regular season, winning all seven invitationals: East Noble, Winamac, Lakeland, Penn, Kouts, Garrett, and Logansport. Penn had perfect team scores of 90 at the Lakeland, Kouts, and Logansport invitationals. Penn then went on to win its 14th consecutive regionals championship at John Glenn, earning a 14th straight trip to the state finals. At the state finals, Penn missed one word and finished with a score of 89, losing the state championship to Martinsville. This loss in the state finals was Penn's first loss since the 2007 state finals. Penn had previously won 11 of 12 state championships, dating back to the 1999 state finals. A school record of six spellers were perfect in all nine varsity competitions: Leah Hersherberger, Austin Heckaman, Yifei Hu, Jenny Huang, Sheena Shah, and Christy Chang. Penn finished the season with an astounding record of 79-1.

Penn was perfect at the Kouts invitational. Cao, 11, and Heckaman, 11, display their perfect speller ribbons after winning the Kouts invitational. Heckaman, Cao, Varadharajan, and Rajkumar celebrated at Hap's Ice Cream Parlor.

October

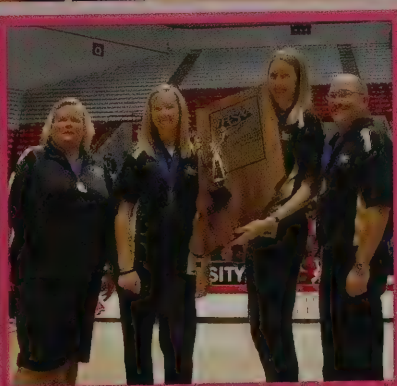

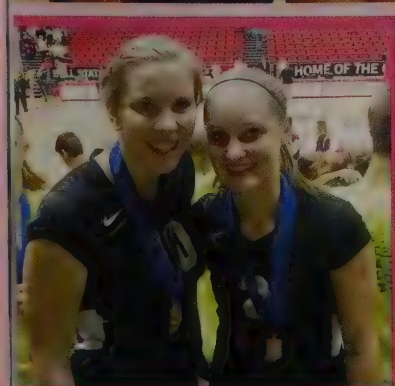

Every year, students who are sophomores through seniors sign up to be a Freshman Mentor. The Mentors helped the freshmen get used to the new high school environment, played team-building games, and, sometimes, brought treats! Anna Harris, 10, exclaimed that, "Freshmen are friends, not food." In September, mentors attend an all-day orientation to learn all the "getting to know you" games, tips for concerns, and also watch videos about bullying and other teenage issues. When Frankie Spring, 9, was asked about her mentor experience she said, "I liked that my mentor brought me food!" Counselors Maddie Watkins and Marnie Cronk loved the mentors. Watkins said, "Our Freshman Mentors are one of our most successful resources for acclimating freshmen to Penn High School!"

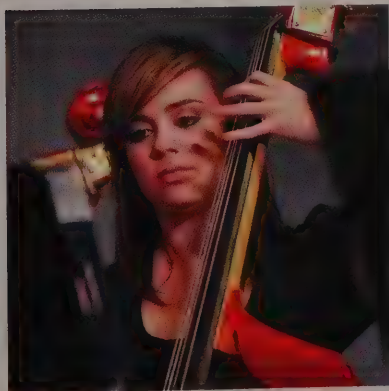

Volleyball State Champions

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 5, the Penn High School volleyball team won their second consecutive state championship. Penn faced Avon High School at Ball State's Worthern Arena. They beat the Avon Orioles, 3-1, winning game one, 25-16; losing game two, 17-25; winning game three, 25-13; and capturing their third win in game four, 25-18. Avon was ranked first in the state, and was projected to defeat the Kingsmen. However, the Lady Kingsmen proved them wrong and walked out with their second blue ring. The Penn Volleyball team posed with their newly won state championship trophy immediately following the game. SENIORS and their number one fan, Penn graduate, Gage Davis, took a picture at the State banquet the night before the games. KAITLYN HICKEY, 12, won the Mental Attitude Award. Penn High School Athletics received a $1000 in her name. JUNIOR McKenna Carter and senior Kaitlyn posed with their newly won blue medals. COACHES Paige Marschall, Jessie Fox, Sarah Hendricks, and Dave Gingerich hoist the State trophy. SENIORS Emily Tavares and Karissa Cook are all smiles with McKenna Carter, 11, during the state championship celebration in the main arena. THE TEAM celebrated the win moments after their victory.

who got you through relationships & friendships in high school in the 21st century

Single, taken, in between: relationships of all kinds exist at Penn. Some chose the single life and spent the time making memories with their friends and finding their independence. Others chose to be in a committed relationship where they learned the highs and lows of love. Juggling grades, extracurriculars, and their social lives, Penn students found a way to successfully balance friends, family and significant others.

Nick Farber, 11, and Bri Tribbett, 11 managed to snap a quick picture during a very eventful weekend in Utah at the National Rugby Championship. Bri traveled over 1,500 miles to support Nick throughout this endeavor. SENIORS Lizzy Miley and Jacob Hambruch enjoyed a beautiful day outdoors together. Chad Gindelberger, 12, and Taylor Duley 12, began dating senior year and have been inseparable since. As the senior quarterback and senior cheerleader, they are the quintessential high school couple. Nicole Krasean, 11, and Concord student Randy Warren, 12, looked fancy at Penn's winter dance, Snowball. It wasn't uncommon for students to date people that attended other schools. SENIORS Emerson Marenzi and girlfriend Ashley Jones looked on to the crowd at Freed Field during Homecoming King and Queen crowning. The couple met in eighth grade and have been dating ever since. SOPHOMORES Riley Van De Voorde and Kailey Pate enjoyed a nice autumn day together at a picnic.

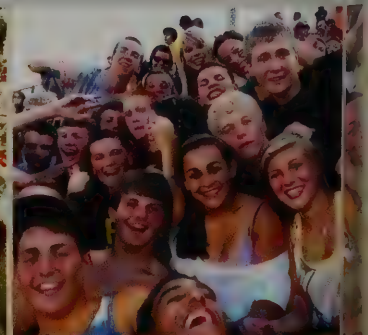

FRESHMEN Daniel Luzney and Sara Brumbaugh worked together on a project during class. They remained focused on their classwork even though they were dating.

SOPHOMORES Micah Corning-Meyers and Taylor Grantham spent time together outside of school. They have been exclusive for over a year now, uncommon for young people at Penn but something worth celebrating.

JUNIORS Trevor Manspeaker and Hannah Hestad enjoyed Christmas by spending quality time together and with each other's families.

FRESHMEN got rowdy at Freed Field under the Friday night lights, bringing lots of school spirit and energy to their part of the student section.

The Language of Love

Penn students, what is your take on relationships? {Single, or taken}

Going out- The couple is in a committed relationship and they go on dates.

Talking- The couple is talking about getting together exclusively.

FBO- Facebook Official, when a relationship is public on Facebook.

Clingy- When a person you are talking to is constantly in contact with you and it becomes bothersome. See "Stage 5 Clinger."

Stage 5 Clinger- A person who is at the highest level of clinginess (i.e., Jersey Shore).

Player- Typically a guy that talks to multiple women at one time.

Single Girl Swag- The attitude of a female who is proud of her independent status.

<3- Another symbol for a heart "I <3 (insert name here)."

Jersey Chaser- Typically refers to a female that dates men during their particular sport season to boost her popularity.

"People let me tell ya 'bout my best friend..."

Let's face it, the "best" four years of our lives would be nothing without the memories and support from those whom we call our best friends. They were the ones that met up with you at University Park Mall after school for some retail therapy post-breakup. They were the "bros" always ready for a rowdown for Call of Duty at 2 a.m., weeknight or weekday to your mother's dismay. Some friends you've known since you first exchanged pencils back in kindergarten, others you awkwardly met freshman year wandering the halls of Penn. Regardless of where your relationships will stand ten years from now, one thing is certain. The time spent with these people definitely left a mark on who you were as a person, better or for worse.

"(For seniors) Why would you want a relationship when you're leaving for college in less than a year?"

-KRISTEN HORVATH, 12

"Being single is about having fun and being able to enjoy being a teenager and having fun with your friends. But you can have fun while in a relationship too."

-TARYN PRATT, 11

"I love Seth."

-SAM BROWN, 11

"Being in a relationship, for me, means that no matter what, I will have someone there to pick me up when I'm down and someone to believe in me. A loving relationship is the best kind out there."

-BECCA DEWITT, 11

"There's no better feeling than knowing that there is someone who will always be there for you and care about you. They love you for who you are, and you love them for who they are."

-CHRIS BRACH, 11

"As a freshman all of the relationships you will have, you will learn from them. Love is gonna find you."

-JAINA RENRER, 9

"Guys don't know what they want in high school and it's annoying, but friends are there for you with everything. That's why my friends and I are so close--we have each other's backs no matter what and we know everything about each other."

-COURTNEY HARJUNG, 11

"I am one bad relationship away from 30 cats."

-HUNTER MORELAND, 11

"Single doesn't always mean lonely and a relationship doesn't always mean happy."

-BLAKE SZEKENDY, 10

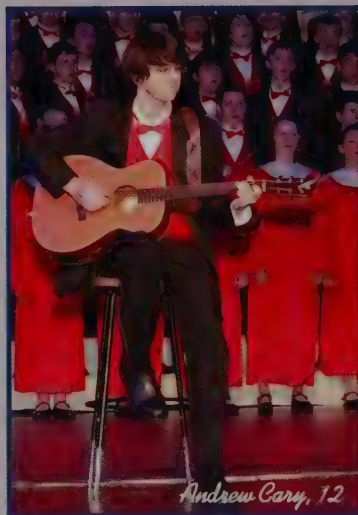

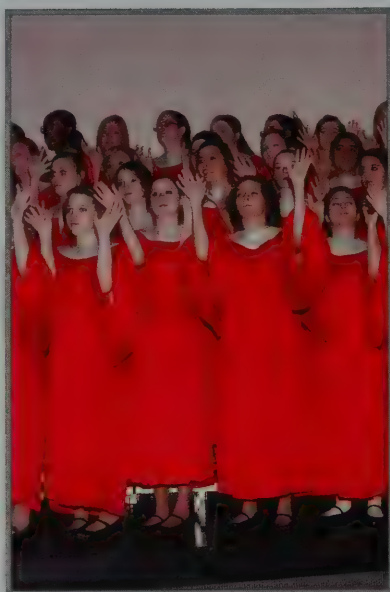

"Being in a relationship in high school is a blessing. You have someone to go through all the highs and lows with that always sticks by your side."

-SETH RASSI, 11

The Girls' Chorus performed the song "I Saw Mommy Kissing Santa Claus." The Girls' Chorus is the first level of choir for the females. It consists mostly of freshmen; however, there are some sophomore girls as well.

The Singing Kingsmen sang "Silver Bells" at their winter concert. All of the Kingsmen were ready to do their best, and sing their hearts out. They all love being together and seeing the whole show come together after so many hours of practicing.

Andrew Cary, 12

Angelica Hunt, 12

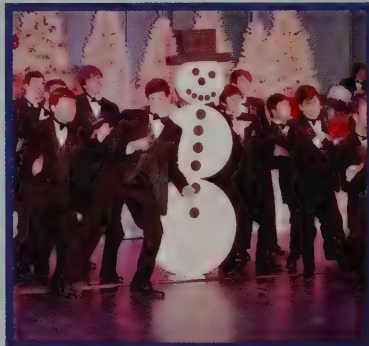

Lexi Paul, 12

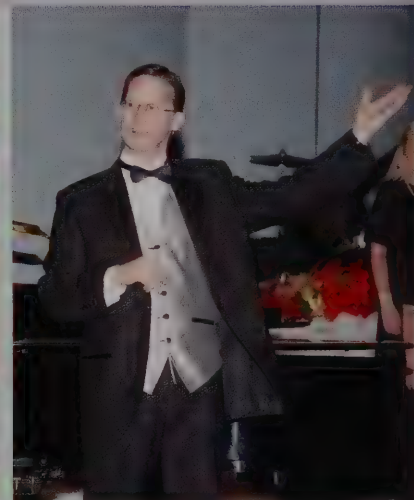

In order to show some holiday spirit, Jensynn Smith, 12, Lexi Wood, 11, and Evan McSorley, 12, dressed up as classic Christmas characters. They had a coordinated dance to the song, Males from the Chamber Choir sang and danced to "Winter Wonderland." They have many routines and enjoy it all.

Sarah Linnen, 12, and Leah Hershberger, 11, performed in the choir's opening set. All of the choirs sang four songs together to really get their audience in the holiday spirit.

Concert Choir is made up of female and male students who are juniors and seniors. They sang the tune of "Tambourine Noel" which is a Christmas carol based out of Spain. The Choir program always tries to incorporate other countries' custom songs to appeal to everyone.

Brent Holaway, choir director, worked with his students day in and day out up until the concert to make sure it was absolutely perfect. He is very happy with the success of the choir and the abilities of his students.

"My favorite part about being a part of the Chamber Choir is that I am able to hang out with really cool people in purple dresses."

Life | s a Song - Love | s The Music

With narration by Evan McSorley, 12, and Michaela Piatt, 12, the Chamber Choir was eager to perform. They all love being able to show off all the hard work they've put into their routines throughout the year.

The Chamber Choir sings and dances to the tune of "I Want a Hippopotamus for Christmas," featuring director Brent Holaway as the hippopotamus. The Chamber Choir consisted of 27 students, mainly juniors and seniors, who want to gain experience of a show choir. The people who make it into the Chamber Choir have to make it through auditions, and be committed to it one hundred percent. It's a lot of work, but they all do a great job at it.

The Penn Choir Program has seven choirs, with 400 students total in the program. Most of them stay in it all four years. Being in choir gives students opportunities to travel throughout the year and compete with other school choirs.

The Penn Choir program underwent many changes this year. After having both accompanists and a director leave, and another director retire, the students have gotten to know many new faces this school year. Andrew Nemeth is a new director this year, and Andrew Napolitan is the new accompanist. The students like all the new staff members who they have gotten to know. Hannah Theriault, 10, said, "I just love everyone so much. The Choir is like one big happy family, and I enjoy having the new teachers. It has been a great addition to the class." Hannah Chapman, 11, said, "We have gotten to know the new members of the choir quite well, and they are a fun addition." All of the new staff members, along with veteran director Brett Holaway, have added many new things to make the Penn Choir the best it can be. Excellence in Penn Choir is a constant.

Haley Atkins, 11, led the Girls' Chorus in "Light the Candles of Freedom." It's a part of the concert people anticipate most because of how well the choir performs it.

The Singing Kingsmen is all male students in all grades. To be a Singing Kingsmen is a lot of work and takes much dedication.

"I love being in choir because of all the people I've been able to become really close to. Choir also pushes me to do the very best I can do."

BUILDING TRADES

Building trades is one of the most unique classes at Penn. Building trades allows students to take a break from the traditional classroom setting and truly attain hands on experience. Students spend their first and second hour classes at the building site every day hanging drywall, learning about carpentry, landscaping, painting, and much more. The house sells for over $100,000, so everything must be quality.

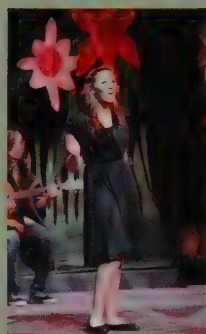

November 10 & 12

Destinee Flowers, 10, (Ensemble), Edie Moon, 12, (Ensemble), Jordan Whitaker, 12, (The Duke), Roger Johnson, 9, (Amiens) and Kalee Masterson, 10, (Ensemble) had a picnic and sang a song.

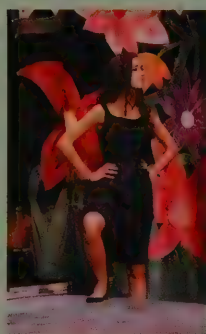

Jordan Whitaker, 12, played the Duke, the father to Celia.

Julia Gries, 10, starred as Audrey, the beautiful promiscuous Girl.

Kalee Masterson, 10, played one of the Ensemble girls.

Dominic Oletti, 11, was Orlando, and Malik Oudghiri, 9, was Adam and Martext.

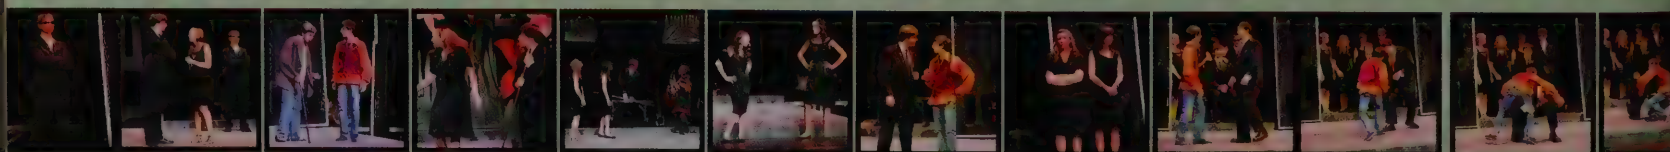

Lydia Coppedge, 11, starred as Rosalind, the daughter of the Duke.

Lydia Coppedge, 11, (Rosalind) fell in love with Dominic Oletti, 11 (Orlando) before he fought Tim Farr (Charles), the Duke's Wrestler. The entire fight scene is shown below.

Lydia Coppedge 11 (Rosalind), Bailey Hayes, 9 (Celia), and Josh Nunley, 12 (Touchstone), began their journey into the forest.

The town fool, Josh Nunley, 12, (Touchstone), was the comedic relief to the show.

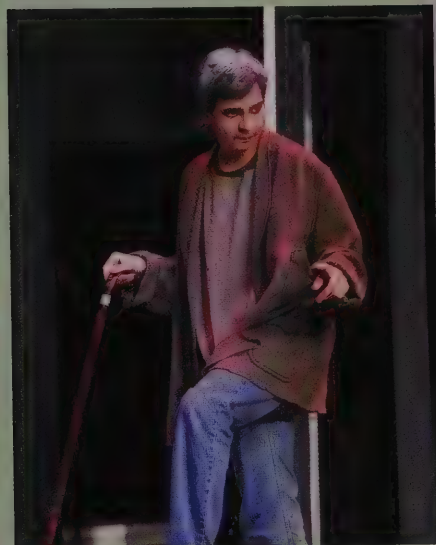

AS YOU LIKE IT

"As You Like It" was a comedy written by Shakespeare about the main character, Rosalind having to flee the court of her uncle with the help of some friends and cousin. She eventually finds love in the Forest of Arden. Although there was a series of miscommunications and mistaken identities, in the end most of the characters found love. The show took place at Penn in the CPA on November 10th and 11th and cast a variety of students from all four grades.

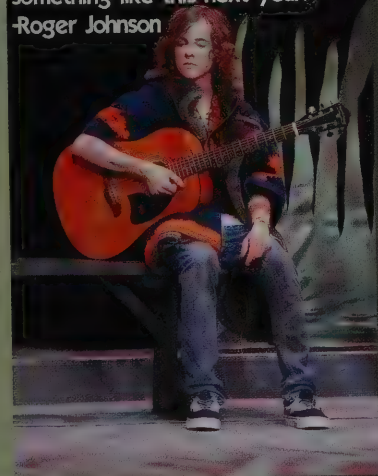

Malik Oudghiri, 9, played not only Adam, the old man, but also Martext, the priest.

Jordan Whitaker, 12 (The Duke), insulted Austin Mason, 12 (Oliver), while Chase Andreae, 9 (Duke's Lord), held him down.

"This was the first time I wrote music for an actual play. Although it was challenging, it was a great experience and hopefully I can do something like this next year."
-Roger Johnson

Roger Johnson, 9 (Amiens), composed the music to the play.

Austin Mason, 12 (Oliver), met with the Duke to face his punishment.

Julia Gries, 10 (Audrey), brought humor to the show as Touchstone's flirtatious wife.

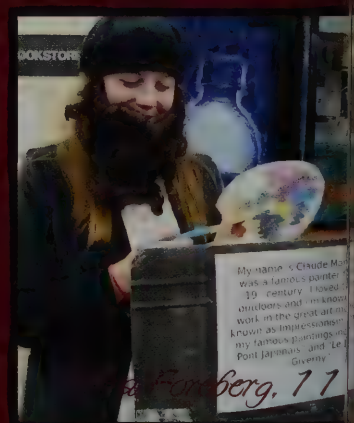

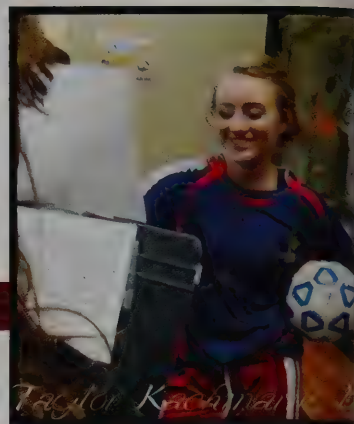

Malik Oudghiri, 9, (Adam), and Dominic Oletti (Orlando), walked along to answer his master's call.

FRENCH WAX MUSEUM

Madam Mitchell's French 3 and French 4 classes created an interactive wax museum for Penn. Students dressed up as famous historical figures and prepared three to five-sentence paragraphs written in French. Throughout the day, Penn. students were invited to visit the Museum and learn about French history. Reflecting on the experience, Madam Mitchell said, "We had a great turn out this year. It was way better than I expected and I am so proud of my students!"

Penn Football State Runner Up

THE PENN FOOTBALL TEAM traveled to Lucas Oil Stadium in Indianapolis, the home of the Colts, on November 26, the day after Thanksgiving. The Kingsmen faced the Carmel Greyhounds. Unfortunately, the Kingsmen fell short. This was Penn's first appearance in the state finals since 2003 when they lost to Warren Central. SENIOR Devin Reagan led the team out of the tunnel right before the start of the game. THE GOLD RUSH huddled up in between plays. JEFF LAIDIG and Andrew Trehwella, 12, made the trip to Indy to cheer in the midst of the Penn student section. Thousands of fans traveled down to Indianapolis to see the Kingsmen compete. QUARTERBACK Chad Gindelberger, 12, warmed up before the game. JUNIOR cheerleaders held up signs that would be posted along the road on the way to Lucas Oil Stadium. The signs were used as motivation for the players as they drove out of Mishawaka. THE GOLD RUSH lined up against Carmel's defense and prepared to start the play.

ALL FOR ONE, ONE FOR ALL.

THE VARSITY BOYS' BASKETBALL TEAM finished the season with a record of 10-13. The team played with enthusiasm the entire season, and surged in the first two games of tournament play. They lost to South Bend Adams in the Sectional Championship, 66-58. JUNIOR Conner Sowders defended a Riley player inbounded the ball. The team came out ahead and beat Riley 56-46. JUNIOR Austin Torres dunked on a Elkhart Central player. Torres often dunked several times a game, and became very hard to defend. Torres said, "This season was difficult because the team was impacted by many injuries." Torres was selected to the N.I.C. Honorable Mention team.

HEAD COACH Al Rhodes yelled at his players on the court during the Sectional Championship game. Coach Rhodes was known to bring a lot of intensity to games and practices. He ended the season with a mark of 499 wins, cumulatively, over his 31 years of head coaching. AUSTIN TORRES, 11, looked towards the basket in the Sectional Championship. Torres had 20 points, 16 rebounds, and six blocks in the game. SENIOR Aaron Brady dribbled past a Washington Panther defender. Brady was hurt most of the season, but was ready to play the last few games. Brady often scored in the double digits. JEFF LAIDIG, 12, tried to shoot a lay-up over a South Bend Adams defender. Laidig was on varsity all four years, and battled a foot injury during his senior season. He will be continuing his basketball career at Division I Belmont University in Nashville, Tennessee.

Boys Varsity Basketball

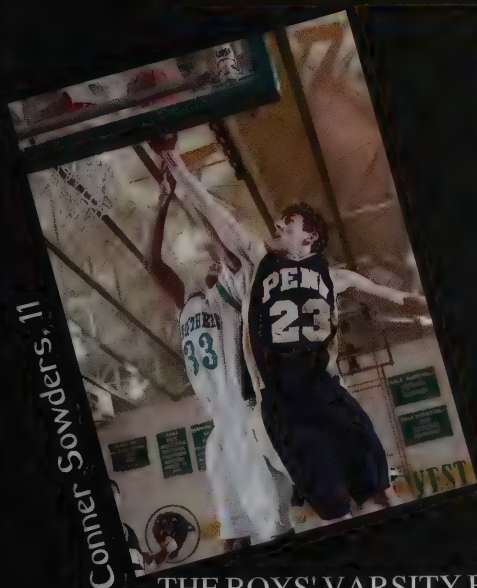

SENIOR Adam Dallich held onto the ball in the game against the Washington Panthers. Dallich was the tallest player on the team with a height of 6' 8". He often used his height to his advantage when it came to rebounding. JUNIOR Leo Svete drove to the hoop over an Adams defender in the Sectional Championship. He was chosen to play on the United States Select 18 and under National Team. Svete said that he was speechless when he found out he was invited to join the team. Svete trained in Washington D.C. for two days, and then traveled to Milan, Italy, for six days for a tournament. FRESHMAN Nate Miller dove for the ball in the game against the Washington. Miller, a point guard, was one of four freshmen who often dressed on varsity. THE TEAM focused intently on Head Coach Al Rhodes during the Sectional Championship game.

THE BOYS' VARSITY BASKETBALL TEAM had several point guards on the team. Three point guards who often started were Conner Sowders, 11, Jeff Laidig, 12, and Leo Svete, 11. The Penn point guards had the responsibility of running plays, finding open players, and driving to the basket. THE FIRST ROUND of sectionals Penn played South Bend Riley. The game was tied 53-53, with four seconds left. Sowders made two free throws in the final seconds, and the team won with a score of 55-53.

Quoted:

"Teammates, practices and having fun." Inoke Moala, 9, said that was what got him through the season this year.

RYAN Lutz, a freshman on the JV and varsity team loves the game of basketball. Lutz said, "What got me through the season were my teammates and making new friends."

"I really have a deep love for basketball; it's really enjoyable," said Isaiah Cook. "The teammates and coach are great!"

Luke Gebbie, 9 said what got him through the season were the coaches and good attitudes. "The feeling after winning a game was my favorite thing," he said.

Fierce and Focused

The Penn Lady Kingsmen had another successful season. Varsity head coach K Kaniewski led the girls to an impressive record of 25-2, along with an undefeated league record and the NIC title for the third year in a row. The Kingsmen fell short in the state game, but they have a lifetime of accomplishments to be proud of. Many prestigious awards were given to the girls during their season, including Alex Mor receiving NIC All-Conference MVP and NIC All-Conference 1st team, Taylor L 1st team, Tori Milliner and Olivia Carlton second team, and Caroline Buhr Honorable Mention.

The Lady Kingsmen posed for a picture after winning the Indiana Hall of Fame Classic tournament. This was Penn's first appearance in such a well-respected event.

The girls celebrated with Coach Kaniewski after winning the sectional title for the second year in a row.

SENIOR Alex Norton signed with Western Michigan University and will continue playing basketball there for the next four years. Alex is majoring in Elementary Education.

TEAM CAPTAINS

My favorite memory was just having an overall great season and getting to see my best friends every day."

"These girls have been like sisters to me and I am going to miss being their 'team mom'."

"I'll miss making so many great memories with these girls, cherishing the good times and getting through the tough times together."

"My favorite memory was dancing around and bonding with the team before games."

Vanessa Pereira, 9

Alexis Harder, 9

Quoted:

"Being with the girls and the team dinners were fun." - Christina Ovaert, 10

"The girls and I had a lot of fun this season, we had many inside jokes and we relied on each other through all the hard practices."

- Kathryn Knutson, 11

"What got me through the season was getting to play basketball and being with the team. My favorite thing is that since I've played for so long I love it now."

132 Basketball Cheer

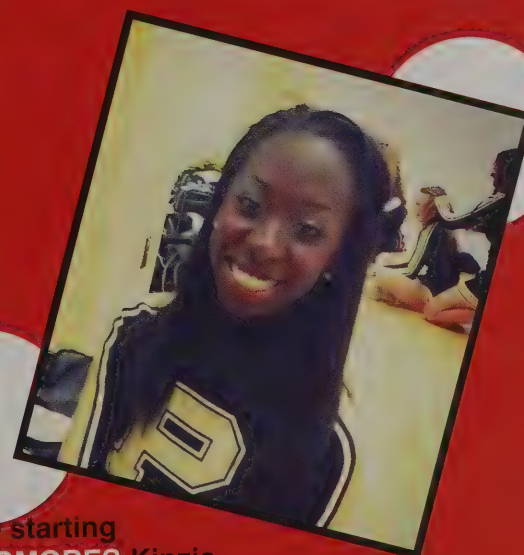

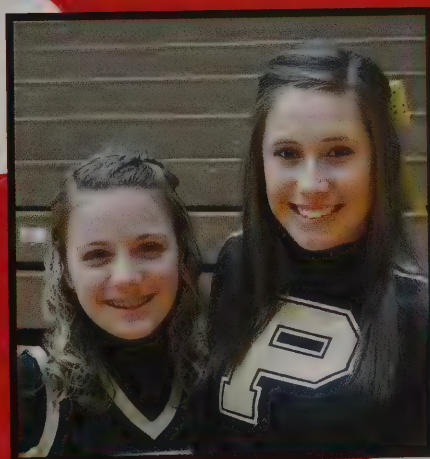

The varsity cheer team was offered the opportunity to cheer at the Notre Dame boys' basketball game when their cheerleaders were gone for winter break. The girls cheered a total of two boys games for Notre Dame. JUNIORS Madison Parker, Jessie Kocsis, Alexanna Redden and Jessica Hinsey got together for a photo at a girls' game in Valparaiso. SUPERINTENDENT Jerry Thacker and his wife Donna joined a few of the girls for a quick photo right before the big Mishawaka rivalry game. The varsity squad, made up of juniors and seniors along with a few sophomores who got more experience from JV, cheered on the Lady Kingsmen all the way to semi-state.

Notre Dame men's basketball game while their cheerleaders were home for winter break. The girls got to cheer for the Fighting Irish on multiple occasions. "I love Notre Dame basketball and being given the opportunity to cheer on the sidelines was such a fun experience!" said Jessie Kocsis, junior.

ONE team. ONE family.

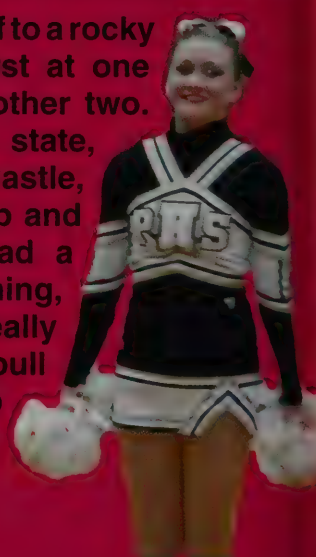

MEGAN Potosky, junior, held Connor Sowder's drop down sign during the starting line up at the first home game of the season. SOPHOMORES Kinzie Duley and Haley Stesiak got ready to present their towels to their varsity player. It is tradition that each cheerleader makes a decorative towel for all varsity players. NAHDYA Weathers was one of two seniors on the varsity basketball cheer team. She showed her bright smile as she planned the stunts the team would be performing that night.

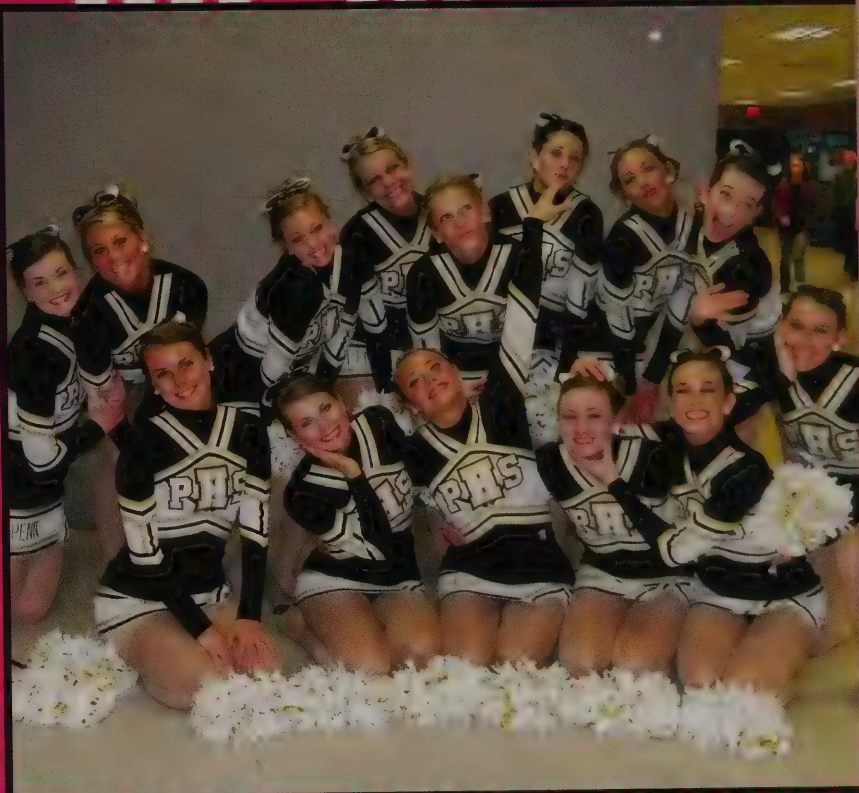

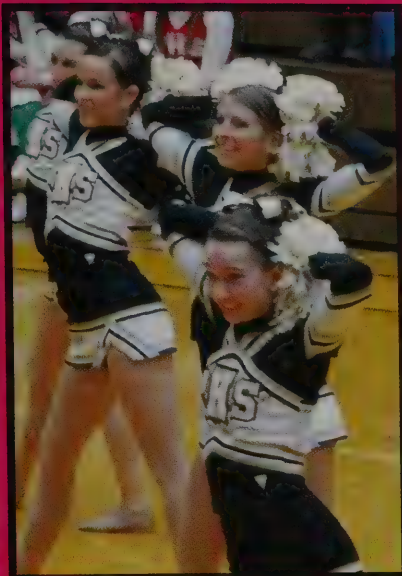

It's all about the competition!

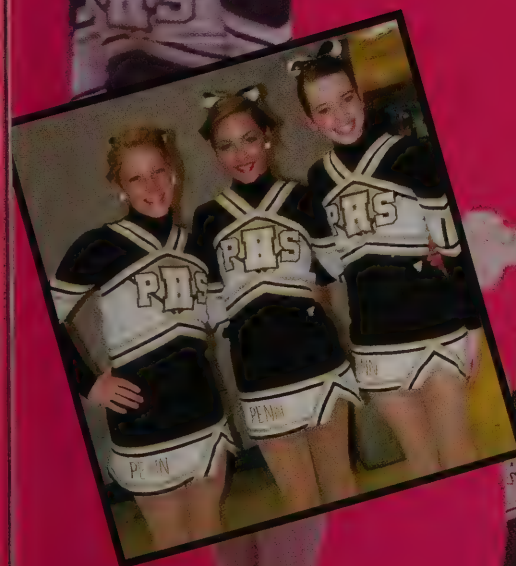

The competition poms team got off to a rocky start. In season, they placed first at one competition and second at the other two. But they make it all the way to state, which was located in New Castle, Indiana. They won first runner up and were ecstatic! "Although we had a rough start in the beginning, throughout the season we really bonded and all got motivated to pull off a state runner up championship," said Abby Penland, junior.

The competition poms team grew very close with each other this year. It was said that they were not just a team, but a family as well. They practiced every Monday and Wednesday for two and one half hours and even used an hour after every basketball games to practice. The girls were a very strong team and were very proud of how they did.

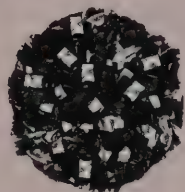

Just a Family...

"We don't spin in poms. We do turns!" Anna Harris, 10

So You Think You Can Dance?

The season for the varsity and junior varsity pom teams began long before the 2011-2012 school year with selections and tryouts starting back in the spring of 2011. From that group, Penn High School was privileged to have the best of the best, some dancing for decades, mastering each leap, jump and kick required to make this team top notch. Through countless hours of practice in the Penn dance studio, these ladies proved they had what it took to call themselves a true member of this team. Performing proudly at every home game at the Palace, each girl gave it her all and made this one of the best seasons Penn varsity and JV have seen in years.

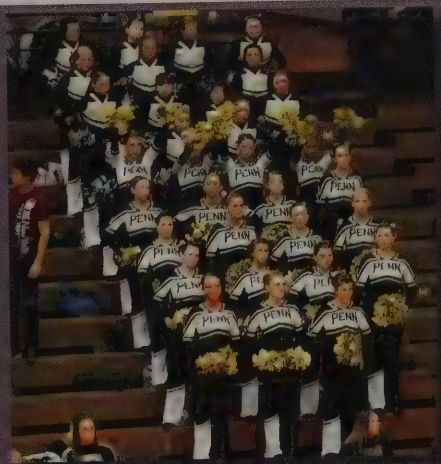

THE Junior Varsity poms squad smiled wide as they looked into the crowd of fans cheering them on. This was the squad's second performance of the season. VARSITY poms punched their arms into a high V while dancing at one of the varsity basketball games. The girls had a great season, performing technical dances that the whole crowd enjoyed watching. KICK lines were one of the many surprises the JV poms squad featured throughout their dances. All of the girls kicked well above their shoulders, a difficult skill that took time to master. KAYLEIGH ZEEFF, 10, displayed "facials" while performing during the season. Facials were a great way for the teams to show their school spirit and allowed the Penn High School fans to know just how much fun the girls were having.

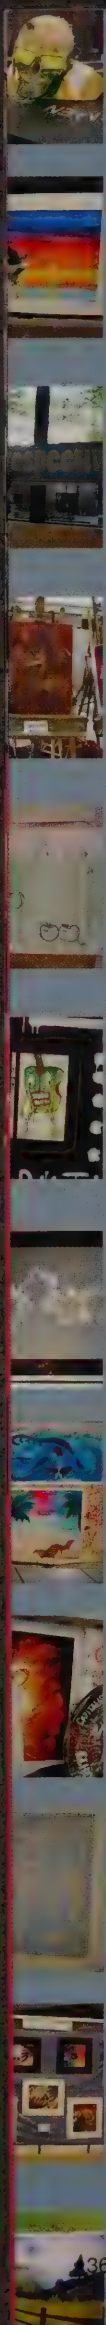

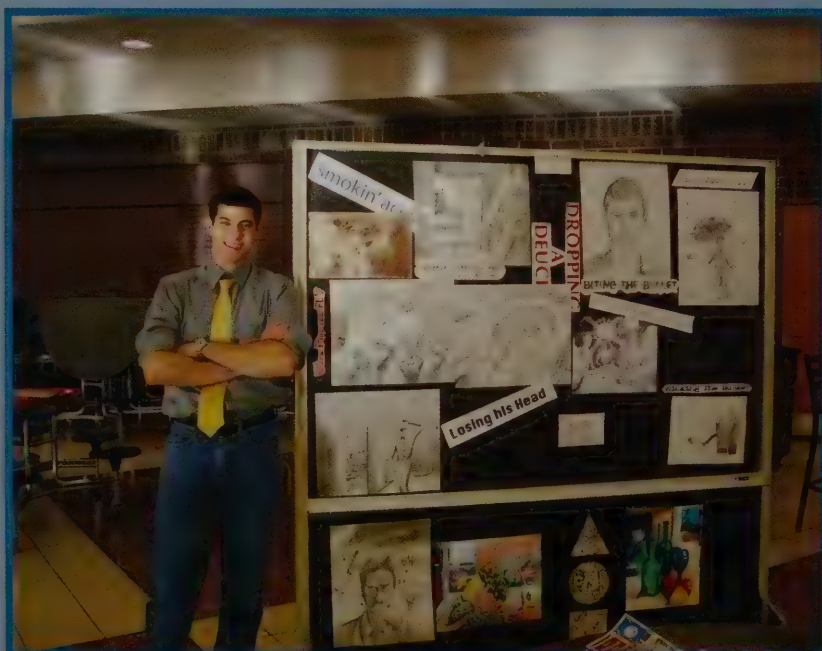

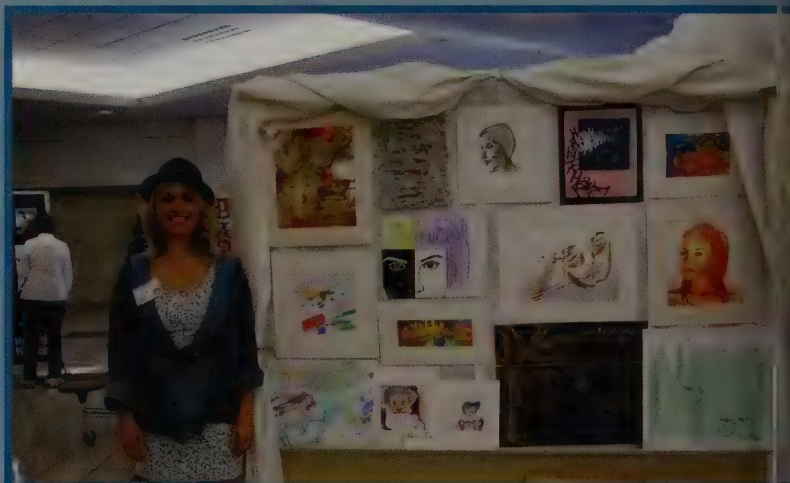

FRESHMEN Brooke Stevens and Hailey Mramor laughed before their last performance of the season. Before heading out, the team's nerves were pretty high; however, an adrenaline rush always made way for a great dance finale. Each dance was about two minutes long and was set to a mix of songs. A mix of Varsity, Junior Varsity and Competition Pommers sat together in a circle and chatted before a big game. The Varsity Poms squad welcomed new coach, Penn grad Cindy Bernard, to the team this season. The whole squad really enjoyed having her as their coach. The JV Poms squad smiled as they formed a circle filled with their poms in the middle. Peyton Paul, 9, Cassidy Howell, 11, and Hannah Moore, 10 all stretched in preparation for their halftime performance. Every member of the Junior Varsity Poms squad possessed extreme flexibility, comfortably throwing themselves into right and left leg splits.

BLEACHERS

"Bleachers" were routines that the JV and Varsity pom squads performed during pre-game. There were three different bleacher routines in all, and they consisted of doing various technical movements with their arms while the pep band played music. Synchronized and appealing to the eye, "Bleachers" were a way for the crowd to stay entertained before the big varsity basketball game.

December

During the annual winter choir concert, "Ribbons and Wrappings," Jansynn Smith, 12, dressed as an elf and Lexi Wood, 11, costumed as Mrs. Claus, performed "A Holly Jolly Holiday." JUNIORS Stephanie Batalis and Elena Rink looked festive during Ugly Sweater Week. Batalis decked out in a light up sweater. Full of Christmas cheer, Joe Boyer, 10, and Simeon Teague, 10, participated in Senora Lutkus' annual "Adopt-A-Family" gift drive riding the class's generous donation of a bicycle. JUNIORS Alex Hartman and Kerie Richmond brought holiday spirit to finals week by sporting their ugly Christmas sweaters. Many students like Richmond participated in this fun Penn tradition for longer than just the week before break. Maddie Augsburger, 10, Hunter Clark, 10, and Haley Minatel, 11, posed for a quick picture at a holiday party. December remained a great time of the year to get together with friends and enjoy each other's company when it got cold outside. JUNIORS gathered after a basketball game still showing their Penn Pride with Kade Maggart, 11, and Travis Nettercutt, 11, sporting their crazy dye-jobs from the state championship.

Wrecking Waves

The 2011-12 boys' swim team was faced with a few distractions throughout the season. Between the discovery of a hidden camera in the locker room and the girls' team's preseason #4 ranking overshadowing them, the boys started the season with quite a heavy burden. But despite all of the noise, the boys' swim team wrote their own story, cracking the record books once again. The boys took five events down to state. Seamus Lucero-Dixon, 11, led the charge with two individual events of his own as well as two relays. Thomas Ahearn, 12, inched out teammate Dominic Vernasco, 12, in the 200 Individual Medley in the sectional final, and was awarded with a trip to Indianapolis.

Shattering Expectations

Penn High School has built quite a reputation in the pool over the last few years. Both the girls' and boys' teams have developed into powerhouse programs in the NIC as well as state. The boys' lost a few top swimmers to graduation, and St. Joseph looked to be the team who would raise the NIC and sectional trophies at the end of the season, but the the boys responded in a big way. The Kingsmen kicked off their season with a 3-0 start, knocking off rival Munster in the first meet, and finished unbeaten in the NIC. They ended up winning the sectional championship and NIC championship at the end of the year in spectacular fashion.

The 2012 class was lucky enough to have three senior captains, Matt Miller, Thomas Ahearn, and Alex Walt. Each captain brought a different type of leadership to the team. Especially this year, the boys needed senior leadership to help the rest of the team believe they could win another championship and continue their reign in the NIC, leading them through the NIC to Sectionals and all the way to the State championship. The team was very grateful to have these excellent seniors for their impressive 2011-2012 swim team.

Unbeatable Again

The Penn girls' swimming and diving team swam to their second straight undefeated season, coached by Jess Preston, knocking off rivals Northridge and Munster, as they beat the Seahorses in a close meet by ten points. Many records were broken this year including the 200 IM swum by Bethany Galat, 50 Free swum by Sarah Coyne, 200 Free Relay swum by Galat, Annie Spalding, Jenn Priebe, and Coyne, 100 free swum by Coyne, 100 Breaststroke swum by Spalding, and 400 Free relay swum by Galat, Coyne, Kailin Potter, and Emily Meckstroth. The Lady Kingsmen showed up at state, and left with a third place overall finish, the highest the Kingsmen have placed since 1980. Sophomore Bethany Galat also left the state meet with an individual state title in the 200 IM.

Maddie Bradford, 11

SENIOR Sarah Coyne helped lead Penn's Annie Spalding, Jenn Priebe and Bethany Galat to a third place finish in the 200 Freestyle Relay in Indianapolis at the State meet. FACING off against Northridge, Brian Oberlie, 10, started for backstroke to help the Kingsmen defeat the Raiders. JUNIOR Maddie Bradford takes a breath to the side during her cooldown. PENN swimmers dive in ahead of the competition during the 200 IM. Having a quick start is key to being a good swimmer. The start and finish can be the difference between being first, and being last.

SENIORS

SENIORS are what make a team go around. They take the leadership role when no one else can. Being a senior swimmer has a lot of responsibility along with it. You have to comfort other swimmers after a post-mental breakdown after a 5:30 A.M. practice, you have to teach the freshman how to put in lane lines, and, most importantly, you have to be there for every single girl on the team. Needless to say, the Penn swim team would not be the same without our seniors.

KINGSMEN STRONG

Penn's wrestling Kingsmen fought throughout the entire season to advance their way to State. Every member of the team worked their hardest in the practices scheduled in the morning and practices after school. Wrestlers also devoted their time to be a part of the PWC (Penn Wrestling Club) for the children interested in becoming future Penn wrestlers. Brad Harper, head coach, was named NIC Coach of the Year. Unfortunately, Harper's father passed away at the end of January, which was a hard loss for the team. With the loss of Terry Harper, each member felt the need to win every meet and every title for him. The Kingsmen ended their season with a tough loss against Indianapolis Cathedral 37-24. Zack Davis, 10, Jacob Davis, 12, Danny Ginter, 12, Ben Varner, 12, and Chase Osborn, 9, were the five successful Kingsmen to make it to State. The Kingsmen's record after this season was 23-3.

Trevor Manspeaker, 11, has been a part of the Penn wrestling team since his freshman year, and before high school, he was a wrestler at Grissom Middle School. Trevor is not the only Manspeaker who is a part of the Penn Wrestling program. Dave Manspeaker, Trevor's father, is a coach at Grissom and also at Penn. Dave has been involved with Trevor's wrestling since he was in elementary school, and together they make a great pair. The Manspeaker Duo will finish out Trevor's senior year together, and continue when younger son, Trace, joins the Penn Wrestling Program.

It's the best feeling." Davis finished fifth. David Stevens, 12, was head-to-head with his opponent from Lakeshore High School. Chase Osborn, 9, went in for a takedown to receive two points. Osborn was the only freshman to wrestle varsity.

MEET THE REAL KINGSMEN

Jacob Davis, 12

Devin Reagan, 12

Ben Varner, 12

These three seniors have been a part of the Penn wrestling program since the start. During their freshman year, they were courageous enough to join the Penn wrestling team, and continued out each season for four years, fighting many battles to stay in the starting line up--but mainly to stay on top.

TAKIN' 'EM DOWN

The JV Kingsmen wrestling team fought hard their entire season, coming out on top with the undefeated record of 18-0. The JV members are treated just as well as the varsity members. Each wrestler is expected to have the same amount of hard work, dedication, and loyalty to the sport. Many underclassmen were getting used to the customs of coach Brad Harper's intensive practices this year, and getting themselves prepared for the years ahead. Every week JV were expected to work hard in practice, and eventually get confident enough to challenge for a spot on the varsity team. The JV team had to prove to not only the coaches, but also themselves that they had the skills to receive a varsity spot. The Kingsmen finished off their season cheering on their varsity teammates who received a spot to State. Every member is continuing practicing both mentally and physically for next season.

Defining Intensity

The young Kingsmen hockey club had a very successful season when taking in account the upperclassmen to underclassmen ratio. The Kingsmen were able to use this season to develop many younger players to ensure themselves a very successful next season. They ended the preseason at the top of the conference, but when it came to playoffs they couldn't quite complete their championship goal. In the round robin state tournament the Kingsmen missed making it to the finals by two goals in a goal differential decider. All five seniors mutually stated that all teams better look out of this young Kingsmen goon squad, because big things are in their future.

GAME CHANGERS

This year, senior captains Ryan Eichorst, Zach Fadorsen, and Zach Hiss were the three that truly made the difference out on the ice every game. Eichorst quietly led the team's defensive force through his excellent example. Fadorsen defended the net all year with the league's second best goals against average. Head captain Hiss led the entire team by being the league's most dominant physical force and by constantly scoring clutch goals.

SNOWBALL

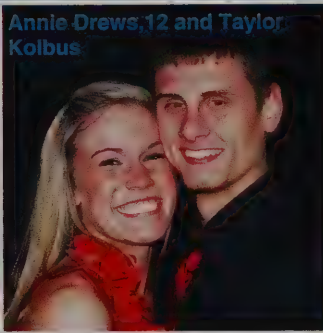

Tommy Grant and Jessie Kocsis, 11

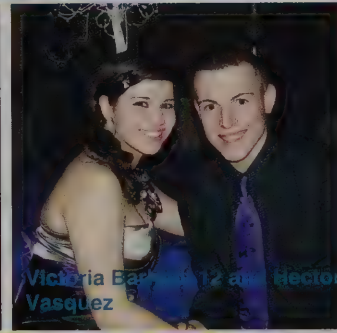

ONCE the month of December hit, the hallways at Penn were filled with non-stop talk about the mid-winter dance, Snowball. It is the one dance that all grades are allowed to attend and students can choose to go with a date, a group of friends, or fly it solo. Traditions of shopping for a dress or tie, getting hair and nails done and going out to dinner before the dance all remained the same. This year, however, there was a slight change in events with date and location. Instead of the dance taking place on a Saturday in the Penn Arena, it was held at Granger Community Church on a Sunday. Many students were a little thrown off with the idea of dancing in a church on a Sunday night; however, in the end they realized the new atmosphere made it worth it. With an attendance of over 1700 students there was much more room to move around and entrance and coat-check were handled more smoothly. A large screen that displayed students' tweets about the dance along with an awesome lighting and sound system all contributed to making the night even more memorable.

Penn's Got Talent

Danny Scott, 11, Tyler Pompey, 11, and Cody Owsianowski, 12, brought some swag to the talent show with their original song, "Swag Step." The trio fared well amongst the judges and ended up placing second.

Lynette Kennach, 10, performed a traditional Samoan hula dance with her cousin Jan Kennach, 12. The Kennach cousins' performance earned them a third place trophy.

Samantha Cripe, 12, sang Queen's "Somebody to Love." Cripe was accompanied by her mother, a music teacher, who played the piano.

Reagan Tapley, 9, had the crowd staring in awe as she wielded nunchucks and fought her way across the stage, to Eminem's song, "I'm Not Afraid."

Juniors Nikki Singleton, Daniel Filipski, Alex Ryker, and Alexander Horning played well as Singleton sang vocals for the song "Oh Darlin'" by The Beatles.

Taylor Davis, 12, and Kylie Bruetman, 10, acted out a great dramatic scene, "Speak Now." Their skit was about a girl up on a rooftop realizing she is about to marry the wrong guy, while the right guy, which was Bruetman, came up to comfort her.

Anna Burden, Stephen Lesure, and Kristen Hungerford performed Lady Antebellum's "Need You Now." Burden and Hungerford have performed together in previous talent shows; this year the duo added a male vocalist, Lesure.

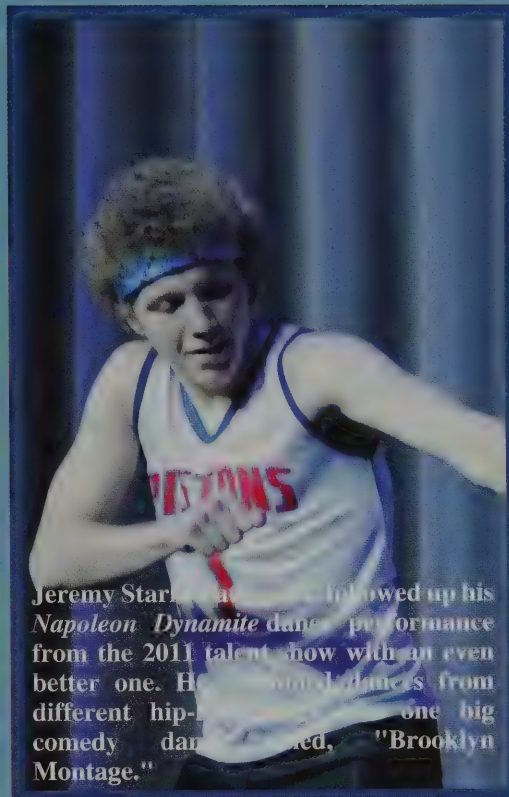

Seniors Breanna Kazmierczak and Holly Cowling, 12, sang a cover of The Dixie Chick's cover of Stevie Nick's 1975 song, "Landslide." Seniors Andrew Cary and McKenna Rice provided the instrumentals.

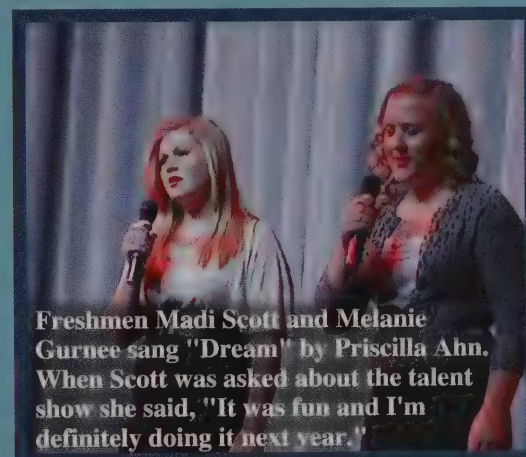

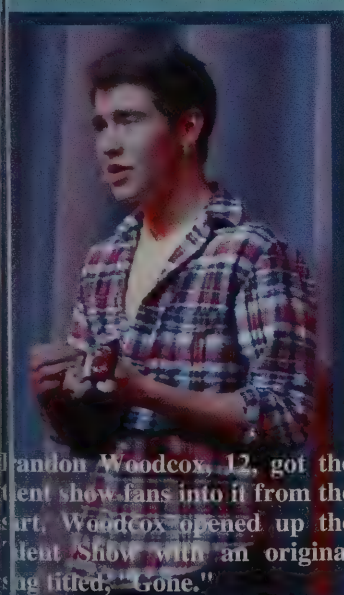

Ethan Hock, 12, was both this year's talent show's first place winner and people's choice. The crowd went crazy for Hock's singing and piano playing. Ethan performed a song he wrote himself titled "Stuck in my Head." Hock said, "It took me about one day to write my song and I was really nervous to perform in front of a crowd for the first time. I was shocked to have one both awards and it was a true blessing!"

Jeremy Starke followed up his Napoleon Dynamite dance performance from the 2011 talent show with an even better one. He combined dances from different hip-hop styles into one big comedy dance titled, "Brooklyn Montage."

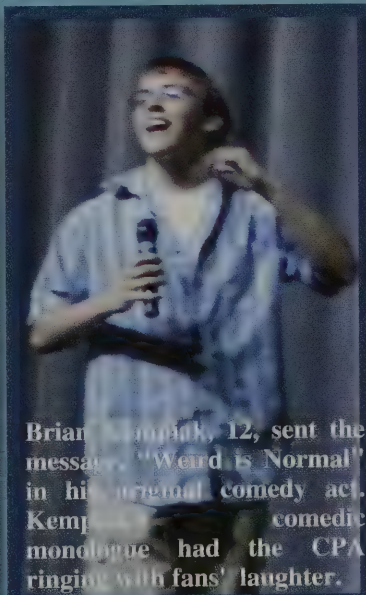

Freshmen Madi Scott and Melanie Gurnee sang "Dream" by Priscilla Ahn. When Scott was asked about the talent show she said, "It was fun and I'm definitely doing it next year."

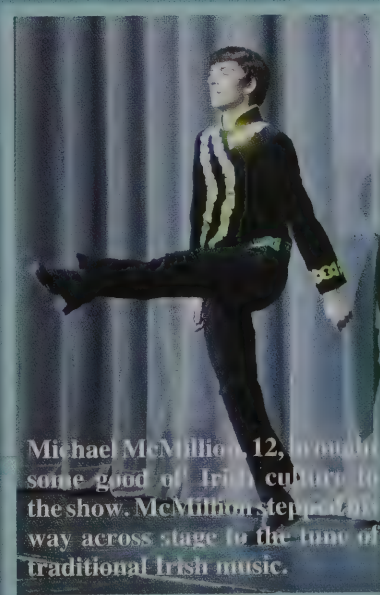

Brandon Woodcox, 12, got the talent show fans into it from the start. Woodcox opened up the talent show with an original act titled, "Gone."

Kevin Wang, 9, gave talent show viewers something to ooh and ahh about. Wang showed off his plethora of yoyo tricks, one of which is the famous "Walk the Dog" trick.

Brian Kemp, 12, sent the message, "Weird is Normal" in his original comedy act. Kemp's comedic monologue had the CPA ringing with fans' laughter.

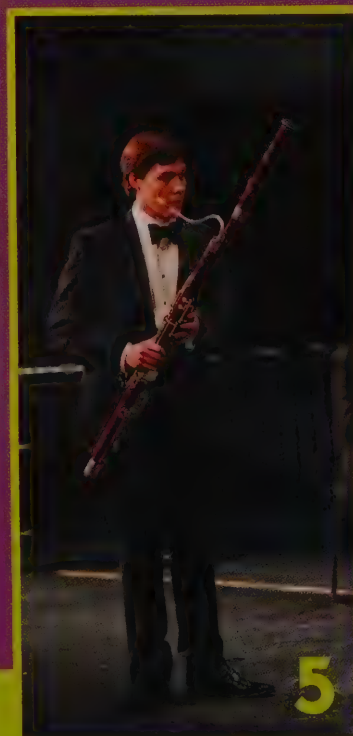

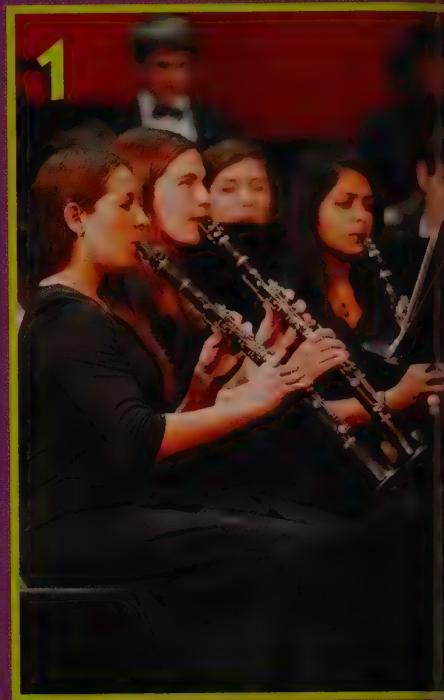

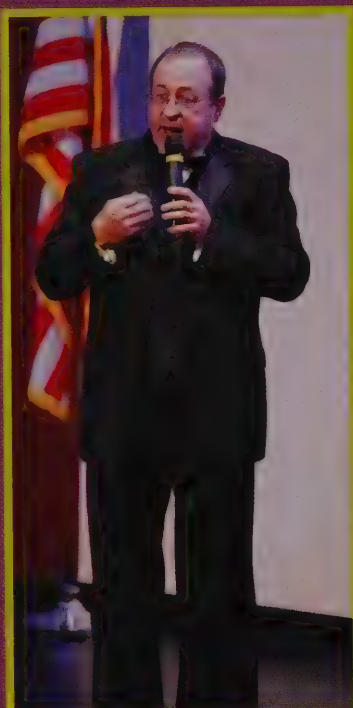

Michael McMillion, 12, brought some good ol' Irish culture to the show. McMillion stepped out way across stage to the tune of traditional Irish music.

Ski Club had many fun times riding the slopes at Swiss Valley in Jones, Michigan, about 40 minutes away. Friendships were made and so were memories. People enjoyed their time skiing or snowboarding, but when it came to relaxing, they all chilled by the fireplace or got food in the main dining room.

On snow days and two-hour delays, the swim team doesn't get to sleep in; they're already in the water. And that water is cold: sometimes, the water they drink is warmer than the water they swim in. But it pays off; swimmers practice early because they know their opponents are in the pool, too.

Bethany Galat, 10, won a state title in the 200 individual medley and was named NIC MVP. Coach Jess Preston was named NIC coach of the year for both girls' and boys' swimming. The girls won their 17th consecutive NIC title, and finished third at the state finals. Kingsmen swimmers filled the all-NIC teams.

Candia DeSchepper, 12, saxophone; Intermediate Jazz playing "Dixie"; Evan Benoit, 16, baritone saxophone

Brian Reider, Kiersten Dilts, Falcon Jefferson; Intermediate saxophones solo

The after school jazz ensemble is ideal for students who don't have room in their schedule for a jazz class but love playing.

Bill Leather, the jazz band teacher, introduced the band before their performance. A drummer himself, he directs with passion and precision.

THE two main characters in the musical were Kearn Hinchman, 12, as Captain Warrington, and Breanna Kazmierczak, 12, as Little Mary Sunshine.

EDIE Moon, 12, portrayed Mme. Ernestine Von Liebedich. Her song "Do You Ever Dream of Vienna?" made good use of her operatic, German voice.

JORDAN Whitaker, 12, was Chief Brown Bear, father of the criminal Yellow Feather.

JENSYNN Smith, 12, was Nancy Twinkle during her song Mata Hari. Nancy was the "naughty" character who flirted with all the boys and made mischief.

GEN. Oscar Fairfax (Tyler Yarbrough, 11) gave out trinkets to the finishing school girls during his song "Say Uncle." When he found out that they were all engaged, he took the trinkets back.

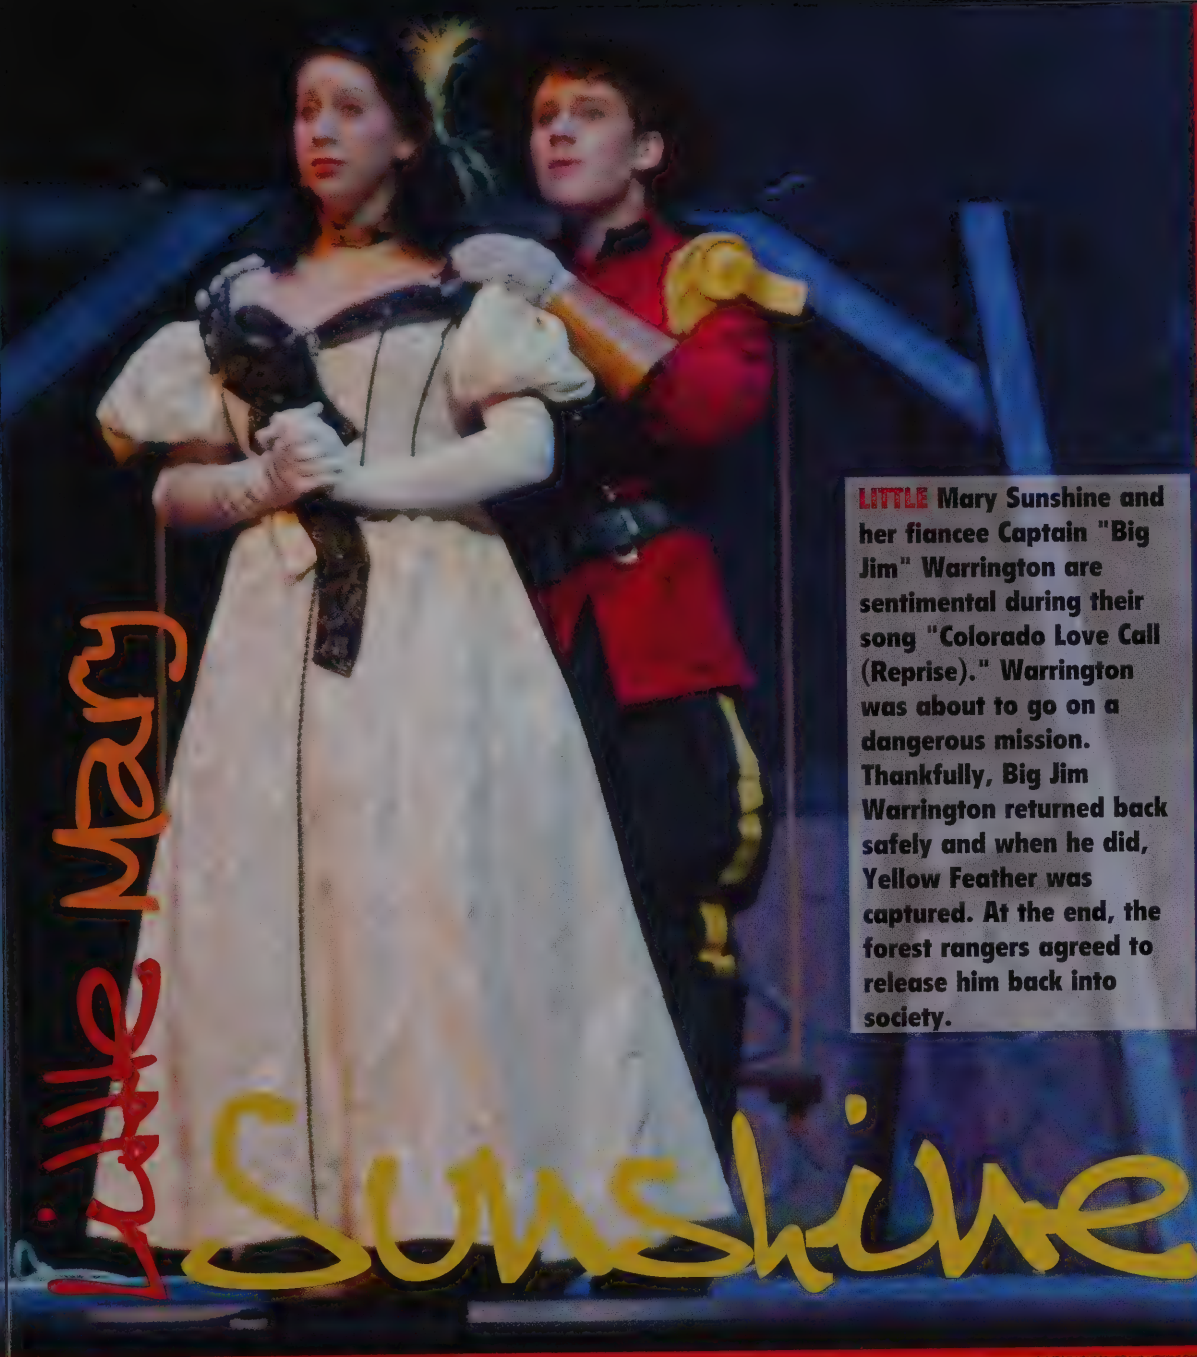

NANCY Twinkle (Jensynn Smith, 12) and Billy Jester (Evan McSorley, 12) on the Primrose Path during their song "Once in a Blue Moon." Their dance included an "aerial," or a swing dance step where the woman's feet leave the ground.

LITTLE Mary Sunshine was surrounded by the Young Gentlemen of the United States Forest Rangers during their song "Little Mary Sunshine." Their beautiful singing brought the audience to its feet on several occasions.

BILLY Jester (McSorley), Josh Nunley, 12, as Yellow Feather, and Nancy Twinkle (Smith) were all dressed up as the same person! This scene provided comic relief in the forms of mistaken identity, pantomime, and a rapid-fire hand jive.

Little Mary

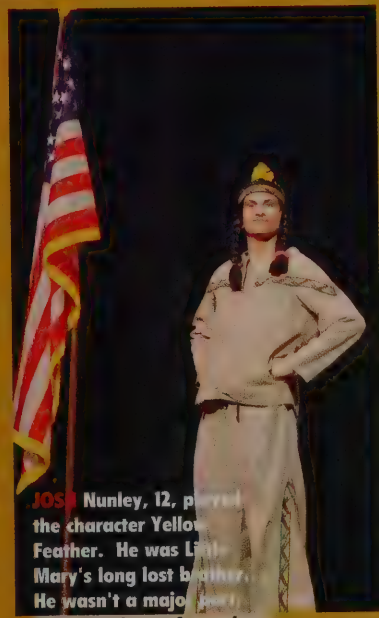

Sunshine

LITTLE Mary Sunshine and her fiancée Captain "Big Jim" Warrington are sentimental during their song "Colorado Love Call (Reprise)." Warrington was about to go on a dangerous mission. Thankfully, Big Jim Warrington returned back safely and when he did, Yellow Feather was captured. At the end, the forest rangers agreed to release him back into society.

NANCY Twinkle jumped into the arms of three forest rangers during the song "Such a Merry Party." It was the first song of the second act.

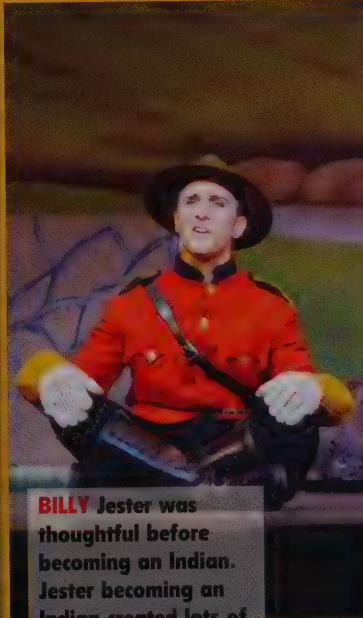

BIG Jim Warrington proposed to Little Mary Sunshine outside her inn. Jim was in love with Little Mary and wanted to be with her forever.

JOSH Nunley, 12, played the character Yellow Feather. He was Little Mary's long lost brother. He wasn't a major part, but when he performed on stage he really made the crowd laugh!

BILLY Jester as the new Yellow Feather, about to give his new "father" gifts: A Park Ranger's Handbook, a necktie, and a pocketknife.

BILLY Jester was thoughtful before becoming an Indian. Jester becoming an Indian created lots of laughs throughout the audience.

LITTLE Mary introduced the excellent Indian guide for Jim's mission: Fleet Foot (Dominic Dallich, 12). Dallich was hilarious as he played the old Indian.

ROBOTICS

REBOUND RUMBLE

"Being the driver last year gave me experience along with confidence in competing in this years competition."

TYLER SHULAW

Penn FIRST Robotics Team competed in the Purdue Regional and the Milwaukee Regional during the 2011-2012 season. The team consisted of 27 students, all juniors and seniors. The type of game strategy for their competition involved basketball. Their objective was to create a robot within six weeks that could shoot a foam basketball into four hoops. The hoops ranged from different heights. The Penn FIRST Robotics Team successfully built a robot that shot foam basketballs in order to score points for their Alliance. In the Purdue Regional they placed sixth out of 40 teams around America. In the Milwaukee Regional they placed 19th out of 48 teams. Some teams came from other countries to compete in the Milwaukee Regional.

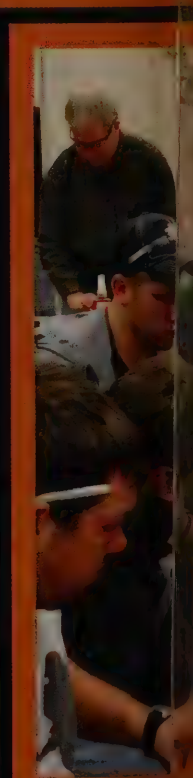

Penn FIRST Robotics Team stood outside of the Milwaukee Regional for a photo after they placed 19th out of 48 teams.

GRANT SPIRITOSO, 12, ALEX SCHOLTES, 12, and AARON HUNTER, 12, worked on the shooter design for the robot with their mentor, Tom Evans.

STEPHEN KRAMER 11, and SAM ROSE 11, were on the animation team where they needed to create an animation video on Safety in Robotics.

CHRIS NELSON, 12, TYLER SHULAW, 12, ANDREW WHITEMAN, 11, and mentor Bill Whiteman were the drive team at the competitions. Team 135, the Black Knight, was taught by Jim Langeltdt.

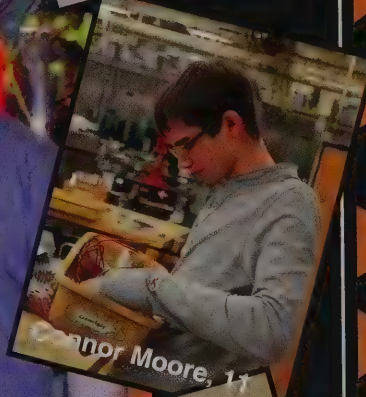

Together for six weeks straight...

"I've gone to the competitions since I was about three years old. Finally being a part of the team is like a dream come true." ANDREW WHITEMAN, 11

"After countless hours and four camera mounts later we ended up with something that finally worked." FRANK LOCKWITZ, 11

"I like to weld in a Dress." GUS CZUKKERMANN, 12

"Coding consists of 25% frustration, 25% ice cream and 50% caffeine." BRIAN KEMPA, 11

ETHAN HOCK, 12, GRANT SPIRITOSO, 12, CHRIS NELSON, 12, and BRIAN KEMPA, 11, all helped assemble the three robotic manipulators.

The software/ controls team consisted of CHRIS NELSON, 12, BRIAN KEMPA, 11, and CHRIS BRACH, 11.

ANDREW FAN, 12, and GRANT SPIRITOSO, 12, helped their mentor Tom Evans attach the shooter to the frame.

MICHAEL BRONSING 12, and DAVID SWIHART 12 worked on the Lathe to create a part for the collection team.

February

Ashley Jones, 12, and Emily Gries, 12; Haley Meekhof, 11; Kaitlyn Reeves, 12; Rachel Medow, 11; Joey Weller, 12; and Jake Miller, 1.

Big Brothers, Big Sisters

Big Brothers Big Sisters works with Elm Road, Elsie Rogers, and Bittersweet Elementary Schools. Penn students visit once a week during block one. Haley Meekhof, 11, said that she has noticed a big difference throughout the school year. She also said, "BBBS has been really rewarding because I know that I am helping two little girls who need a mentor in their lives, someone that they can look up to." Joey Weller, 12, said that BBBS is a very rewarding program. He also commented that he and his "little" have grown very close and that he now sees him as a little brother and would do anything for him.

National Signing Day

ON FEBRUARY 1, seniors across the nation signed the National Letter of Intent to continue their athletic careers at the collegiate level. Around 20 athletes from Penn High School participated in the event. Athletes planned on competing at different levels of play, whether Division I, II, III or NAIA. JEN SEARS, 12, planned on attending Marian University in Indianapolis to continue her softball career. Sears says, "I am very excited about what the future has to offer, and am looking forward to meeting my new teammates at Marian. Getting to take part in signing day with other athletes at Penn was a great experience."

For Your ENTERTAINMENT

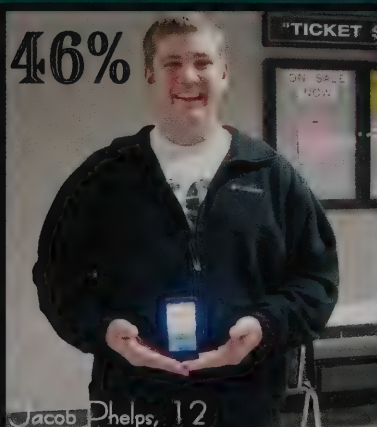

Virtual Reality Is Its Own Reward.

Apple vs. Android

Moehn, 12

Phelps, 12

The big decision, Apple or Android. Which one would you choose? A survey taken throughout the school shows that most students prefer to have the Apple product. However, the poll was very close, and only had an 8 percent difference. The reason Apple won? Most people said they liked the apps available for Apple better than Android.

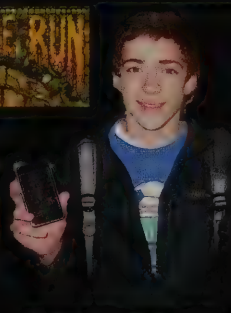

Internet Anyone?

Students these days are very "plugged in." They are always on some sort of electronic, or at least try to be. Many students, such as Damien Brewer, 10, like to bring in their laptops to be able to work on papers, or even relax and play a game or two.

Media is everywhere. It influences the ways in which we think and act. Students are always tuned into the latest TV shows, movies, video games, and more. But what was in one day could very well be out the next. Media is always changing, and students are becoming more and more plugged into the entertainment of things. With devices such as smart phones, it's so much easier to know things like what your friends are doing and when, and who scored the highest in the latest video game. Whether you think technology is a bad or good thing, one thing for sure, students today feel the need to be in sync with the latest and greatest forms of media.

App Attack!

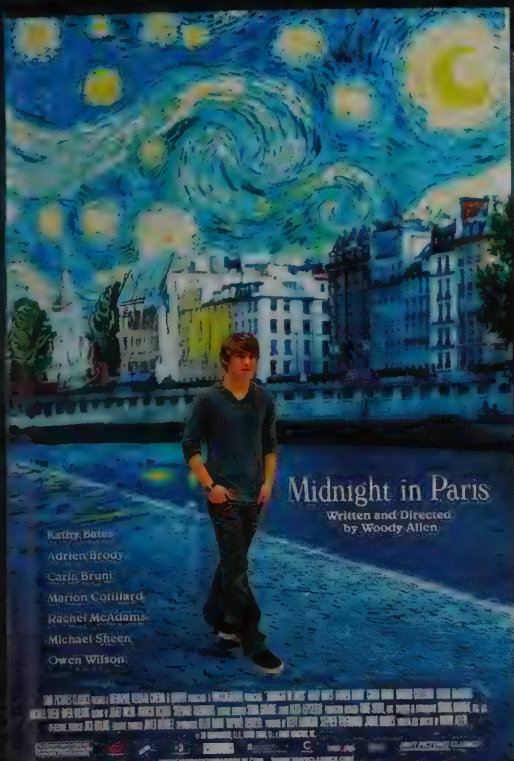

Aaron Weaver, 10

Hayley Derby, 10

Students are always playing apps on their iPods or iPhones during school. Everyone has their favorite to play. Hayley Derby, 10, loves Twitter and said, "What I think in my head gets transported via Twitter, and it's kinda #beautiful."

Michelle Kaczmar, 10

Bases Loaded With Talent

The 2012 season was a roller coaster ride for the Kingsmen. After dominating state powers Laporte and Andean in their first two games and climbing as high as third in the state rankings, the Kingsmen dropped a few games in the middle of the season and missed the NIC title by just one win. Although the end to the season marked the end of an era of dominance for the Kingsmen in the NIC, they coasted through sectionals and fought all the way to the regional championship where they suffered a heartbreaking loss to the eventual state champions, top ranked Lake Central. One of the major keys to success this year was the Kingsmen starting pitching staff. Between Chad Whitmer, 11, Tyler Thompson, 12, Landon Stratford, 11, and Cameron Glaze, 11, the Kingsmen had one of the strongest rotations in the state. Chad Whitmer finished the season with an untouchable ERA under 2.00 and earned the Kingsmen Top Era award. Tyler Thompson, senior, was not far behind in his pitching success.

Seven Kingsmen received All-Conference honors. Steven Smallwood, David Spalding, Chad Whitmer and Landon Stratford earned honorable mention, and Alex Hostetler, Tyler Thompson, and Jordan Gosztola were honored with 2nd team all-conference awards. The team ended with an 11-5 record.

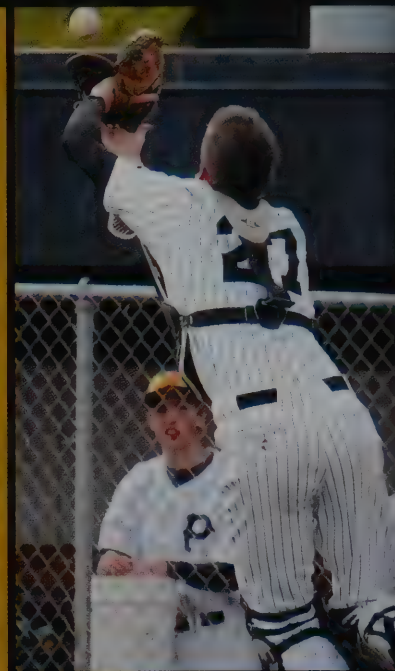

Senior Leaders

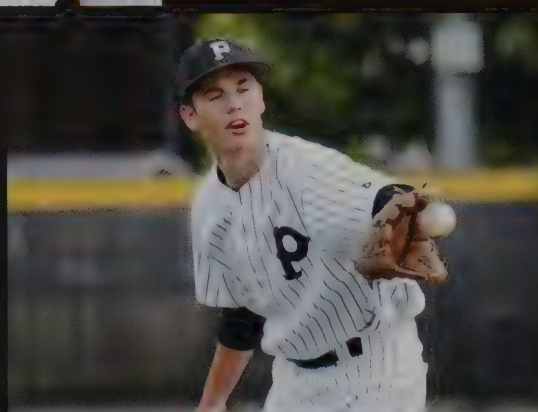

David Spalding was honored as the team captain in 2012, but every senior played tremendous roles in the team's leadership and success. Kyle Richard spent the first half of the season recovering from a knee injury he received in football. There was no doubt that the Kingsmen were flat in his absence. Once Richard returned, the Kingsmen rode his intensity and leadership throughout their state run. Caleb Birkey was well known throughout the Penn baseball program as the hardest worker, and his enthusiasm and love for the game rubbed off on his teammates and contributed to their success as a team.

Anthony Piraccini, 10

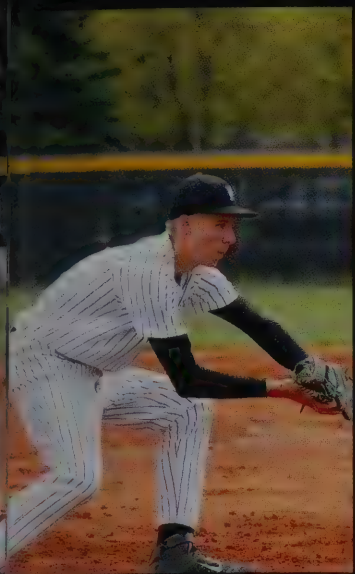

3 Strikes, You're Out

Cole Harlacher, 10

Strong pitching and good defense was the cornerstone of this amazing junior varsity baseball team. Throughout the season the boys continued to get better at the plate and driving the ball in the gaps and playing a lot of small ball with their bunting abilities. The junior varsity team had a 23-1 season this past year and growth was seen from every player.

Expect the Unexpected

THE PENN LADY KINGMAN SOFTBALL TEAM went through a rebuilding year, and ended with a record of 15-13. Led by six seniors, the Kingmans overcame adversity and played with passion. Even though the season did not end in championships, the players leave through experience. SENIOR ALEX TASHIJIAN said, "Even though this season did not end with a state championship, I would not trade my teammates for anyone in the world." MADDIE SMITH, 12, said, "This season has taught me so much. I learned not to take the game for granted. I believe that this season will make us better people in the long run."

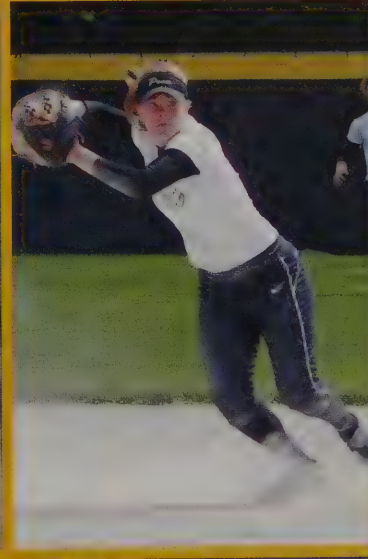

SOPHOMORE, Claryce Gedde, threw the ball to second base on an attempted steal. Gedde had a strong arm, and threw the run out. THE TEAM gathered around Coach Zachary and Coach Williams after a huge win against cross-town rival Mishawaka in sectional play. They had lost to Mishawaka in conference play a few weeks prior, and came out with vengeance. The Kingmans won, 6-3, scoring five runs in the sixth inning to secure their win. LEXI BALL, 10, dove and made the play at second base during the sectional game against Mishawaka. Ball was very consistent at second base, and often made diving plays. SYDNEY TOMLINSON looked to catcher Maddie Smith while she called out the next pitch. Against Mishawaka, Tomlinson hit a two-run double to tie the game, 3-3 in the sixth inning. SOPHOMORE Mackenzie Joeche pitched a curve ball in the game against Mishawaka. Joeche is a second year starter, spending time on the mound and as the team all-conference designated hitter.

3 Year Letter Winners

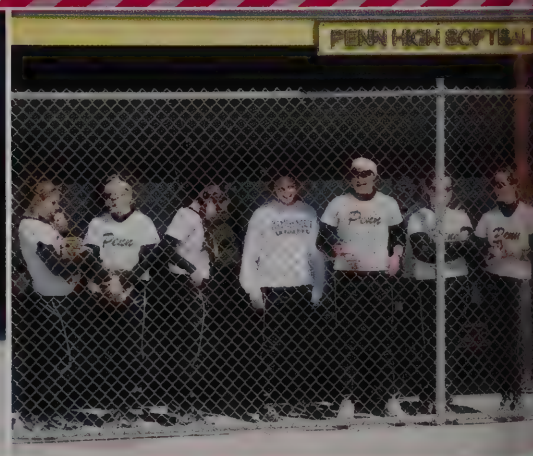

SENIORS Alex Tashjian, Maddie Smith, Katie Green, and Jen Sears were on the varsity softball roster for three years. Each player specialized in their own area of the field. TASHIJAN pitched a screw ball in the sectional championship game against Riley. She was an ace on the mound for the Kingsmen, and had varsity appearances all four years. During Tashjian's senior year she suffered from a benign brain tumor that required surgery. She powered back through the pain and returned five weeks after the surgery. Tashjian was selected to the Honorable Mention All-Conference Team. MADDIE SMITH looked at Coach Beth Zachary for the pitching sign. Smith spent her time behind the plate or at first base. Smith was Second Team All-Conference, Academic All-State Honorable Mention, Varsity MVP, and Third Team All-State. Smith continued her softball career at Judson University in Elgin, Illinois. KATIE GREEN took a look towards the mound in the game against Lafayette Jefferson. Green played center field, and was known for her outstanding diving catches and strong leadership. JEN SEARS turned a double play in the game against South Bend Clay. Sears easily transitioned from the outfield to shortstop. Sears received Academic All-State Honorable Mention. She continued her softball career at Marian University in Indianapolis.

SWINGING FOR SUCCESS

THE JUNIOR VARSITY SOFTBALL TEAM has quite the experience with Penn Softball. Having 2 freshmen and only two sophomores they were an extremely young team. The girls had been working out with Peakfast trainers since June 2011. They all got a good taste of the work ethic Penn Softball players had to have. FRESHMAN Lexi Wanbaugh said, "Getting up early was tough, but the friendships I have made and the fun I had with my team made it all worth it."

FRESHMAN Brianna Sherman fielded the ball at third base and threw it to first to get the out in the game against Clay. KYLIE CAMPBELL, 9, hit a line drive to score a run in the game against Riley. Kylie went into the season as a catcher and was later created into an outfielder. THE JUNIOR VARSITY team prepared themselves in the dugout before a game against New Prairie, at the 5th annual Spring Break tournament. The tournament gave them the opportunity to play on the varsity field. FRESHMEN, Dri Tashijan and Bri Sherman, stood with coaches Ashley Carrico, a former Penn player, and head coach Dave Barncord. Before every game the coaches selected two different players to join them at the plate for a meeting with the umpires and exchanging of line-ups with the other teams' coaches and captains.

FRESHMAN Leah Simon fielded the ball at shortstop and and threw it to first base to get the out in the rivalry game against Mishawaka. LEXI WANBAUGH, 9, waited for the ball at first base in the game against South Bend Saint Joseph. Wanbaugh showed off a cut she received after getting hit in the head with a foul ball at the game against Elkhart Memorial a few days before. OUTFIELDERS Kassie Moyer, Bailey Clark, Kylie Campbell, and Melissa Wilson smiled while watching the varsity game against Riley. All four were freshmen and were not true outfielders when they entered the program. Each player worked hard to earn a starting spot in the outfield. FRESHMAN Dri Tashijan safely slid into home in the game against New Prairie. Tashijan was the lead off batter in the line up.

Working Overtime

SEVERAL JUNIOR VARSITY players were given varsity uniforms at the beginning of the season. The players got the chance to come up for a few games during regular season, and the state tournament at the end of the season. These girls never got a day off; if junior varsity did not have practice they were at varsity's and vice versa. FRESHMAN Olivia Bachteal was a catcher and got the opportunity to catch and hit in a varsity game. FRESHMAN Leah Simon got to hit and play some shortstop for the Lady Kingsmen. FRESHMAN Dri Tashijan played a little bit of second base and got to run bases as a courtesy runner for the pitcher and catcher. SOPHOMORE Courtney Pepper was a relief pitcher for the Kingsmen. Pepper was given the opportunity to start two games, and won both of them.

INTRAMURALS

Once a year, the fitness center fills with testosterone, competition and talent: March Madness? Forget about it, iBall, the intramural basketball club, brings a certain spark to the otherwise dull months of February and March before spring break. Teams battle week after week, knocking out their competition during playoffs. Regardless of athletic ability, a little friendly competition never hurt anyone--especially when the glory of becoming iBall champion is at stake.

Ethan Hock, 12
Sonoluminescence

Most people do not know where the band name, Sonoluminescence, came from, or why the band chose it to represent them. Hock's explanation was, "Sonoluminescence is when sound waves traveling through a liquid produce light. It was our goal and purpose to sing about Jesus and the truth and life that can be found in him... to be a light in the darkness that would guide people to a better understanding of who Jesus is."

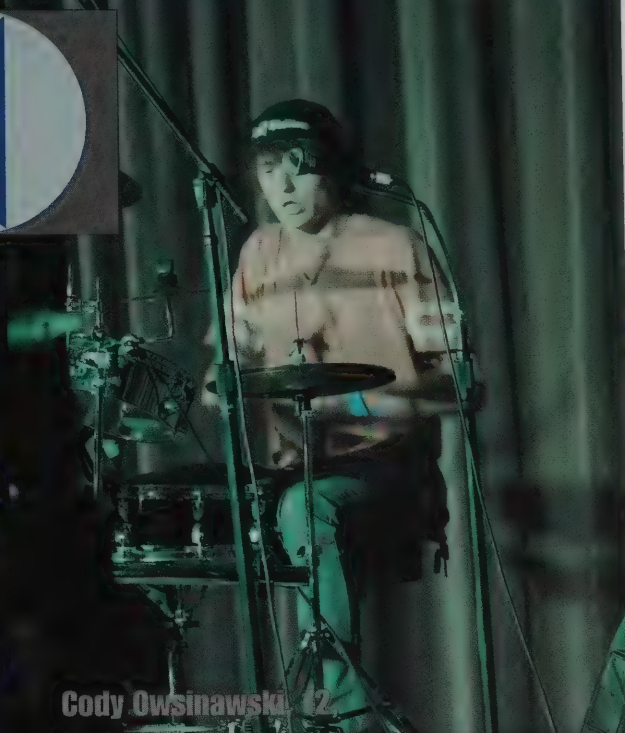

Play Like A

The Battle of the Bands was a huge success. There was so much talent presented, and the changes made from 2011's show turned out to be for the best. One of the changes made from last year was the number of bands set to perform. This year there were only five bands, Flesh Feast, Half Fiction, Treading On Thin Ice, Miss Davidson, and Sonoluminescence. There was some controversy between the bands, however, when it was decided that Levi Paul, 12, and Riley Robbins, graduate, would be able to perform in two separate bands. To this Paul says, "What happens, happens." There were also some last minute sound problems for Sonoluminescence, but they did not let that bring them down at all, because they became the champions of the Battle this year. When asked what they did with the prize money they won, the band replied, "We bought a ukulele and gave the rest away, because winning wasn't about the prize for us." There were many different types of music performed this year, ranging from Christian to more heavy metal, but overall the Battle turned out to be a great time for everyone. One of the audience members, Nicole Krasean, said this about the Battle, "I loved being able to show my support of all the bands in it, and being able to just be in the audience and listen to all the good talent was a really fun time to spend with my friends."

ROCKSTAR

Hather Gordon, 12

The MCs of the night surely did live up to the audience's expectations. They led the show in a direction that did not fail. The night kept its excitement and great energy with some thanks to the wonderful MCs.

Mark Richards, 12, Levi Paul, 12

Miss Davidson

Miss Davidson made their performance special by the use of black light. They also incorporated beach balls, and got the audience involved. The crowd really seemed to enjoy being able to have some added fun.

Cody Owsinawski, 12

Half Fiction

"My favorite part of Battle of the Bands was feeling the energy off of the crowd. Why? It fuels my life." Everything went smoothly for Half Fiction. They really knew how to get the crowd moving, but what band wouldn't when their name was inspired by the fantasy lifestyle of a rockstar?

Matt Hollowell, 12, Sonoluminescence

One of the things that really made this band stand out was its more inspirational approach. They brought to the battle some conservative Christian music. Hollowell said, "My favorite part of the Battle was preaching and talking to people about Jesus." He also said that if they do it again next year they would be less conservative and have more "worship/Christian" music.

Treading On Thin Ice

This band had an original aspect on their side. Clayton Quantz, 12, was able to play the keytar during their performance. This was something that many people enjoyed because they were the only band to bring out the instrument. It really made them stand out in a good way.

Half Fiction

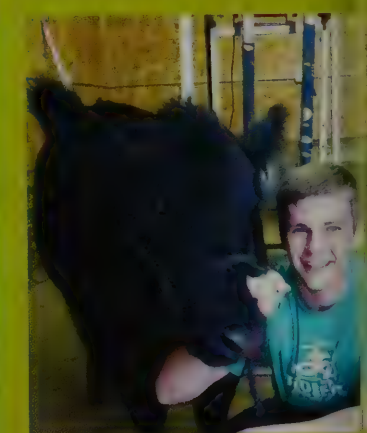

The audience really seemed to love Half Fiction. And the band enjoyed the audience just as much. The reason they love to perform is because the audience reacts really well to their sound.

Harry Gilbride, 11, Flesh Feast

Flesh Feast was the first band to perform at Battle of the Bands, and they kicked it off to a great start. The audience really enjoyed their unique metal sound. Gilbride says, "We wanted to just have fun and have a really different sound than the other bands. We wanted a more hardcore metal vibe."

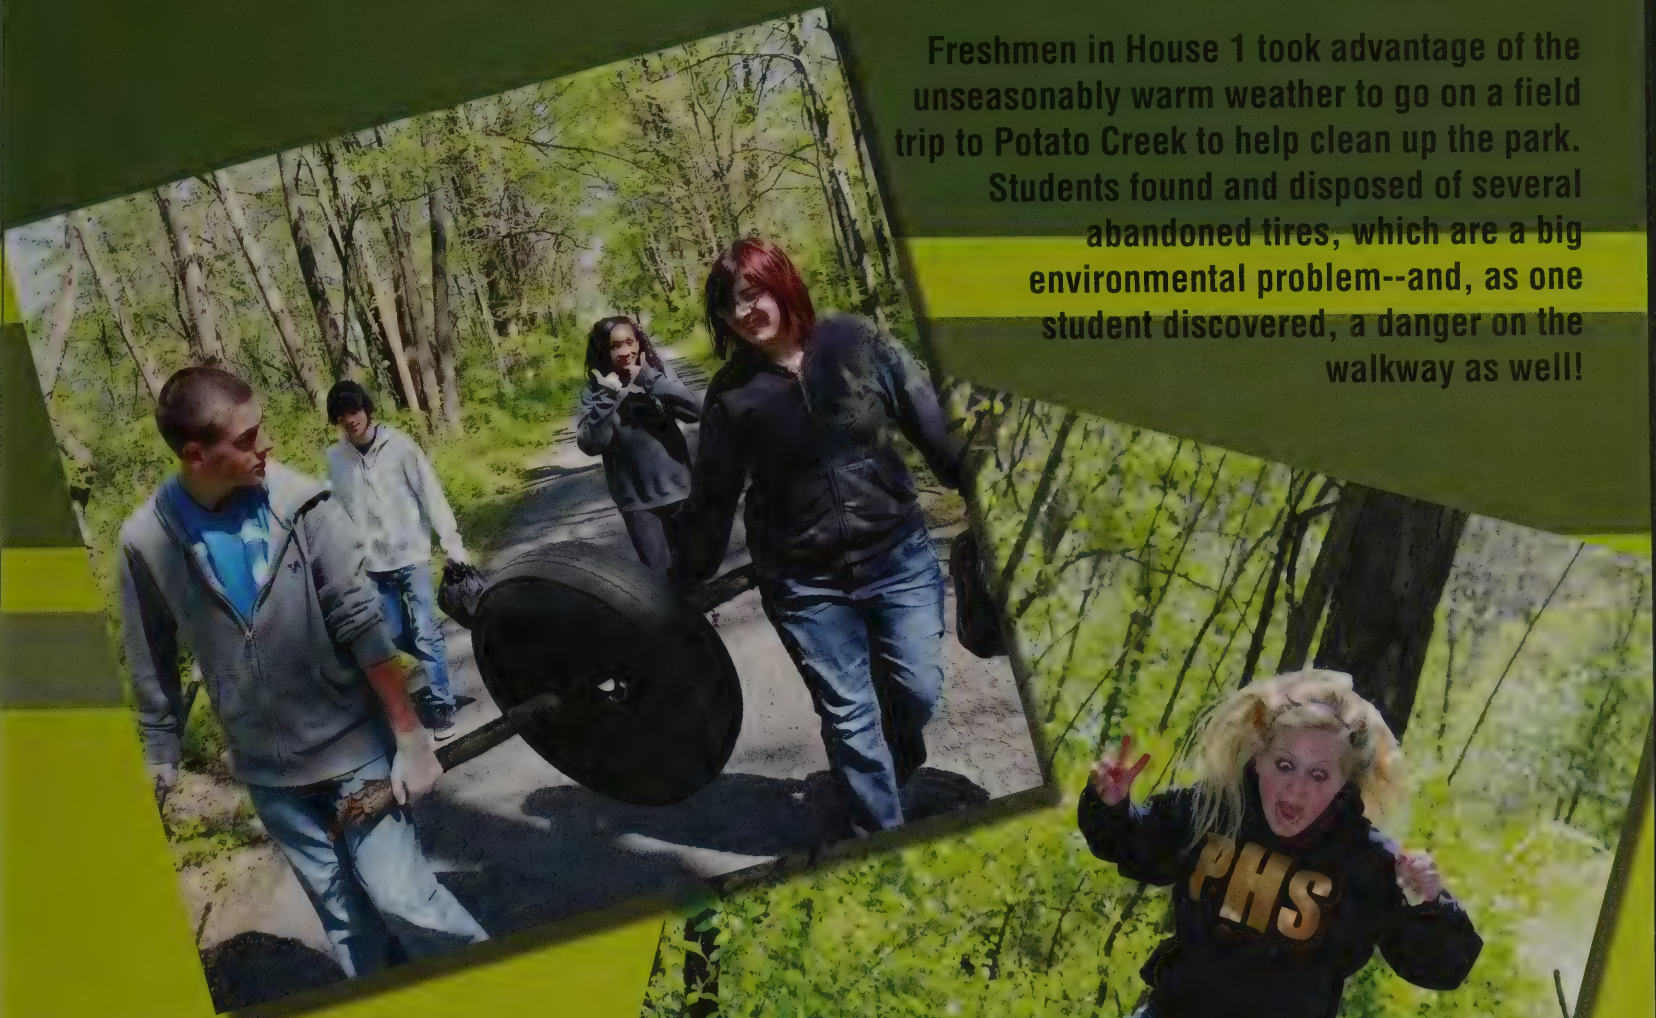

March

Penn sponsors an active Future Farmers of America chapter, which competes throughout the year in various events, such as livestock showing and judging, winning recognition and scholarship money. For Halloween, FFA members went trick or treating for canned goods for the Northern Indiana Food Bank. In Indianapolis at the FFA Expo, Ben Lenig and Tyler Parmelee meet the famous bull rider Ty Murray. "If it wasn't for farmers," Lenig said, "we'd be naked and hungry."

Freshmen in House 1 took advantage of the unseasonably warm weather to go on a field trip to Potato Creek to help clean up the park. Students found and disposed of several abandoned tires, which are a big environmental problem--and, as one student discovered, a danger on the walkway as well!

Spring fever hit students hard after a warm winter, and students either fraughtened up or slacked off when it came to midterms. Junior Kimi Luttrell kept her eye on the ball studying for math while junior Seth Rassi, well, he took a different approach. Karen Gallo's Study Hall kept focused finishing up homework assignments and miscellaneous work. Andrew Wright, 10 studied for his Spanish II test. He remarked that the class was challenging but useful." SOPHOMORES Kyle Kreiger and Adam Mwaniki already began studying for their AP Human Geo exam in late March, hoping to score a 5 in May.

Peer Leaders

Peer Leaders is an elective course that is available at Penn. The students learn the lifeskills of patience and compassion, as well as learning how to help others. Leaders assist students in every day classes, from creating projects in sculpture to activities in gym class. Not only do the peer leaders get the opportunity to assist with classes, but they also get to participate in dances and classroom parties with the students. This course is an extremely rewarding experience and a great way to make lifelong friends.

"I've been a part of peer leader for three years now and the kids have really left a big impact on me. I have especially enjoyed forming a close bond with Tyran."

- Karagan Redman

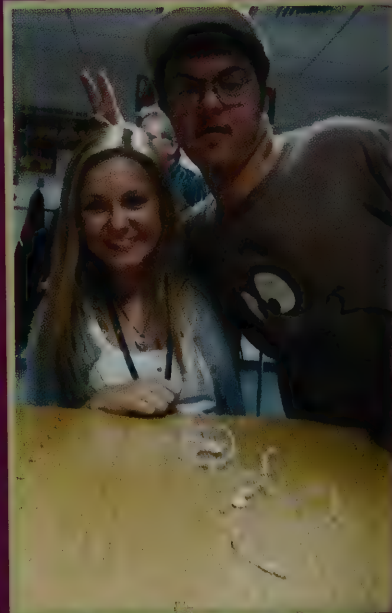

"Peer leader has been a rewarding experience for me. I feel as though I can relate because my sister had Downs syndrome and I really love working with the kids."

- Dalton Lineback

Steven Smallwood, 11, and Jordan Hueni, 12, made faces at the camera while having fun at the University Park Mall. The leaders helped the students pick out Christmas gifts for their families and friends. Back at Penn, both the leaders and students then helped each other wrap their presents.

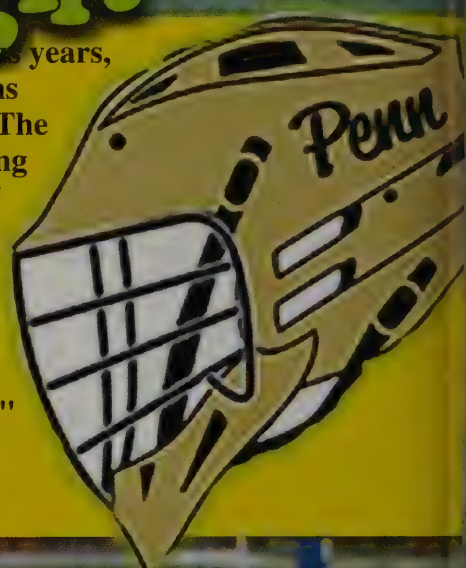

Peer leaders and students attended an annual Halloween dance that was held at Penn. There was food, music, dancing, prizes, and costume contests. Students and their parents were invited from other schools in the area to join the festivities. Not only did the students dress up in a variety of different costumes, but the peer leaders did as well.

One Team. One Fight

This season was the Penn boys' lacrosse team's first year as a program. In previous years, boys played with the St. Joseph lacrosse team. The Kingsmen were led by captains Matt Williams, 12, Brandon Wolf, 10, Austin Baker, 11, and Ryan Parmater, 12. The Kingsmen had high hopes for their first season as a team and even a goal of making it to state playoffs, but they fell short of that goal by losing their last two games of the season to Laporte and Culver Academy. Despite having a 6-9 record the Kingsmen were invited to the consolation tournament. Sophomore transfer student Jacob Lamb said, "We had a rough first season but we are a very young team and have lots of potential for next year." The Kingsmen will have six returning starters next year and of those six four are sophomores. Junior captain Austin Baker said, "This year was really fun, but I'm really excited for next year." Richard Kruszewski, 12, said his favorite memory of the season was beating Heritage Christian in overtime 9-8 to give Penn Lacrosse their first win in club history.

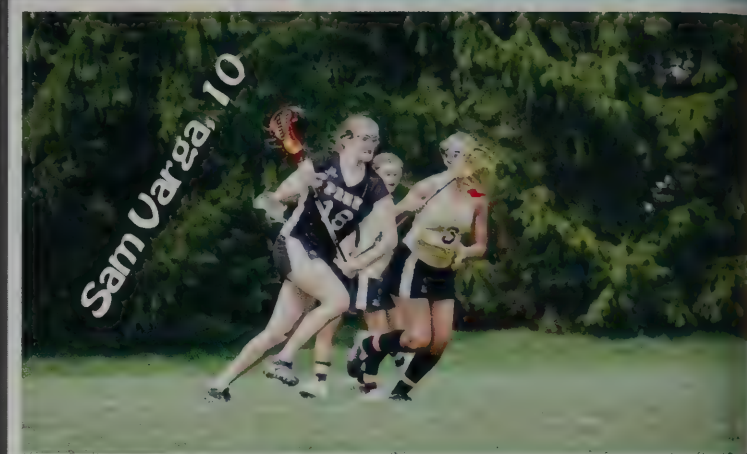

Captains

Captains Ryan Parmater, Austin Baker, and Brandon Wolfe were selected as the captains for the first year of this program. With a heavy burden on their shoulders, they all pulled together and organized a great first year program at Penn. The two returning captains will lead this program into one of the best in the state.

Grant Spiritoso, 12, had a great performance in sectionals with a score of 74 strokes to give the Kingsmen a big win and a boost into regionals. Austin Brooks, 12, started the eleventh hole at their tournament in LaPorte. Brooks decided to continue his golf career beyond high school and into colleges; he chose to be a member of the Purdue North Central golf team. Senior Austin Patterson made great contributions to the team throughout the year.

The weather, especially for the Kaeppler Memorial Tournament, was of no factor; it was barely 50 degrees in late April, and sectionals in June were cold and soggy. Adaptability was key. "Our biggest strength is consistency and depth," coach Andrew Pola told the South Bend Tribune, citing a strong effort from No. 3 player Richard Jung in sectionals. Pola was co-NIC coach of the year. Spiritoso was co-MVP, with Schwartz and Caelen Rohan joining him on first team. Jung was on second team, and Tommy Butler received honorable mention.

Junior J.T. Schwartz marked down scores in a duel match at Knollwood Country Club. Tommy Butler, also a junior, watched after striping a shot on the par three 2nd hole at Knollwood. Sophomore Richard Jung roped a drive in the match against Lake Central. The Penn boys' golf team won the Northern Indiana Conference and traveled down to the state tournament in early June. They were the second team in school history to make it to the second round of the State Finals. The team put up a good showing of 312 strokes and 321 strokes to total 633 and achieved ninth place overall.

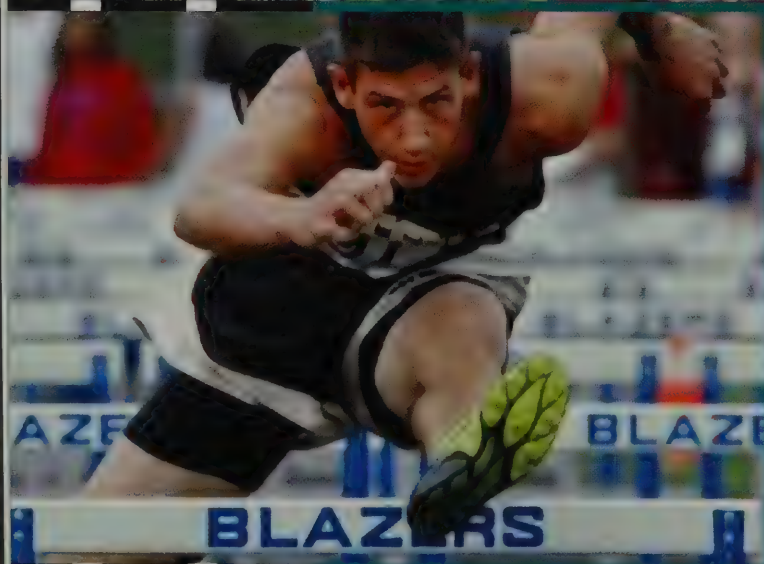

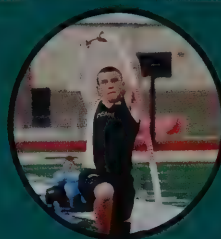

Game Changers

Senior Grant Spiritoso was the leader of the Penn Kingsmen this year. His presence on and off the course led Penn to a great year. Junior J.T. Schwartz also helped out the team with consistent scores. Caelen Rohan helped out with solid scores in many key matches, and was a reliable player for the Kingsmen.

PUTTING ON A SHOW

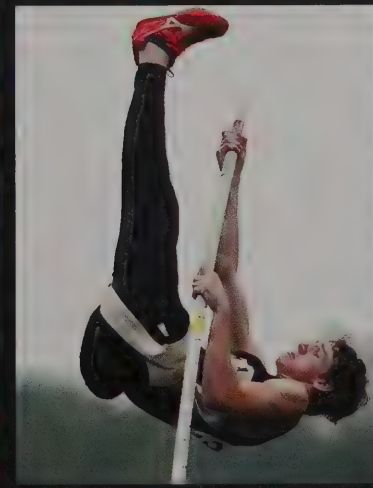

COACH Brad Robertson talked with the discus and shot put boys, trying to pump them up before a big meet against Washington. Robertson told the South Bend Tribune, "I can say it now, this is the best team I've ever coached. What a bunch of fighters." SOPHOMORE Tim Deal powered through hurdles ahead of his Clay opponent. Deal competed in hurdles and qualified to compete at State but instead decided to dedicate himself to the 4x1 and 4x4, events in which he and his teammates went on to win a state championship in the 4x1 and place 5th in the 4x4. JUNIOR Sam Daggy threw all his strength into hurling his discus. SENIOR Collin Huff extends a straight leg in impeccable form for his 110 meter hurdling event at the NIC meet hosted at Elkhart Central High School.

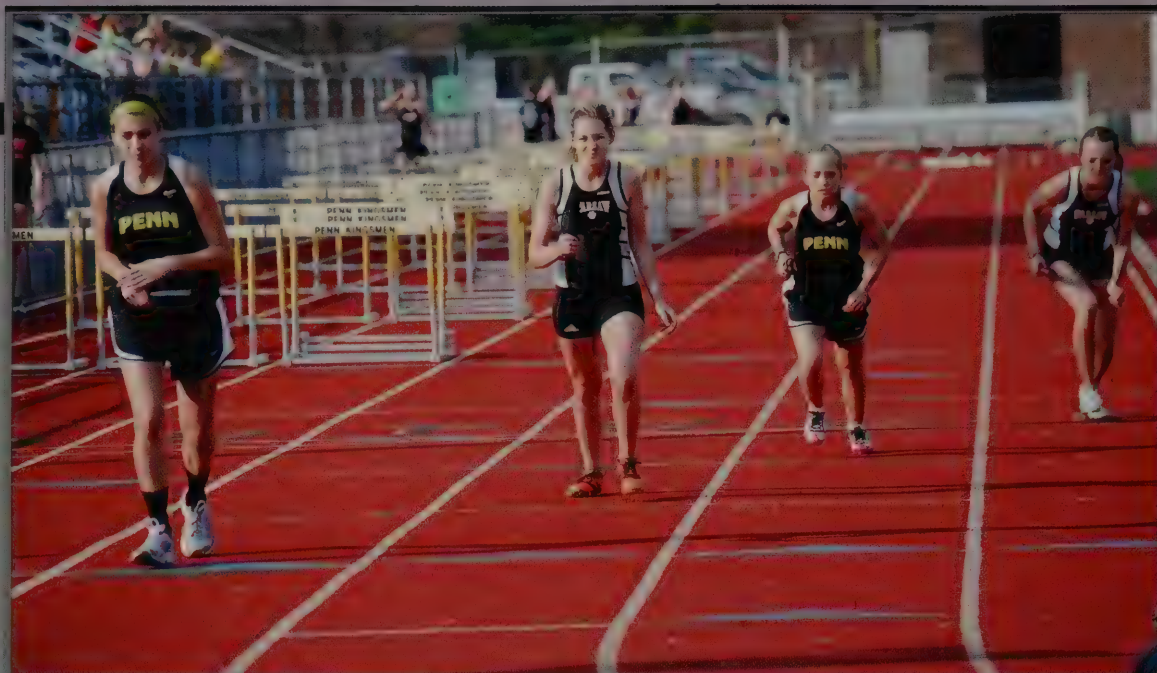

SENIOR Joey Weller strived for length as he propelled through the air in the long jump. SENIOR Ben Varner paced himself for the race ahead, challenging his best time in long distance. UNITED as a team but running as individuals, varsity record-breaking 4x1 runners Conner Sowders, Tim Deal, Wilson Wambugu and Tommy Grant caught their breath after a big meet against the Washington Panthers in which they broke the school record. SENIOR Sean Domal passed the baton to fellow Kingsman and senior Wilson Wambugu in the 4x1, going on to beat their opponents from St. Joseph's.

KINGSMEN BOYS' TRACK

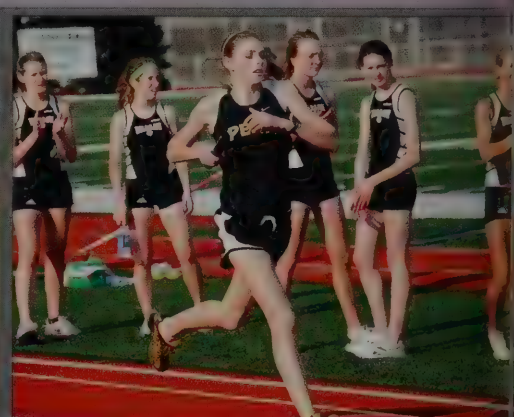

SENIOR Tygerrius Barnett pushed himself to prolong his lead on the rest of the pack as he rounded the turn to the finish line. Barnett, along with 17 of his teammates, made the State championship team, Barnett in the 4x1 and 4x4. JUNIOR Tommy Grant gave it all he had trying to maintain his lead in the open 200 on a Clay opponent. Grant impressively made the State team for three events, the only Kingsman to do so. JUNIOR Conner Sowders sprinted as hard as he could in the open 400. Sowders made the State team as well, competing in both the 4x1 and 4x4. SENIOR Kyle Johnston broke the standing Kingsman record for pole vault, continuing a legacy of family pole vaulters in his family. Johnston competed in the state finals for his event, and placed first, as had his father and grandfather. Not only did Johnston compete at Penn events, he represented the Kingsmen at numerous invitationals.

Track Nation

Girls' track is now in season under the head coaching of Tom Miller. The Lady Kingsmen have a record in triangular meets of 6-2 and finished runner-up in the conference and sectional, and sixth at the regional. The Kingsmen were the Charger Invitational champions, the Northridge Relays Champions, and runner-up at the Princess Relays. The Kingsmen are took many girls to state: Ally Marlow, Kristen Johnson, Erika Ponce de Leon, and Sophie Glassford in the 4 x 800 relay, Kristina Galat and Lauren Pottschmidt in the 3200 meter run, Whitney Grace in the pole vault, and Lindsey Grochowalski in the long jump.

"All the hard work you put in really pays off by the end of the season, so don't forget to run!" - Lauren Pottschmidt

SOPHOMORE Kelly McNarney, first year pole vaulter, begins her season against Warsaw. Kelly had to train all summer long just to learn the technique of being a vaulter. FRESHMAN Danielle Allie jumps to her personal record at the Lady Kingsmen invite. Danielle along with the six other jumpers have had to start from scratch, learning new ways to get as far into the sand as they could. KELCIE Bailey, 10, jumps over her second to last hurdle, preparing for the 10 meter sprint to the finish line. She finished third, right behind Warsaw. ARCHING her back, Alexis Dodge, 9, makes it clear over the bar in the Lady Kingsmen invite. Unfortunately, Penn fell short to Warsaw, with a very close second.

Circle Runners

BRENNA Laidig, 11, ran the first leg of the 4x800 meter relay. LINDSAY Grochowalski, 12, sprints down the runway to complete a long jump. 2012 track season was Lindsay's fourth year jumping for the Kingsmen. DANIELLE Allie, 9, marks her jump spot with blue chalk in order to remind herself where she begins her stride. Jumpers mark their place in order to maximize their speed, therefore maximizing their distance.

From the beginning of the season, Penn's varsity tennis team had high expectations. South Bend Tribune ranked Penn as the number 4 team in the state in the pre-season. The team lived up to the hype by going undefeated in the NIC. Their impressive record for the season was 19-2. In the post season, the Lady Kingsmen marched up to state finals where they suffered a 3-2 loss to Evansville Memorial. Coach Bowers said, "This has been a great season. We won the NIC for the first time in four years and achieved our highest ranking. We also had a very fun year from the bus rides to the team dinners." Coach Bowers and JV Coach Kari Allsop were also pleased with the JV team holding a 15-1 record.

1 Doubles: Meredith Lee (12) and Madelyn Lee (11)

2 Doubles: Cameron Moore (10) and Haley Meekhof (11)

Meredith, 12, and Maddie, 11, Lee, sisters and #1 doubles players, went undefeated this year on their way to state finals. It was the first and only year Meredith and Maddie played together at doubles but the results were hard to argue with. The sisters finished their season with a record of 21-1, their only loss being in the state competition. Meredith committed to playing tennis at Case Western Reserve University in the fall.

Alexandra Brinker, 12, was the #1 singles player for the Penn Kinsmen who won Penn's first girls' STATE TITLE beating Leah Barnes of Fort Wayne Canterbury in the finals. She held a record of 25-1 for the season, her only loss coming from a regular season loss. Brinker signed with Xavier University in the fall of 2012 to continue her tennis career.

Penn Boys' Rugby

The Penn boys' rugby team began their excruciating and rigorous indoor practices in late December, well before the season actually started, and then switched to outdoor practices at the very beginning of March though the temperatures were still extremely low. By the beginning of spring, Penn boys' rugby was ready to prove themselves early on, full of spirit to continue the legacy set before them. Suffering a tough loss in their first game, the boys regained their confidence and continued with a winning streak of ten consecutive games. Though rugby is a "club sport" at Penn, this year's team set the bar high for next year, finishing out the regular season as second in the entire United States, an accomplishment only possible with their strength to never settle for anything less than their best.

Andrew Katona, 12 continued down the field, adamant to score a try versus LaSalette. Jackson Day, 11, pushed his way through his opponent's grasp with his undeniable strength. Hoisted into the air, Carter Jensen, 10, successfully captured the ball from the hooker in this particular line out.

Tony Anderson successfully caught a pass, while quickly searching for his next best move. Connor Marsh celebrated a victory in the second game of Nationals versus Gonzaga despite his bloody eye. Emerson Marennyi used all his might to escape from the grip of other team's members. Tyler Graham took his outside position as the flanker in this scrum. Rob Klump kept his focus and momentum going while in possession of the ball. Troy Tirotta leapt to stop the ball, but instead found a mouth full of foot versus Hamilton Southeastern.

BIG shoes to fill

Celebrating after a huge victory far away from home, the boys' rugby team gathered with a sense of accomplishment, finishing second in the nation in Utah. Spending nearly six months together practicing, playing and traveling, many players formed a strong bond that went beyond playing the game. "Penn Rugby has proven to me that it's not just about the sport, but the brotherhood that's forged as a team everytime we step out on that field," reflected SENIOR Jack D. Luca.

Tyler Graham, 12

Nick Farber, 11

Four members of the team went to the championship game last year and helped win the title of Midwest Champions. The boys had four games in two days, and since the game of rugby is one of high intensity, the boys played their best until they couldn't play anymore. Fortunately, all four of these boys, SENIORS Tyler Graham and Shawn Wagner as well as JUNIORS Nick Farber and Troy Tirotta, fought the hardest resulting in an incredible win for the all-star team. Shawn Wagner, 12, says they won the tournament because "we played extremely hard, and had a lot of fun with one another to make the experience worth while." Troy Tirotta, 11, explains what it took to win a tournament for an all-star team that competed in Pittsburgh. "Some of the best players in the Midwest came from Indiana, so it was really up to who was able to outlast the other teams because playing four games in two days is a grind."

Girls Do It Better

The Penn girls' rugby team started their season in the chilled months of March. Though rugby is an outdoor sport and the weather in March was frigid, the girls still started off their season with games indoors. The girls on the rugby team displayed their determination, drive, and passion for the sport throughout the season. They survived long and demanding practices, and fought hard against tough opponents in games. The hard work paid off in the incredible record of six well earned wins and only one tough loss.

Courtney Hagen, 12, took the pain as she was tackled by a determined opponent. Ambrie Cwik, 12, ran with the ball trying her hardest to stay clear of opponents ready to take her down. The girls' rugby team huddled together before a game for a sentimental pep talk to get them pumped for a win. Rugby games are intense and aggressive rugby games can get. The girls worked together to fight for a win on the field.

The girl's rugby team set up for the start of their game which was held at an indoor field because of the weather. The girls linked together and planted their feet to the ground, ready for a tough game. The sun finally shining, the girls fought not only the other team, but also the heat. Abby Strzelecki, 11, threw the ball to another teammate across the field. Shelby Dubree, 11, stood behind her teammates ready to back them up. Regina Uribe, 11, crouched low so she could tackle an opponent

Seminar BAM class

PENNSTOCK

Pennstock took learning outside the classroom on May 3 and 4 during all US History classes. It was two days of peace, love, and music giving students a chance to reenact Woodstock--Penn style! Similar to the actual Woodstock era, the juniors dressed up in tie-dye, short shorts, and wore lots of flowers in their hair. Through speeches, booths, brochures and performances, students spread the hippie spirit and other information about events of the time, such as the Vietnam War, women's rights and the Black Panther Party. As junior Alex Mobashery, said, "It was groovy!"

SAIL AWAY FOR THE NIGHT: PROM 2012

Penn hosted the 2012 Prom at the Century Center where the students "sailed the night away." Chad Gindelberger and Maura Sweeney were crowned prom king and queen and were serenaded by Anna Burden and Stephen Lesure singing "Lucky" by Jason Mraz and Colbie Caillat. The Penn rugby national championship game also took place on prom Saturday in Utah. Pictured below are Kaitlyn Hickey and Andrew Katona. Kaitlyn cheered on Andrew at his game then the couple visited a boutique to have a prom of their own.

Tribute to Broadway

The Dance Classic was performed on May 22 and 23, the week after prom and the days right before graduation. The twelve dance classes--over 300 students!--of teachers Jennifer Wolfe and Denise Honaker dressed up as characters from multiple Broadway plays and performed ballet, tap, modern and hip hop on the Penn stage for a sold-out audience filled with family and friends.

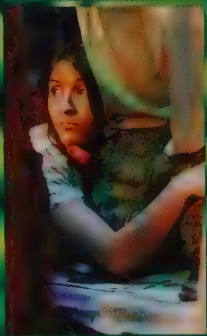

CAROL Whitaker's grandchildren, Aden, Brenna, and Braxton Bontrager, posed with Madeline Randall, 12, and Kalee Masterson, 10, who played the characters Mother Wolf and Rann. Whitaker, who is the IMC assistant, said her grandchildren loved the play.

CHASE
Andreae, 9, played
Rudyard Kipling, the author of The Jungle Book, which reflects his life.

TIM Farr, 11, was two characters,
Shere Khan and Fielding, who was one of two bullies that tormented
Rudyard and Mowgli.

YOUNG Mowgli,
played by Hersha
Timble, 10, hid from the evil
Shere Khan
because he wanted to eat Mowgli.

KALEE
Masterson,
10, played Rann the bird. Her role was to keep watch over the jungle.

SAVANNAH
Hope, 10, played two characters
in the play,
Croft and Baloo.

SAVANNAH Hope, 10, who played Crofts, was very tired as she waited for Kipling to turn in the Jungle Book.
Willies, played by Tre Robinson, 10, came in to tell Crofts that he made tea for Kipling to help him stay awake.

MICHAEL Litteral,
10, who played Tabaqui, tried to steal food, but the wolves told him that he couldn't steal their food.
Shere Kahn, played by Tim
Farr, 11, came in and defended
Tabaqui. He didn't defend him too well because they both did not receive food.

The Jungle Book

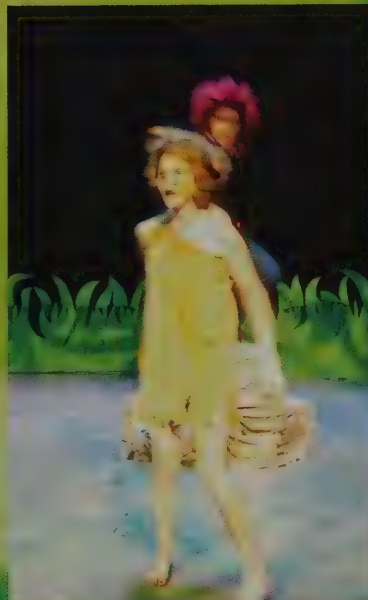

HERSHA Timble, 10, Massau, and Alienna Worthen, 9, wondered if they were really seeing the lost boy, Mowgli.

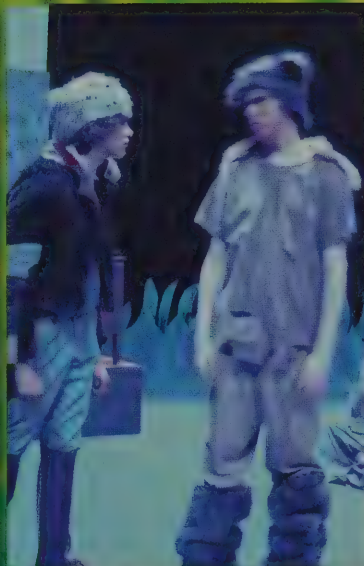

HATHI, played by Miranda Sieber, 11, had to help Mowgli get the red flower from the village to help stop Shere Khan.

KAA, Destinee Flowers, 10, hypnotized Baloo, Savannah Hope, 10. Baloo fell down after this happened.

WOLF Cub #1, was Audrey Dixon, 9. Shere Khan wanted to become her new pack leader.

DAN Murakowski, 11, played Akela who yelled at Tabagui for trying to steal food.

BAGHERRA, played by Tre Robinson, 10, protected Mowgli. That was his main job in the play.

ACADEMIC TEAMS

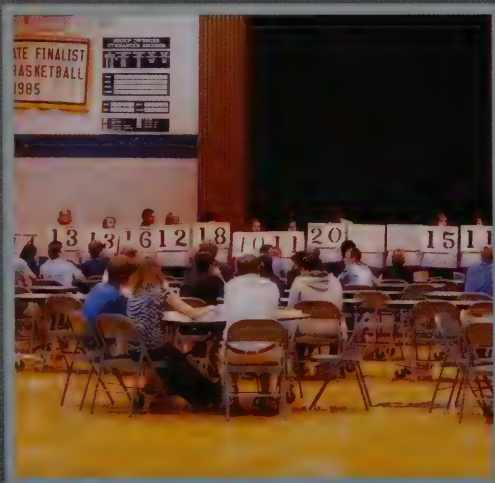

Seniors Luqun Shen, Philip Weldy, Anthony Ball, and sophomore Lynda Gong prepared for a Quiz Bowl competition at Mishawaka High School.

Social Studies ASE State Champions

Members of the English Academic Super Bowl team displayed their blue ribbons with first year Coach Candice Beelaert. Tests of Engineering Aptitude, Mathematics and Science, TEAMS, won the Technical Students Association competition at Trine University.

Seniors Anthony Ball and Andrew Fan waited patiently for the next question at a Quiz Bowl tournament. The Quiz Bowl team finished in 8th place at the state tournament.

Juniors Alexandra Koyfman, Rebecca Liu, Lindsay Rairdon, and sophomore Josie Gidman posed for a group shot prior to an ASB competition. Coach Peter Dekever posed with the Social Studies Academic Super Bowl team. The Social Studies team was the only academic team to capture a state championship.

DECA

DECA, coached by Stephanie McElwrath, is a club where students use their business and marketing knowledge to solve real life business problems. Reflecting on the experience, Celeia Forberg said, "DECA was an incredibly fun experience and different from anything I've been involved with before."

Penn students traveled to Indianapolis in March and spent three days together during the competition. "One of my favorite moments was when I was called up on stage. I looked out into the audience and saw all the faces of people who share the common dream of being successful in business. Oh, and the pool was fantastic," added Oswin Chakochan.

DECORUM DELEGATES: MODEL UN

Model UN is an organization that brings high school students together to discuss issues pertaining to real life situations faced by the United Nations. This year's topics ranged from the Israeli-Palestinian conflict to the disarmament of volatile nations. Mr. David Martin was the sponsor and Ms. Caela Armstrong was the chaperone for the trip.

IAN RIGGS, 10, listened closely to the discussion in his Knights Templar simulation. A simulation is a role-play session where students re-enact situations in the past such as Clinton's cabinet or are put in theoretical situations like the Knights Templar. DUNCAN HEIDKAMP, 10, laid down in the quad after a tiring weekend.

ALEXZANDRA SMITH, 10, won the prestigious title of Honorable Delegate for her work as the pirate Jack Sparrow in the simulation The British East India Trading Company and the Brethren Court of the Nine Pirate Lords. This award is given to the most involved delegate.

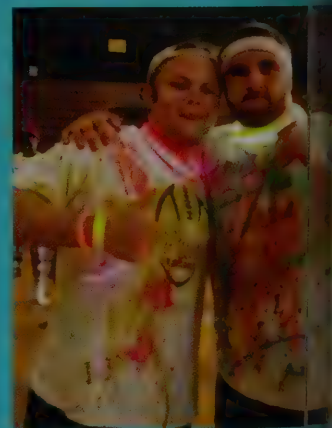

May

"Friends are the most important part of your life. Treasure the tears, treasure the laughter, but most importantly, treasure the memories."

Dave Brenner

Senior Kyle Johnston stood tall with pride with his achievement of first place at the State track championship meet for pole vaulting. Johnston is now a third generation state champion alongside his father (Hobart, 1982) and grandfather (Hobart, 1954). Johnston sealed his victory with a height of 16'1". He will study and vault at the University of Wisconsin.

It wasn't all fun and games for the rest of Penn High School during the month of May, especially when it came to underclassmen. Both Zachary's Black 2 English class remained focused down to the very final days of school, eager to end their freshmen year on a good note during their last final.

The Spanish 4 and AP Spanish classes took a field trip to the Pilsen barrio, a Spanish neighborhood in Chicago, on April 26. Along with visiting a Spanish art museum, the students went to an authentic bakery, restaurant, and candy store, called a "dulceria" in Spanish.

The fourth year French classes took a trip to Chicago as well to visit the Bean sculpture in Millennium Park and went to a museum.

When your last name begins with "W," you get used to waiting a long time for events, such as receiving your diploma. Patti Walton knew Monte White through all his years at Penn, and chose to spend four and a half hours at Purcell Pavillion with him for commencement.

Alle Murray: "By changing, you can discover the person you we always hoping to become."

Maaz Ahmed: "Once we start looking into the mirror and seeing ourselves for who we truly are, living and dreaming will be one and the same."

Aimee Culp: "I used to think I would get whisked away in some fantasy adventure, but now I know that reality will provide the adventure for me."

Yifei Hu: "I used to think science explained everything but now I know there's more out there."

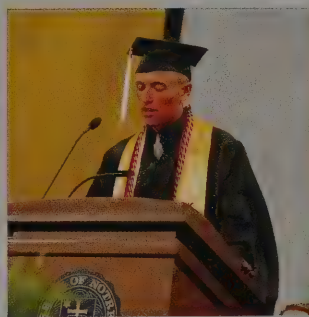

Martha Judge: "I used to think that our experiences in high school would define us, but now I know that new and different experiences will continue to shape us in life."

Kevin Lee: "I used to think high school was the end, but now I know that while tonight is the end of high school for us, it is also the beginning of many new things."

Deanna Song: "I used to think that I would come across a piece of advice that would finally put all of the pieces together, but now I know that . . . maybe truth comes from accepting contradictions."

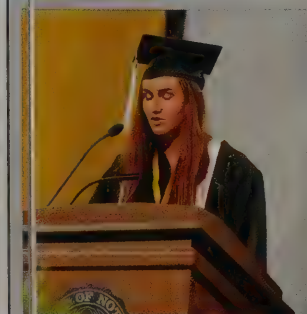

Patrick Adkins: "I used to think high school was all about fitting in, but now I know making friends was the least of my worries."

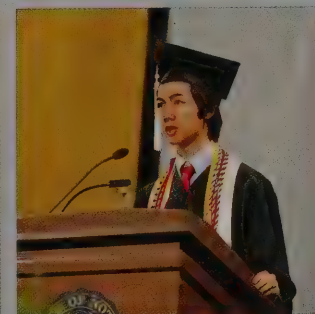

Christy Chang: "I used to think life began and ended in school, but now I know there is life after high school; the challenges and successes we will soon face are just life's next great adventure."

Karley Kline: "I used to think that I had to have all of the answers to be successful, but now I know that sometimes the questions are the most fascinating part of life."

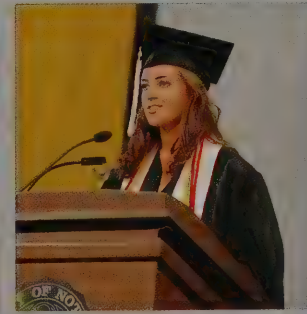

Kyle Martin: "I used to think that you are who you are and everything is set in stone, but now I know that if I keep asking the world 'what are you not showing me' then nothing is set in stone."

Luqun Shen: "I used to think that being apart would weaken, but now I know that it can strengthen."

Sheena Shah: "I used to think that when my dreams were falling apart, life would never get better, but now I know things seem to have a way of working out, if not always in the way we expect."

Natalie Spaargaren: "I used to think that I knew who I was, but now I know it will take a lifetime to create 'me'."

On Monday, May 14, Penn High School seniors were honored for their accomplishments. Hundreds of students were recognized for scholarships they had received. The total monetary amount of scholarships for the 2012 class was nine million dollars. PATRICK ADKINS, one of Penn's valedictorians, received the highest honors of the night. He won both the Paul H. Schmucker Award and Kingsman of the Year. Adkins was selected by Penn teachers to win the Schmucker Award, and selected by his classmates to win Kingsman of the Year. Adkins was known to be very loyal to Penn and his classmates.

Friday, May 25, 2012, was a night of celebration for Penn High School seniors. The ceremony began with the Penn choir singing "Bridge Over Troubled Water." 778 seniors graduated at the Purcell Pavilion at the Joyce Center at University of Notre Dame. The senior class boasted 14 valedictorians and seven salutatorians. Guest speaker, Bradley Monhault, a 1998 Penn Alumnus, 1997 football state champion and Mental Attitude Award winner, and Iraq war veteran spoke about preparation and motivation. He also talked about ethics, and how he applied the "warrior code" in everyday situations. His speech inspired students to do the right thing, even in the toughest of situations.

We are so proud of the young man you have become. You are an amazing son and brother and we are truly blessed. Set your sights high and aim for the stars. Remember – To the moon and back and all the sand on the beaches! We love you.

Mom, Dad and Lexi

Alayna S. Barnett

You are a success! We are very proud of the amazing young woman you have become. Your kind heart, quick wit, intelligence, and quietly beautiful personality are only some of the reasons you are loved.

Love,
Mom, Dad, James,
Grandma & Grandpa

Jillian Bennett

As a child we watched you grow, as a young adult, we get to watch you mature. Believe in yourself and you'll accomplish whatever you set out to do. Nothing is out of reach. God Blessed Us BEYOND Our Imagination With The Gift Of You! YOU GO, GIRL!

With all Our Love,
Dad, Mom, Nana, Mamaw, Papaw
and Grandpa Raymond

Maddie Smith

Seems like just yesterday I was taking you for slushies and now you're going to college. I am so proud of you and your accomplishments as a third generation Penn student. I love you with all my heart.

Love, Papa Chuck

Justin Biggs

It's been a joyous pleasure watching you grow into the fine young man you've become. There's nothing you can't do with you future! We are so very proud of you son! Love you big bunches!!!

 We are all so proud of you & happy to have you healthy. Keep up the hard work & don't ever give up! Congrats!

Love always,
 Dad, Mom, Katy & Jody

Kayla Rose Bonder

It is unbelievable how fast the time has flown. It seems like you should still be a little girl at Walt Disney, not grown up and graduating from Penn. Please realize how proud your family is of you. Know that the good choices you have made so far in your life have turned you into the most amazing young woman! You are as beautiful inside as you are on the outside. Thank you for all the great memories. . . Disney Dancers, Girl Scouts, Soccer, Gymnastics, Marching Band, Dance, Poms and all the trips to Indy for State Finals. Keep up the same effort and dedication the rest of your life and you'll go far!

Kate Bontrager

Congratulations, Kate! You are such an inspiration to us! We love you and can't wait to see what God has planned for our sweet girl!

Love, Mom and Dad

Taylor Davis

Our Baby Girl is graduating! We love, cherish, and support you in every way. Follow your dreams and know we are there for you any time through your life long journey. Go get 'em, girl!

Love, Mom and Dad

Sean Domal

Congratulations, Sean! We are so proud of your accomplishments not only in academics and athletics but most importantly in your development into the young man you have become! As you venture into your future remember

Philippians 4:13:

"I can do all things through Christ who strengthens me."

Take the path least traveled and make a difference!

All our love, Mom and Dad

Dear Bean,

It's a long way to the top, but we have no doubt that you will achieve any goal you set. You are the Babe With the Power and we are so proud of you. Enjoy every minute of your time at the University of Iowa and remember: There's no crying in softball! Go Hawks!!

Love,
Mom and Dad

Erica Heinsohn

As you complete the first step of your life and prepare to take that next step into the world, everything is waiting for you. Just as we helped you take your first baby steps, we are here to support you as you begin the next important journey. You have achieved academic success through self discipline and determination. It is that same self assuredness that will help you succeed in all your future endeavors. We are extremely proud of you and all you have become.

All Our Love Always, Mom, Dad and Kyle

Michael Wargo, 12, analyzed the songs of the Vietnam era, and played excerpts from each during his senior exhibition.

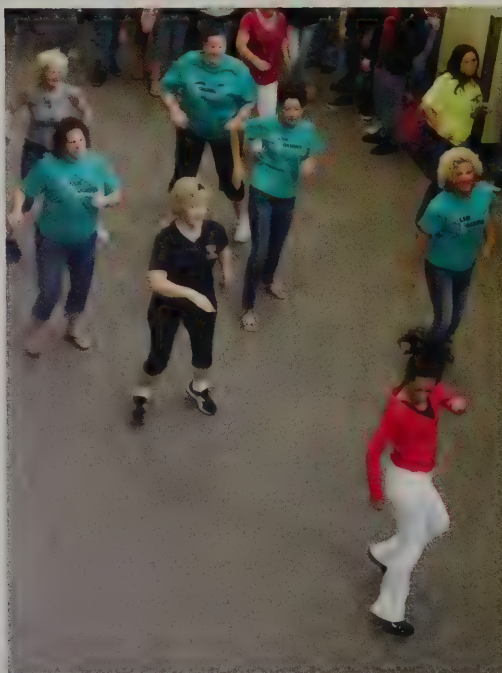

The 14 valedictorians performed a sound check before commencement at Notre Dame.

Students line up at the balcony outside the Writing Center to watch a flash mob dancing to a Michael Jackson song, "Wanna be Starting Something," in mid May.

Maddie Watkins, guidance counselor and certified Zumba instructor, leads the dance with Debbie Garrett, Fitness Center director, and members of her Zumba class.

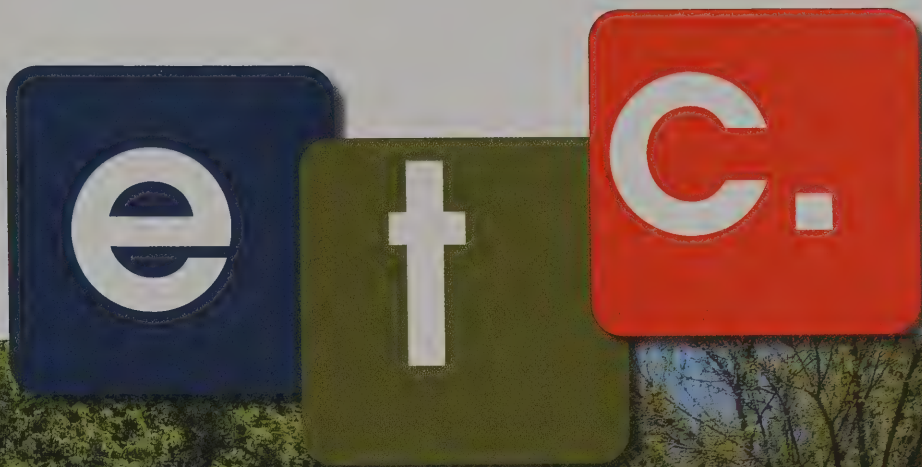

Freshmen House 1, taught by Tim Gavin, Candice Beelaert, Andrew Pola and Brian Griman, spent a day at Potato Creek State Park cleaning up the environment.

Robotics student and golfer Grant Spiritoso, 12, showed his bandaged wrist that caused him to withdraw from the NIC meet when he was struck with a golf ball in a freak accident. Spiritoso went on to win co-MVP awards in the NIC. Spiritoso, who has been playing golf since he was 4 years old, was also named a WSBT/Burger King Athlete of the Week, and was a key player in the Kingsmen's run to a ninth place finish at State.

Jordan Hueni, 12, accepted his recognition certificate from John Mott and Trey Lilley at the 11th Annual Work Experience Banquet. Hueni worked at ICE Athletic Center and Walgreens.

er Walker, 12, wore his ny dress uniform to present senior exhibition project in literature of War. He researched the realism of the k, movie and video series, hammer.

DeOnTe Putnam, 11, enjoyed the DJ at the homecoming tailgate. While it is not known if Putnam joined them, many students danced the cha cha slide and cupid shuffle.

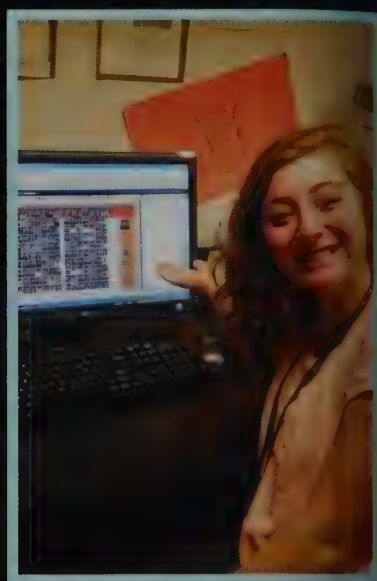

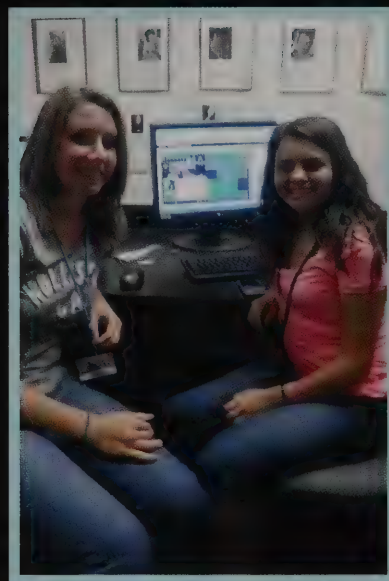

Josh Jaworski, 12, pointed to the monitor showing his 300 game. Teammate Olivia Andrews made it to state singles competition and finished eighth. Brian and Nicole Baldwin coached.

Robert Giggie, 12, is silhouetted as he used a model to discuss the similarities and differences of two planes, the P-47 Thunderbolt and P-51 Mustang. Giggie's familiarity with the planes allowed him to speak without notes.

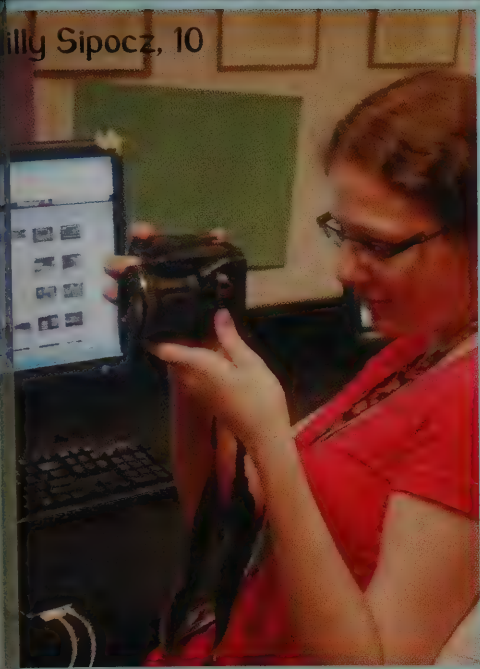

Constructing a Masterpiece Yearbook 2012

THE PENN HIGH SCHOOL BITTERSWEET YEARBOOK STAFF worked yearround to create a book that every student could enjoy. The Bittersweet staff was lead by advisor Mary Nicolini, and co-editors Maddie Smith, Shannon Kearney, and David Spalding. The editors had the job of creating page layouts, checking spreads, and tying up any loose ends. SMITH was in charge of finishing spreads, and making sure everything was complete and correct. Kearney worked with the staff members who had questions, and created the layouts and designs for the wrap-ups and calendars. Spalding was the sports editor; he worked on helping students complete the athletic spreads. JUNIORS Emily Sobecki and Maigan Bowles finalize the January wrap-up page that they were working on. SOPHOMORE Lindsey Daoust worked on the freshman portrait page. Sobecki, Bowles, and Daoust were all first year staff members.

Senior Skip Day

Jacob Lamb, 10

Lilly Sipocz, 10, looked through pictures on the camera. Sipocz was always taking pictures at all sorts of events. UNDERCLASSMEN pointed to Maddie Smith and Alex Tashjian on senior skip day. The two seniors had to be in class because they were in season for softball. ON THE FIRST DAY OF CLASS staff members worked on an activity to get to know each other better. JACOB LAMB, 10, showed off his Jungle Book spread. Lamb was new to the staff, and moved to Penn half way through the year.

We Got Through

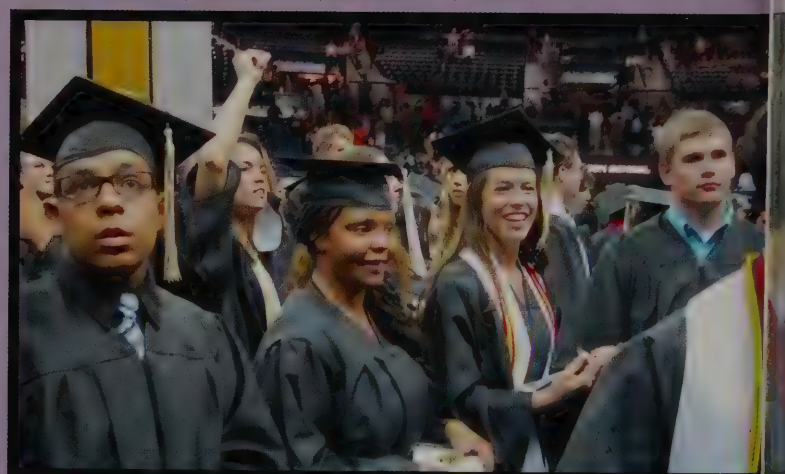

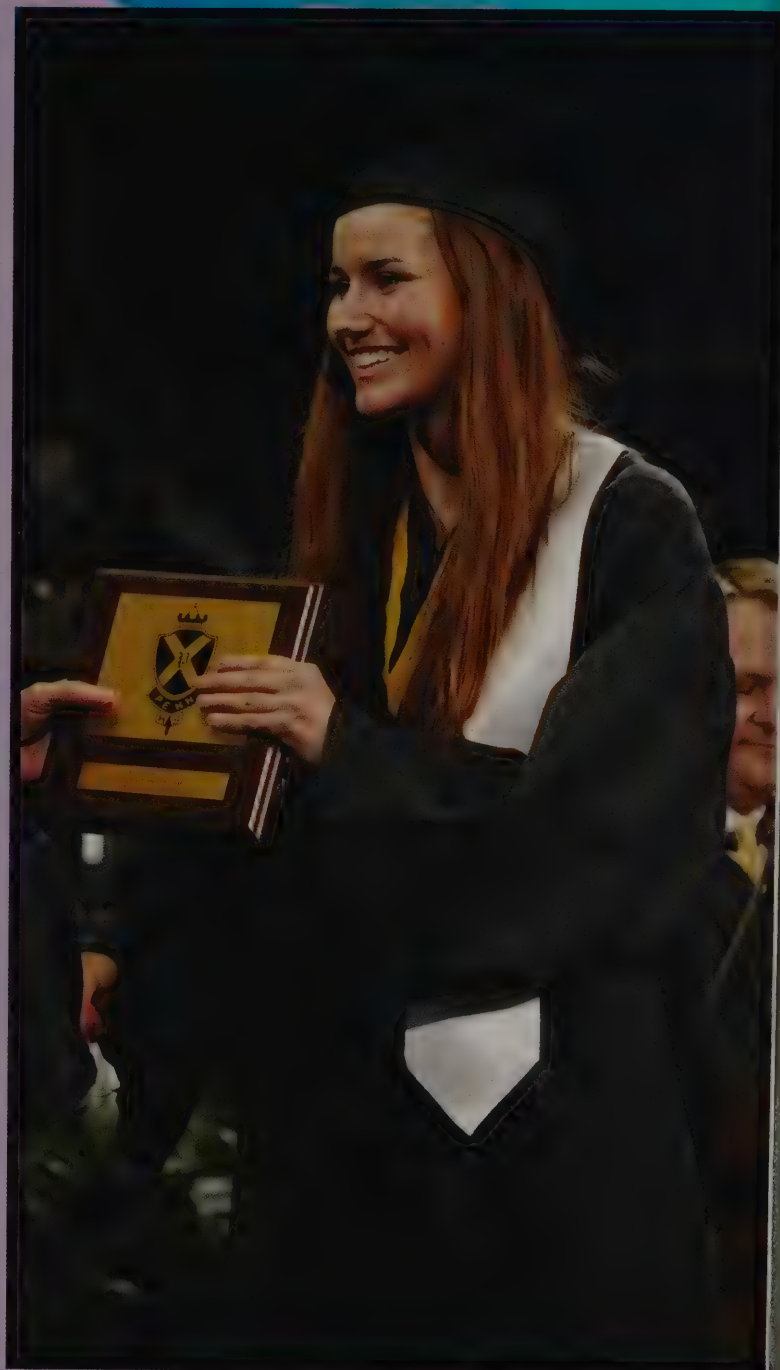

Class of 2012. . .

"Where am I?"

It's a question I have to ask myself from time to time. On a good day, I know my physical location, but this question, hopefully, is more involved; I have to pause, think about who I am today, and wonder, "How did I get here?" At first I'm tempted to congratulate myself for following my dreams, believing in myself, and never giving up – but I soon get over that. It's taken a few years for the light bulb to go off, but now I understand what really got me through.

I realized that our "thank you" goes out to our families, friends, and teachers. And when those simple words aren't enough, we go further to share our most genuine smiles, our longest hugs, and our most unregulated fits of joy with the people who got us through. After all, when life seemed flat, they added fizz – precisely that, along with ideas, laughter, and values. Still, we can't forget the times when people were just there for us, too. There were rough patches, undoubtedly, and those closest to us simply stayed on the phone longer or gave us their ice cream. It's wild how they don't even know how much that meant to us – how much they mean to us. May we be lucky enough to keep these people in our lives. May we never forget what got us through – or, more truthfully, who.
